Today

While the Sun Rolls On, Shall We Finance Him? One Lived Long, One Died. A Governor's Power.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

FORTY-THREE scientific expeditions are ready to view today's eclipse. The weather bureau predicts clouds, but that won't spoil the eclipse. Night will come on gradually. Some that "know all about it" will be worried, and "feel queer."

Chickens will go to roost. Mr. Vernon Bailey, on behalf of the Department of Agriculture, will study them and other animals in New Hampshire, watching especially for signs of fear.

Fear of what we call "supernatural" events, brings the animals close to human nature.

THE AREA of total eclipse will be a belt of shadow 100 miles wide. To thwart the weather man, thirty aviators at various points along the shadow belt will stand ready to carry scientists above the clouds.

Hundreds of thousands have been spent that scientists may take observations during the ninety seconds that the eclipse will last.

Our old father the sun, moving through space, shedding light and power in the form of broken down atoms, losing actual weight two hundred and fifty million tons every minute, and able to continue that loss for tens of millions of years longer, will sail on in his majestic course, dragging our earth and the other planets with him, in blissful ignorance of our "important eclipse."

THIS IS UNUSUAL. The Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, of London, convicted in a British court of "immorality," says he will come here, bringing one or two young ladies in the case with him, "to raise money for his appeal" from the decision condemning him.

You need not wonder at the reverend gentleman's decision. He probably said to himself:

"Americans gave ten billions of dollars, without much hope of getting it back, to nations engaged in murdering each other. They surely would give a few thousands to a British clergyman convicted of demoralizing young girls."

We know that the reverend gentleman is mistaken, but you can't expect him to know. "Those Americans are so queer."

ONE ABOVE the other on a front page you read two news items.

First, "a gray-haired man sat on a bench in Prospect Park, Brooklyn, today and shot and killed himself." He had twenty-seven cents concealed in the band of his hat and left a note asking to be "dropped into deep water." He dropped into deep water when he pulled the trigger.

Second, you read, "Spaniard Dies at 108." Felip Juare Valle Espinoso had seven children, 50 grandsons, 61 great grandsons. If babies did not die, how soon the world would be overpopulated.

Why do some of us hang on to life grimly, urging death to stay away, while others beckon death to come?

GREAT IS the power of New York state's Governor.

Not all governors have realized it. Justice Staley, of New York's Supreme Court, refusing to enjoin Gov. Roosevelt from interfering with Mayor Walker, says the courts have no power over the Governor, or of his person. For errors, if any, of law or fact, or deed, the Governor is responsible not to the courts, but to his own conscience.

The Governor of New York and other states, like the President of the United States, could do almost anything. But they, and all of us, are controlled by public opinion.

NEW YORK wonders, and London says it wonders why Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has returned to New York and Washington.

There is no cause for wonder. When you see a farmer, tin pail in hand, approaching a cow, you do not wonder why he went to the barnyard.

Britain worries about the strike of textile workers, ninty per cent of them, with possibility of a strike so great as to afflict ten million people. Lincoln said no country could live "half slave and half free." Britain discovers that it is troublesome to have a country half labor and half capitalism.

IN BOLIVIA Professors Bennett and Phillips of the American Museum of Natural History found deep in the forest a huge monolith twenty-four feet long.

Men struggled over that heavy stone long centuries ago, in Bolivia's forests, succeeded in excavating and moving it.

Today men are struggling to harness the tides, to harness the sun, and trying to refrain from murdering each other in war. Man, now and in the future, will succeed with his problems as those ancient Bolivians did. Struggle is born in us, and victory is stored away in ambition.

Hope for Heat Relief As Moon Intercepts Scorching Rays

Sweltering Pittsburghers welcomed an 88 per cent eclipse of the sun this afternoon as bringing respite from a late summer heat wave.

While citizens, young and old, were preparing smoked glasses to view the celestial phenomenon, the sun was getting in its licks with the result that an official 92 was noted, with prospect that the high mark of 93, recorded July 19 and 21, would be equalled or exceeded.

Humidity continued high, making the heat even more oppressive than yesterday. The Weather Bureau held out hope of some relief late tonight or Thursday with its prediction of showers and cooler.

The obscuring of the sun by the moon was to begin at 3:18 daylight saving time, reach its maximum at around 4:30 and will have passed completely over by 5:38 p. m.

Paul Nazerov, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. I. M. Johnston, of Freeport, attending the Cleveland air races, were among the 35 persons prostrated by the heat yesterday.

SECRET PACT ON DEBT LOOMS

Reveal Treaty 'Joker' Granting Power To Mills

By ROBERT BARRY
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A "joker" in the Mellon-Geddes debt settlement agreement signed June 18, 1923, gives Secretary of the Treasury Mills virtual plenipotentiary powers to negotiate a private understanding with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, as to payments of the British debts, it was learned today.

Thus, the official admission made to the Hearst papers on Monday that Norman "will see or communicate with" Secretary Mills before he returns to London assumes the most vital importance.

Under the Mellon-Geddes agreement, which was negotiated by Stanley Baldwin, then chancellor of the British exchequer, and Montagu Norman, Great Britain is required to give notice on or before September 15 if she does not intend to resume payments on December 15.

There is no provision in the British budget for the payments due on December 15.

WOULD EVADE NOTICE

Great Britain does not wish, however, to give the required 90-days' notice of intention not to pay. To do so would constitute notice of intended default.

The purpose of the "gentlemen's agreement" at Lausanne

U. S. Taxpayers Demand Light on Norman Visit

By B. C. FORBES

MONTAGU NORMAN, astute head of the Bank of England, has consistently and persistently for years aroused American suspicions, distrust and hostility by his hole-in-corner, mole-like activities during his repeated furtive visits to this country.

It cannot be denied that under-cover wire-pulling in high places has been extraordinarily successful—from his and the British viewpoint, if not quite so satisfactory from the viewpoint of the American taxpayer.

Therefore, his attitude may be, "I should worry."

Several years ago this writer wrote in this newspaper apropos of a Montagu Norman visit:

"Gov. Benjamin Strong loves secrecy so much that he should be at the head, not of the largest federal reserve bank in the country, but of the federal secret service. Those of us who know him have become accustomed to his weakness for building Chinese walls about himself and foreign bankers visiting him when approached for information of public interest. . . . The writer has had many a bout with Ben Strong over his chronic policy of super-secrecy. But all in vain. . . . The American public detest secrecy. They detest it when practiced in business and they detest it still more when carried into public or quasi-public institutions. . . . In this democracy the public are absolutely right in condemning darkness and demanding light from those occupying the highest places."

NOW IT TRANSPIRES that Gov. Strong's successor, Gov. George L. Harrison, of the New York Reserve Bank, has been hypnotized by the governor of the Bank of England in acquiescing in this same utterly un-American, undemocratic, hole-in-corner pow-wowing.

Nor is Gov. Harrison the only high American office-holder who has placed himself at the beck and call of this supremely clever international secret negotiator. No governmental official is too high to become a party to Montagu Norman's secret schemings—beg pardon, he is not Montagu Norman during this visit; he sailed and landed in the country as "Prof. Clarence Skinner." (The appropriateness of this name presumably appealed to the gentleman choosing it.)

Mr. Norman, alias Prof. Skinner, may be beyond the reach of American public opinion. But those who become his cat's-paws, are NOT.

The published pretense that Mr. Norman, alias Prof. Skinner, embarked for America for the benefit of his health is altogether too flimsy, too transparent, too incredible, in view of his past performances and in view of his ceaseless activities—always under cover—since his arrival. New York, Boston, Washington have never—until now—been favored health resorts for Londoners.

THE VISIT OF MR. NORMAN, alias Prof. Skinner, is likely to prove quite healthy, thank you, for British finance, for British taxpayers' pockets. But it is hardly likely to prove equally healthy for American taxpayers.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Gov. Harrison and other public officials owe to themselves and to the American public a clear-cut, unevasive statement explaining Mr. Norman's (alias Prof. Skinner's) overtures and objectives.

If Mr. Norman, alias Prof. Skinner, has nothing to hide, why hide it?

If he does have something to hide, American taxpayers are warranted in demanding that their officials refuse to become his muzzled, pliant tools.

14 PICKETS SHOT IN IOWA

Occupants of Auto Open Fire, Tear Bombs Thrown

CHEROKEE, Ia., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Sheriff Arthur N. Tilton, of Cherokee County, today said he was requesting Gov. Dan Turner to send the militia here, following the wounding early today of 14 farm strike pickets.

From the Capitol at Des Moines, however, Gov. Turner declared he is keeping in touch with the situation, but that he expects local law enforcement officials to handle the situation.

The 14 farmers on picket duty were wounded early today by shotgun fire from an unidentified automobile passing through the picket lines. Tear gas bombs had been tossed from the automobile preceding the shooting.

Sheriff Tilton and County Attorney R. G. Rodman, of Crerokee, began an investigation of the latest violence in the drive of Iowa farmers to withhold farm produce from markets for higher prices.

The shooting occurred at the same outpost at which a woman suffered back injuries yesterday when logs were thrown in front of a car in which she was riding.

TO SPREAD MOVEMENT

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, threatened with pneumonia today, declared he would leave his sickbed during the day to "spread the holiday movement through Wisconsin, Missouri, Oklahoma and all the other states, even New York. He said:

"This movement will go on. It springs from the heart of the people in the farm belt. It arises from the unrest of stricken farmers. They are going to win and it's going to be too bad for this country if they don't.

M'ADOO LEADS IN PRIMARY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Victory for William Gibbs McAdoo, wartime Secretary of the Treasury seeking the California Democratic senatorial nomination, and a threat of defeat for Senator Samuel Shortridge for renomination on the Republican ticket featured the returns early today from the state primary election.

State Senator Tallant Tubbs of San Francisco, a strong anti-dry, had a lead of more than 20,000 over Shortridge, staunch supporter of the administration, in returns from 7,737 complete and incomplete precincts out of 10,531 in the state.

McAdoo, who started his political comeback campaign after aiding Speaker John N. Garner to victory in the California presidential primary and later helping to swing the California and Texas votes in the Democratic national convention to Roosevelt, had a virtually indestructible lead over the four other Democratic contenders. His headquarters claimed victory.

MA FERGUSON SEEMS WINNER

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, Texas' first and only woman Governor, today apparently had won the Democratic nomination for Governor over Gov. Ross Shaw Sterling, incumbent, in the closest and most exciting gubernatorial contest in the history of the Lone Star State.

Unofficial returns today in last Saturday's run-off primary from the 254 counties in the state, including 247 complete, gave Mrs. Ferguson a lead of 1,965. Totals for the two candidates were: Mrs. Ferguson, 475,755; Gov. Sterling, 473,790.

It was estimated less than 2,000 votes remain to be counted from the eight counties that have not yet filed complete returns. After the official count looms the possibility of a court contest, freely predicted by many observers.

Marlene Dietrich's Husband Stricken

City to Close Pools Despite Heat Wave

In the midst of the heat wave the city is closing all but one of its 17 swimming pools tonight because of lack of funds.

Justus Schroedel, of the City Recreation Bureau, said funds have been exhausted and under no circumstances can the pools continue to operate. The closing at 9 p. m. tonight will end the swimming season at all but the Highland Park pool.

The closing of the pools is expected to prove disappointing to thousands of bathers. The pools were open until Labor Day and after last year. In 1931 $39,073 was appropriated for the pools, while this year only $32,962 was provided.

The Highland Park pool will remain open until Labor Day.

4 Killed as Train Hits Labor Crew

LINDEN, N. J., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Four workmen were killed and two injured when a Pennsylvania Railroad fast passenger train ploughed through a road gang today. Names of the dead were not immediately learned.

Police said they understood the train rounded a curve and ploughed into the laborers, who were deafened by the roar of another passing train.

NORMAN LEADS DEBT CUT DRIVE

By WILLIAM HILLMAN

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Montagu Norman's visit to the United States is in the nature of a "private and unofficial" investigation in preparation for a DRASTIC REDUCTION OF WAR DEBTS to be asked of the United States by her European debtors IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS.

This can be safely asserted today on the basis of information obtained from a high British authority who took part in the Lausanne conference where Germany's reparations payments were provisionally written down to one cent on the dollar.

This authority declared that the world economic conference, scheduled to be held after the American elections, is doomed to failure unless a war debts settlement with the United States is effected either before the conference opens or before the sessions get down to serious business.

It is here that the provisional nature of the reparations agreement becomes doubly apparent. It was contingent upon war debt concessions from the United States.

Nothing definite regarding international commodity prices and currency questions can be achieved at the world economic conference, the authority stated, UNTIL THE UNITED STATES DEFINITELY REVISES WAR DEBTS, since Europe insists that all economic and currency questions to be discussed at the parley are dependent upon the future disposition of gold transfers and the status of international indebtedness.

Immediately after the elections, Europe intends losing no time in making official application to Washington for SCALING DOWN OF WAR DEBTS.

Viewed in this light, the myste-

Mellon Will Sail For England Tonight

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Andrew W. Mellon, ambassador to England, revealed today that following a mysterious two-day visit to this city he would sail tonight for London.

His arrival here coincided with that of Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, and was preceded by only a few hours by that of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England.

Smith, known to thousands as "Cotton Ed," and Blease, stormy petrel of South Carolina politics since he was old enough to vote, led a field of four candidates in yesterday's primary. They will enter a second race two weeks hence to decide the nominee.

AINEY'S DEATH BELIEVED NEAR

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—William D. B. Ainey, former chairman of the Public Service Commission, was rapidly sinking this afternoon.

A statement issued at 2 o'clock this afternoon by members of the family said the former chairman was in a comatose state and oxygen was being administered to prolong his life.

Ainey was expected to live through the day, however, the family said.

Ainey has been an invalid for nearly 10 years and for the last several years discharged his duties at the Public Service Commission in a wheel chair.

His trouble started with an attack of arthritis. In seeking relief Mr. Ainey went to several of the nation's outstanding hospitals. Photostatic copies of his bills at Johns Hopkins played a large part in the last charge that Gov. Pinchot levelled against him.

The Governor charged that the records showed these bills were paid by the late Arthur W. Thompson, Pittsburgh, utility millionaire.

Hoover Prepared To Study Eclipse

Mrs. Hoover, meanwhile, arranged an eclipse party. She invited several wives of cabinet members to join her on the south portico.

Police Block March Of Jobless Here

Prevented from leading several hundred jobless persons in a body to the City-County Building to demand relief, local Communist leaders sent a committee of 50 to visit County Commissioners this afternoon.

The police refused to allow the entire group of "hunger marchers" to enter the business district, and the leaders announced they would alter their plans.

A crowd estimated at 500 persons gathered in West Park, North Side at noon for a mass meeting at which the committee was selected.

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh granted permission to march to the fringe of the business district, but declined to permit the Communists to visit the City-County building.

One group of 50 men carrying banners inscribed "Fight, Don't Starve," was met in South Eighteenth street extension. Two trucks brought men, women and children from McKeesport, where they had held a brief meeting.

In the County Commissioners' office, Commissioners Barr and Mansfield got into a dispute with the leaders and Barr announced suddenly that the meeting was adjourned. Barr told the group's leader, P. Chapa, that he was misleading his followers.

MELLON, MILLS FOLLOW NORMAN IN WALL STREET VISITS

DISTRICT WAITS OUTCOME OF PARLEYS

Rumors of War Debt Deals Grow While Mystery Deepens

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The mysterious figure of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, hovered over financial parleys in Wall street, participated in by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and Andrew W. Mellon, ambassador to England.

The movements of Secretary Mills and Ambassador Mellon were guarded with almost as much secrecy as the gray-bearded governor of England's most important financial institution has sought to maintain about the purpose of his visit to this country incognito as "Prof. Clarence Skinner."

But it was ascertained that after Mills and Mellon arrived yesterday from Washington, the Secretary proceeded to the Federal Reserve Bank headquarters here, where Norman conferred at length Saturday.

MELLON IN WALL STREET

Later the gray-haired ambassador, who, several months ago celebrated his 78th birthday, emerged from his hotel, stepped briskly into his Rolls Royce limousine and directed his chauffeur to drive "to Wall street."

There Mellon went to the office of William H. Woodin, a director of the Federal Reserve Bank as well as president of the American Car and Foundry Company, and a leading financier.

Neither would discuss what took place during the three hours they spent together in Woodin's office. Mellon also conferred during the day with officers of the National City Bank.

The financial district was abuzz with various rumors of impending developments of significance in international finance, but the nature of whatever connection the visit of Mills and Mellon here had with that of Norman was not disclosed.

WAR DEBT PROBLEM

It is believed, however, to be closely linked to efforts to obtain a moratorium from the United States on war debts owed by England, and an alternate suggestion that American bankers might loan Great Britain $3,500,000,000 to liquidate war debts.

The British financier conferred during his visit to New York Saturday with George Leslie Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Harrison said after their conference that they had discussed a number of subjects of international finance, but that the visit was just a "courtesy call" and had nothing to do with any specific proposals related to war debts or a British loan.

Norman himself returned Sunday to Bar Harbor, Me., his original "hideaway" under the incognito of "Prof. Skinner," and there he remained today—in careful seclusion—as the house guest of Mrs. John Markoe, Philadelphia society matron.

Secretary Mills, reached at his New York office, admitted that he had conferred at the Federal Reserve Bank here yesterday, but denied emphatically it had any connection with Norman's visit there Saturday.

MILLS EXPLAINS

He declared:

"My visit to the bank had to do with government financing and not with Mr. Norman. I'm here primarily on private business and to watch my horse Blenheim race at Saratoga track this week."

Then the Secretary added:

"There wouldn't be so much talk about Mr. Norman's visit to this country if there weren't a political campaign underway. While I was at the Federal Reserve Bank, Norman was 400 miles away at Bar Harbor, Me."

Norman probably has seen Ambassador Mellon and undoubtedly will see Secretary Mills. Still it must be remembered that it is only actually necessary for Norman to see and come to an agreement with the House of Morgan, since the Morgan firm is the fiscal agent of the British Empire and has almost complete control of the Hoover administration being particularly influential with Secretary Mills and Ambassador Mellon.

Mills said he has not seen Norman and has made no appointment to see him, but did not deny that he may see the British financier before the latter leaves.

Mellon, interviewed after his visit to Wall street, said he had gone there to "see some friends" and that his visit to Woodin's office was "purely personal."

was to force the United States to agree to cancellation or its equivalent and save the faces and the creditor's of America's debtors.

Since something must be done before September 15, Washington can well understand Norman's anxiety to know this week from Mills, Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon, Federal Reserve Bank officials and J. P. Morgan and Company, what the Hoover administration is going to do.

It is possible for Secretary Mills to give Norman an assurance whereby the Setpember 15 notice would not be necessary, the British government saved from any default and the policy of the Hoover administration kept secret from the American taxpayers until after the presidential election.

'JOKER' REVEALED

The authority is carried in a "joker" in the Mellon-Geddes agreement carries two farreaching provisions:

First—"ANY NOTICE, REQUEST OR CONSENT UNDER THE HAND OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY of the United States shall be deemed and taken as notice, request or CONSENT OF THE UNITED STATES."

That gives Mills enormous, sweeping authority. It makes the Secretary of the Treasury the government.

Second—"THE UNITED STATES IN ITS DISCRETION MAY WAIVE ANY NOTICE REQUIRED HEREUNDER, but any such waiver shall be in writing and shall not extend to or affect any subsequent notice or impair any right of the United States to require notice hereunder."

MILLS, THEREFORE, COULD WAIVE THE REQUIRED NOTICE OF ANTICIPATED NONPAYMENT. He would have to grant the waiver to Great Britain in writing but there is nothing in the agreement nor in the act of Congress requiring him to tell the American people he had done so, at least UNTIL AFTER THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

INTEREST IN ELECTION

Should the Mills-Mellon-Norman activities result in some such makeshift arrangement to cloak in secrecy the policy of the Hoover administration for DRASTIC DEBT REDUCTIONS OR OUTRIGHT CANCELLATION until after the November elections, it was pointed out, any such secret agreement would give THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, J. P. Morgan & Co., and other international bankers a new and even stronger and DIRECT INTEREST IN THE RE-ELECTION OF PRESIDENT HOOVER.

To have any such secret agreement stick, it would be imperative that the Hoover administration be RETAINED IN POWER in order to guarantee fulfillment. Otherwise, Congress would be certain to cast out any such proposal and leave a free hand to the Roosevelt administration, which is pledged to have no traffic with the cancellationists.

rious arrival in the United States of the governor of the Bank of England is explained. He is in the United States to prepare the way for discussing war debts reduction, despite America's ban on raising of this topic at the world economic conference.

It is regarded here as vital that the subject be met and decided upon OUTSIDE THE CONFERENCE previous to its convening and possibly during its sessions.

High banking circles close to the Bank of England yesterday admitted that Norman intends to see important "government financial officials" as well as financiers while in the United States.

This was the one comment available upon Universal Service's Washington dispatch disclosing that Norman would see or communicate with Secretary of the Treasury Mills before returning to England.

Bank of England quarters refused any comment whatsoever.

RAIL LEADERS MEET

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Leading executives of trunk line systems in the eastern railroad field gathered today in another meeting to decide what course they should take respecting consolidation. Hope was expressed by some of the executives that a tentative agreement would be reached.

Under the recent Interstate Commerce Commission decision, the eastern roads would be bulked into four large systems. In an earlier consolidation plan, it has proposed a grouping in five systems.

Today's meeting was called by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Under the new ruling, Pennsylvania would be expected to divest itself of its holdings of New Haven stock. As yet, the road has shown no inclination to approve.

'SILLY SECRECY' OF NORMAN DENOUNCED

London Laborite Paper Attacks 'Skinner' Mystery Menace

Universal Service.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—A smashing front-page editorial attack on Montagu Norman's mysterious mission in the United States has been made by the London Daily Herald, Laborite organ.

The editorial, published yesterday and headed "Silly Secrecy," states:

Prof. Clarence Skinner, otherwise Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has been conferring with American bankers on the economic conference and other matters under melodramatic conditions of secrecy.

Home Secretary Samuel is also engaged in a hush-hush mission in the channel isles. He, too, is talking about the economic conference with Premier Herriot, of France.

MYSTERY DENOUNCED

In both cases there have been semi-inspired reports that the conferences mean nothing. Nobody believes these reports. But the government's methods of publicity are at least consistent. It treats the British public as a child needing constant doses of soothing syrup. Candour in Whitehall would be a refreshing change.

Sir John Simon has already announced a revival of the Anglo-French entente. Sir Herbert Samuel is preparing the way for a possible "gentlemen's agreement" with France to present to the world economic conference.

Grave fears are being expressed in financial circles at the recredescence of methods of "secret diplomacy" and the effect which this may have on other countries at the world conference.

DANGEROUS VISIT

Norman's visit is even more dangerous. People on both sides of the Atlantic are getting tired of his theatrical pretentiousness. The question is being asked in the city by important financial houses not in "the ring" as to whom Norman is really representing.

In his role as Prof. Clarence Skinner and governor of the Bank of England, he is discussing major financial problems, including currency stabilization and price levels. He has had frequent talks with Governor Harrison, of the Federal Reserve Bank, on these topics in preparation for the world economic conference.

Is Norman safeguarding the private interests of the Bank of England, or is he representing the wider interests of the nation?

If the latter, then financial and political circles want to know who gave him the authority and to what he is committing Great Britain in his secret talks in New York counting houses.

PROBLEM OF GOLD

It is now notorious that there have been wide divergencies between the Treasury and the Bank of England over early return to the gold standard. Norman wants an early return to the gold standard and the Treasury wants "to wait and see."

City opinion is nervous about whether Norman is "playing his own hand," as he has done so often, to the cost of the country, or whether he is representing the prevailing British view that a precipitate return to the gold standard would be fatal.

JAPAN IGNORES U. S. IN CHINA WAR DRILLS

Tokio Breaks Promise To Halt Military Practice in Peiping

International News Service.

PEIPING, Aug. 31.—Breaking the promise given to Col. Louis M. Gulick, United States Marine Corps, senior commander of the legation guards, Japanese troops staged maneuvers before dawn today in the Chinese city of Peiping, two miles from the legation quarter.

Sixty rounds of machine gun bullets were fired. American Marines witnessed the maneuvers.

Col. Gulick last week requested that the Japanese cease their military drills in Peiping, characterizing them as "calculated to upset the serenity of the city." The Japanese military commander promised to halt the demonstrations immediately.

Chinese, Jap Battle Rages in Manchuria

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Fierce fighting between a large invading force of insurgents and Japanese troops broke out today at Menchihu, important city of the Mukden-Antung Railway, in the midst of the coal and iron fields of Liaoning Province.

The battle began in the morning and raged for hours, and nearly every building along the border between the Chinese and Japanese sections of the city burst into flames.

Casualties on both sides were believed to have been heavy.

Five hundred bandits hiding in a field south of the Anshan iron works, at Anshun, a short distance away, opened fire upon a freight train after overturning it.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Rumors that Japan was increasing her naval strength at Shanghai as circulated in Chinese newspapers, brought a sweeping denial from the Japanese consulate today.

The denial said no ships whatever had been ordered to Shanghai.

U. S. Ponders Jap Fear Of Fleet in Pacific

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Discussion in the Japanese Diet of the Japanese government's plans concerning concentration of the American Navy in the Pacific today intensified the interest of officials here in the real purpose of Admiral Nomura's unofficial visit to the United States.

To questioners in the Diet, Foreign Minister Uchida has replied he sees no reason why Japan should ask Washington to explain its fleet dispositions.

Yet the opinion prevails in some American naval circles that Nomura, who is well-acquainted through his long residence here, is coming primarily for the purpose of gauging American public opinion, entertaining the while a hope that some means may be found to persuade the United States to withdraw its Atlantic fleet from the Pacific.

Japanese newspapers have been especially bitter recently about the augmented American naval forces in the Orient and the questions in the Diet reflect the uneasiness among politicians who are determined to recognize Manchoukuo, but foresees international difficulties because of widespread sentiment against Japan's course in Manchuria.

MOLLISON TO GO BACK BY BOAT

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Amy Johnson announced today that her husband, Capt. J. A. Mollison, had decided definitely to return to England by steamer, abandoning his plan to fly back across the Atlantic.

SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Dr. Freeman O'Neil, host to Capt. James A. Mollison, the British trans-Atlantic flier, announced today that his guest was suffering from nervous exhaustion.

The physician has "practically forbidden" the Scot, who already has conquered the Atlantic from East to West, to take the air for several days at least.

RUM RAID NEAR FIREMEN FETE

Scores of volunteer fireman and their guests, taking part in the closing of the three-day firemen's street fair last night at Liberty, near McKeesport, were attracted to a building near the scene of the festivities when prohibition agents raided the place, seizing beer and whisky, according to a report today.

John Potersnak and Albert Coma, arrested during the raid, were held by the United States Commissioner in $1,000 bail each for a hearing September 7. When arraigned today both were wearing firemen's hats.

Potersnak was accused of selling tickets by which purchasers could secure whisky or beer from Coma, alleged bartender. The place was located beneath a garage, agents said.

France to Convert Government Bonds

PARIS, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—After the Bourse had closed today the Havas News Agency published a statement confirming from authorized quarters reports that the government intended to convert the French rentes (government bonds) shortly.

After Premier Herriot's return from the Island of Jersey, where he has been conferring with Home Secretary Sir Herbert Samuel, of Great Britain, the cabinet will meet tomorrow to call upon parliament to enact the legislation necessary to put through the conversion scheme, the Havas statement said.

Perilous Diving Race Features Air Meet

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 31.—A special eclipse program, the Frank Phillips trophy race and the much featured one-mile altitude and diving race were on the program of the National Air races here today, with the Phillips trophy 80-mile sprint calculated to bring some of the fastest planes of the year into action.

The one-mile up-and-down race for the White Eagle trophy offered by the Aero Club of Poland was an invitation affair, and was known to involve an element of danger. Under plans as worked out for the race, contestants were to take off, climb to a height of one mile, and dive downward and under a string placed 40 feet from the ground; the first plane under the string winning first.

There was a chance that some of the highest powered planes, which will be seen in action when the Thompson trophy race, premier speed event of the year, gets underway on Labor Day, would try for new land plane records today. Maj. James H. Doolittle, former trans-continental record holder, has announced he would try to beat the record of 278 miles an hour.

Today marked the halfway mark in the 10-day program of the national air races, and found the pilots still grumbling over small purses and race officials complaining at light attendance.

Spectators, on the other hand, protested that this year's races distinctly lacked pep, and pointed out that there were times when they spent two hours sitting in a broiling sun in the grandstand with nothing more than an autogiro demonstration going on out in front.

Paris Says Norman Seeks Pact for Britain Alone

By GEORGE W. HILLMAN, JR.
Universal Service.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Prime Minister MacDonald sent Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, to the United States to begin British war debt negotiations independent of France, the Nationalist newspaper, Figaro, declared yesterday.

Figaro attacks MacDonald for launching a maneuver contrary to the "gentlemen's agreement" at Lausanne and the subsequent Anglo-French accord of confidence.

French newspapers continue to manifest keenest interest in Norman's mysterious doings in America. They publish all reports and denials issuing from Washington, New York and London. Echo de Paris remarks:

"In the American press there is general criticism of Norman's secret visit."

DOUGLAS DEFIES LANG OUSTER ORDER

Contractor Leaves To Bring New Materials

A court battle for possession of Allegheny River wharf frontage below the Sixth Street Bridge, now occupied by John Douglas, Jr., despite an eviction order by the city, loomed today.

Attorney Walter F. Michael, representing Douglas, said a conference would be held late today at which a decision would be reached as to "appropriate court action" to protect Douglas' interests in engaging in the sand and gravel business, ostensibly in connection with the new $8,000,000 postoffice, on which work has been halted by a strike.

LANG DEFIED

Meanwhile, Douglas continued to defy Public Works Director Edward G. Lang by having a boat and two barges along the wharf which had been released Monday to the Iron City Sand Company.

Douglas was said to be in Kittanning directing the shipment of materials to the wharf site.

His will defied, Director Lang today would say no more than this:

"The matter is now in the hands of the police. I placed it there personally."

Vang declared:

"I am not going to give up that wharf property. Douglas has no rights there at all."

RESULT OF STRIKE

The dispute grew out of the Hoisting Engineers Union's strike at the new postoffice building. The union insists that the Building Trades Employers Association must purchase sand and gravel from companies which employ union engineers.

So Douglas organized a new sand company which the union has approved. And his activities at the wharf are connected with this new company.

Douglas' application for a wharf lease was refused by the city because he owes $12,000 rent for a lease at the Exposition Building, Assistant City Solicitor T. M. Benner said today.

SLAYER OF WIFE CONVICTED IN WASHINGTON

Clark Given Life Term For Stabbing Woman Over Separation

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—Harry Clark, 23, today was found guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation for life imprisonment for the slaying of his wife, Laura Clutter Clark, 23, four weeks ago today.

The jury of 10 men and two women, given the case late yesterday, reported at the opening of court.

MARRIED AT 14

The murder was the result of domestic bickerings, augmented by the arrest of Clark on a charge of beating her. They were married when they were about 14 years old. Following the beating of Mrs. Clark, her parents demanded a separation, and Mrs. Clark returned to Clark home to get her clothing. Her husband insisted on a reconciliation and she refused. She fled to a neighbor's home to telephone her father and Clark followed and stabbed her to death.

Clark heard the verdict calmly and without show of emotion. His wife's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clutter, and their daughter, Pearl, were in court when the verdict was read. They heard it silently.

Clark was remanded to jail. Sentence of life imprisonment, which is mandatory, will be pronounced later by Judge Erwin Cummins.

INSANITY DEFENSE FAILS

During the trial, in which Clark set up a defense of insanity, capacity crowds attended the sessions, the room being filled to overflowing each day. So great was the crush that it was reported at least three women fainted each day. State police and county officers were on duty to prevent the corridors from becoming so congested as to halt other business.

After Clark had built up his insanity defense, District Attorney Warren S. Burchinal summoned three alienists, who said they believed Clark sane.

Following the murder, Clark said he killed his wife because he loved her. This confession he later repudiated.

Vallees Will Sign Accord On Property

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Rudy Vallee, radio crooner, and his wife, the former Fay Webb, have reached a pre-divorce property agreement, Hyman Bushel, attorney for both husband and wife, said today.

They planned to sign it Saturday, according to the lawyer.

Bushel, however, denied reports Rudy intended to pay $50,000 cash and $1,000 a month alimony.

DAVIS TO FACE DAMAGE SUIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—A $25,000 damage suit against Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, was pending in court today.

Morris Hamelin, Nassau County, accused the Senator, then secretary of labor, of ruling he was an alien subject to deportation.

Hamelin declared he was a native citizen of America, and that Davis' decision delayed his release from Atlanta Penitentiary, where he served a term for mail fraud.

Summons in the suit was served on Senator Davis after he had pleaded not guilty to Federal Court indictments accusing him of participating in a lottery scheme under sponsorship of the Loyal Order of Moose. Trial was set for September 19.

Walker Better, Will Attend Rites for Kin

Also Plans to Go to Albany for Hearing; Denies He'll Quit

Dr. Schroeder, after visiting the Mayor today at the Mayfair House, said:

"I found the Mayor out of bed and gaining strength. He told me that he would attend the funeral of his brother tomorrow and would also go to Albany on Friday for the resumption of his hearing before Gov. Roosevelt."

Schroeder added that the Mayor's temperature, which had been slightly feverish, was again normal.

George F. Walker, brother of the Mayor, is to be buried tomorrow from St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Walker, through his secretary, George Collins, again denied suddenly recurrent reports he would resign shortly.

While the possibility loomed the scheduled resumption of the hearings may have to be postponed, a new court attack on the entire removal proceedings was to be launched within the next 24 hours.

Sidney S. Levine, counsel for George Donnelly, who initiated an unsuccessful attempt to have the courts bar the removal proceedings as illegal, planned to appeal the decision of Justice Ellis J. Staley upholding the Governor's right to sit in judgment of New York's Mayor.

Sack Murder Victim Discovered in Auto

ROSELAND, N. J., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—With a burlap bag wrapped about his head, the body of an unidentified man was found in an automobile today on an unpaved road in a sparsely settled area about two miles from Roseland.

FINE 2; NUMBERS SOLD CHILDREN

Arrested on complaints that they had been selling "numbers" to children, Jane Jones, who conducts a confectionery at 3023 Carson street, and Elmer Cameron, 21, of 3207 War street, were fined $25 each or 30 days in jail in South Side Police Court today.

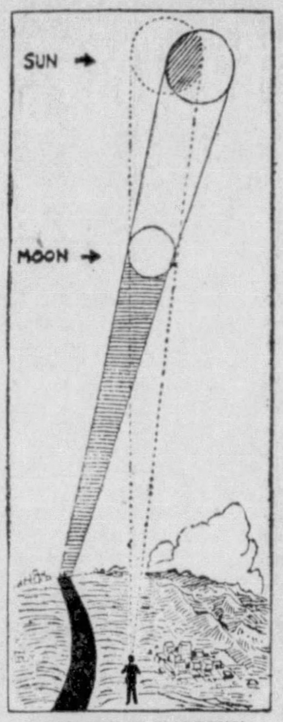
Both defendants denied selling "numbers" to children. Cameron admitted booking "numbers," testifying he worked for "Hookey Joe."

Magistrate J. J. Sweeney told Plainclothesman George Franz:

"You should have brought in 'Hookey Joe.'"

Franz replied:

"We have heard of 'Hookey Joe" but don't know who he is."



JUST WHAT HAPPENS!

Spider Builds Home In Eclipse Camera

FREYBURG, Me., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—A mysterious mist across the lens of one of the cameras set up here by the Northwestern University eclipse observation party caused Capt. Barnett Harris, leader of the group, plenty of concern today.

After he had worked an hour in an effort to clear the instrument, he discovered he owed his trouble to a spider, which had chosen the interior of the camera for his home and spun a web across the lens.

moon to cause darkness in day time and awe man and beast.

Tens of millions more, judging by the zeal with which smoked glasses were bought all over the United States, were ready to serve the eclipse from outside the path of totality.

New England was the focal point for observation of nature's greatest show, the moon's shadow, 238,000 miles long, making a dark path 6,000 miles long and 100 miles wide on the earth and the moon blotting out the sun at individual points for durations ranging from 90 to 102 seconds.

The eclipse is complete at about 4:30 p. m. (Pittsburgh time). It begins about an hour before then and ends an hour thereafter.

The weather, not so predictable as the movements of the earth, sun and moon, caused some concern to amateur and professional observers. Many of the professionals were prepared, however, to go above any clouds in airplanes

W. Va. Capital Stirred By Rum Charges

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—State house corridors resounded today with discussion of charges by Speaker J. Alfred Taylor, of the House, of the photographing of a "supposed scene" showing liquor in his office after adjournment of the Legislature.

Taylor conducted an official investigation yesterday into what he termed "re-enactment of the supposed scene" for a photographer to show a tray bearing a liquor bottle, a water pitcher and a number of glasses, one containing a small quantity of liquor.

Denying that things reported to have been found in his office by a janitor were there when he left his office, Taylor said he had never taken a drink of liquor in the state capitol.

The Rev. Homer Cummings, chaplain of the House, one of the witnesses called, said he had found no evidence of liquor in Taylor's office during numerous visits there.

Taylor said the "re-enactment" took place Monday night when the "supposed scene" was arranged purporting to show conditions "in which the Speaker's office was at the time of adjourment."

The Rev. O. M. Pullen, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said he was told the bottles and a tray were found by the janitors after adjournment of the Legislature and that he was present as a "spectator" when the photographing was taken. He said he posed in the picture with his hand on the liquor bottle.

Davies Film Premiere To Draw Many Stars

Headed by Helen Morgan, Ruth Etting and Peggy Fears, a delegation of "glorified" girls will attend the opening in a body, occupying the state box at the Capitol.

Others who will attend include Lilyan Tashman, Ethel Shutta, Evelyn Groves, Neva Lynn, Virginia and Meredith Howard, Betty Dumbris, Mary Alice Rice, Norma Terriss and Joan Burgess.

Another tribute to Miss Davies and "Blondie of the Follies," will be paid by Maj. Edward Bowes, managing director of the Capitol, and famous radio broadcaster of the Capitol Family Hour, who, in his program of next Sunday will include the theme song from "Blondie of the Follies," "Why Don't You Take Me?" The number will be played by the orchestra under the direction of Yasha Bunchuk.

Capone Sleuth Injures Police Here in Row

Accused of splitting one policeman's lip with his fist and breaking another officer's thumb by kicking him, Thomas J. Friel, 38, special agent of the Department of Justice, who is said to have worked on the Al Capone case, was being held in Dormont Police Station today awaiting release under $500 bond.

Friel is charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Capt. C. H. Hasley, of the Dormont police, reported he had arrested Friel, who resides at 23 Ralston place, Mt. Lebanon, early today, when Friel alighted from his car in West Liberty avenue near Potomac avenue, and narrowly missed being struck by a machine.

Friel told Hasley he "didn't want to be bothered by a punk cop," the latter reported. In the Dormont Police Station, Friel split Hasley's lip and broke Patrolman George Strickler's thumb when they sought to quiet him, they said.

Dr. R. S. Hensell, of Dormont, pronounced Friel under the influence of liquor, according to Chief of Police Ralph Miller. Friel will be given a hearing September 8.

NAZIS CALLED BY HINDENBURG

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Forced to recognize the rising tide of Fascist power in Germany, President Paul von Hindenburg today agreed to receive the executive staff of the new Reichstag, headed by Capt. Hermann Goering, one of Adolf Hitler's chief Nazi aides.

From his country estate at Neudeck in East Prussia, the aged President replied affirmatively to a telegram sent by Capt. Goering immediately after his election to the presidency of the Reichstag asking an audience to plead for continuance of parliamentary government and withholding of the dissolution decree signed yesterday.

President von Hindenburg gave recognition to Fascist supremacy in the Reichstag with good grace, but into his reply he injected a characteristically typical hint that he remains above individual and party and will not consent to be pulled and hauled about by aspiring politicians.

Coincident with Von Hindenburg's reply, the cabinet of Chancellor von Papen acknowledged legitimacy of Goering's election and backed down on its previous stand of militant opposition to Nazi leadership in the Reichstag.

BANKER STARTS ANEW ON $1,000

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Rogers Caldwell, who once controlled properties valued at $600,000,000 and had a personal fortune estimated at $7,000,000, prepared today to start anew his career as a financier with a capital of $1,000.

He announced the new firm of Rogers Caldwell & Co., investment banking and security concern, will start business tomorrow.

It has offices in the same building that housed the investment firm of Caldwell & Co., which was turned over to receivers November 13, 1930, after the failure of its subsidiary, the Bank of Tennessee.

Roosevelt to Stay At Philippines Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—White House aides said today that President Hoover had personally suggested to Gov. Theodore Roosevelt that he remain at his Philippines post rather than return to this country to take an active part in the campaign. Roosevelt's decision to remain at his post was announced yesterday in Manila.

OKLAHOMA VETS FOR BONUS

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 31—(AP.)—The state American Legion convention today had adopted a resolution favoring full payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Other resolutions adopted favored filling all veterans' bureau jobs with ex-service men and creation of a separate United States Senate committee to handle veterans affairs.

Earlier the convention heard Walter W. Waters, commander of the bonus expeditionary force driven from Washington by Federal troops, who said he "wasn't invited at all, but "just wanted to visit the home state of the most despicable member of the cabinet."

Secretary of War Hurley, the only Oklahoman ever to serve in the cabinet, declined an invitation to address the convention because of the pressure of official business.

More Vets in Race For Legion Leader

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—With the national American Legion convention two weeks off, the list of candidates for the office of national commander increased today.

Among those whose names have been mentioned include George Malone and Frank Pinola, of Pennsylvania, Louis W. Johnson, of West Virginia, and National Vice Commander Richard Paul, of Massachusetts.

Kreuger Agent Faces Contempt Proceeding

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Steps to have Anders Jordahl, confidential agent for the late Ivar Kreuger, declared in contempt of court were initiated today by Jacob K. Javitz, attorney for a group of Kreuger and Toll creditors.

Jordahl, wanted to testify in proceedings before Bankruptcy Referee Henry K. Davis, failed to appear after he was served with a summons at Carmel, N. Y.

Five in Family Dead In Train-Auto Crash

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Five members of a family were killed today at Lagrange, 20 miles from here, when an automobile in which they were driving to a funeral was demolished by a passenger train. The dead: Prentice Douglas, 45, farmer; Misses Matilda, 20 and Vable Douglas, 17, daughters; Walter Douglas, 70, his father, and Mrs. Lula Douglas, 50, his mother.

Father, Son Killed As Auto, Truck Hit

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—A father and son en route from Syracuse, N. Y., to Stockbridge, Mich., to arrange for the youth's approaching marriage, were killed today when their car collided with a truck.

The victims were Charles W. M. Dyer, 52, and his son, Charles Elmer, 24. Mrs. Sarah Dyer, the boy's mother, was seriously injured.

GOV. ROOSEVELT SHOWS GAIN IN 33 STATES

By COLE F. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Gov. Franklin Roosevelt has scored net gains in 33 states and President Hoover in 15 in the additional returns tabulated during the last week in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

The states where Hoover improved his position, with the net gain in each were:

Roosevelt's net gains were in these states:

Alabama, 110; Arizona, 70; Arkansas, 172; California, 993; Florida, 152; Georgia, 287; Idaho, 36; Illinois, 541; Iowa, 84; Kentucky, 293; Louisiana, 172; Maryland, 440; Michigan, 115; Minnesota, 23; Mississippi, 120; Missouri, 259; Nebraska, 109; Nevada, 9; New Mexico, 37; North Carolina, 679; North Dakota, 7; Oklahoma, 228; Oregon, 35; South Carolina, 139; South Dakota, 88; Tennessee, 335; Texas, 668; Utah 6; Vermont, 11; Virginia, 175; Washington, 239; West Virginia, 188; Wisconsin, 705.

Although Hoover made gains in 15 states, only eight thus far are giving him a majority of the ballots recorded. They are the six New England states, Ohio and Kansas. The Ohio majority is only 13 and that in Kansas but 43, with approximately 4,100 votes tabulated in the former and 2,000 in the latter.

Roosevelt on the other hand is holding New Jersey by only 22 majority with more than 3,000 votes recorded. This is a stand-off for Hoover's thin margin in Ohio. In eight other states, Roosevelt's lead is less than 100. They are Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon and Wyoming.

LATE RETURNS IN HEARST PAPERS' POLL

Party Divisions by States

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. It also shows the majority that each candidate has in each state in which he is leading. In addition it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each state as compared with the last preceding report from the state. These state reports are usually a week apart. The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each state where he has improved his position as compared with the preceding report from that state.

HOOVER'S VOTE GROWS IN EAST

By COLE F. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The East continues to show President Hoover gaining strength in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

Additional returns tabulated today from 10 states east of the Alleghenies and north of the Potomac, all in that area, in fact, except Maryland, served to favor the Republican candidate.

Hoover continued to show substantial leads in all six New England states. Returns from New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware cut down the Roosevelt leads in those states. Maryland, however, gave Roosevelt much the best of the new ballots, adding to his already comfortable majority there.

As a whole Hoover had the edge in the day's additions. Outstanding was the inroad he made on Roosevelt's New York lead with new returns from the upstate region surrounding Albany. What yesterday was a 60-40 advantage in New York for Roosevelt was reduced today to a 51-49 division, placing the state in the doubtful zone.

Pennsylvania, with today's returns, also divided 51-49 in Roosevelt's favor. Yesterday the percentages showed this state standing 52-48 for Roosevelt.

A total of 6,811 new ballots were counted. Hoover drew 3,724 and Roosvelt 3,087. These additions brought a total for the country as a whole to 115,926, dividing 70,356 for Roosevelt and 45,570 for Hoover. This is a Roosevelt majority of 24,786. The percentage stands 61-39 in Roosevelt's favor.

PROBE MYSTERY FIRES IN HOME

Constable P. J. Major, of Penn Township and Fire Chief John Gerthoffer tday are investigating a mysterious fire in the home of A. C. Burnett, Banfield street, Brushton Hill, while the family was absent. It was the second fire in the house within a week.

Last Thursday $100 damage resulted. Last night the Burnett family left on a vacation and at 5 o'clock this morning fire was discovered by neighbors. Major, who is a fire marshal, and Gerthoffer, expressed the belief that the fire was caused by a short circuit. The damage today was $1,200, Major said.

RAIL RATE CUT ON OHIO COAL

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 31.—Four competing railroads, operating in the Eastern Ohio coal fields, beginning Friday, will be allowed to charge the same rate as the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad, recently authorized to cut the coal rate from $1.74 to $1.45 to Ohio lake ports.

The Ohio Public Utilities Commission last night granted the request of the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia roads to meet the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad's cuts.

Policemen Acting In Chicago Opera Tonight

When they're not chasing traffic law violators they go in for opera.

A corps of the city's mounted will participate tonight in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," the second performance of Chicago's season of summer-time outdoor opera. They'll appear as gypsies in the second act, and then come on again later as troops of the Count of Luna.

Owner of Wheeling Baseball Club Dies

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Charles W. Holloway, 62, founder and president of the United Dairy Company, and owner of the Wheeling ball club of the Middle Atlantic League, died here last night.

Holloway was well know throughout Western Pennsylvania because of his business, having dealt with leading Pittsburgh milk companies for a number of years.

Heifetz Will Rush Home to Visit Son

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Eager to see for the first time his son who was born to his wife, Florence Vidor, former film star, while he was on a world concert tour, Jascha Heifetz today made arrangements to rush on to Los Angeles. Among quaint toys he brought from all corners of the earth was a curiously fashioned violin he obtained in South Africa.

Dutch Sailors Strike Against Wage Cuts

THE HAGUE, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Dutch sailors were on strike today following a clash with ship owners over a projected second wage cut.

Since many crews were signed up in advance in anticipation of the walkout, the seriousness of the strike will not be known for some time.

Brazilian Federal Troops Take City

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Federal headquarters today announced loyal troops had captured the junction city of Itapira, 80 miles northeast of Sao Paulo City. Capt. Cicero Monteiro, brother of the federal commander, was slain in the engagement.

Boy in Pond Killed By Electric Light

DAYTON, O., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—An electrical shock suffered when he waded into a fish pond while holding an electric light socket and bulb in his hand, caused the death last night of Ivan Coates, 17.

Manager Slugged By Store Robbers

Two men, one of whom struck Henry Thomas, manager of a P. H. Butler store at 548 Oceola street, on the head with his fist, escaped today after taking $12 from the cash register, according to a police report.

SALES TAX LAW EFFECTIVE TOMORROW

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania merchants are getting ready to start collection tomorrow of the state's new one per cent retail sales tax designed to raise $12,000,000 to provide unemployment relief.

The tax and the relief program were born of eight weeks' conflict between the administration forces and the regular Republican organization. They passed it as a compromise in a special session of the Legislature called for the expressed purpose of meeting the problem of the state's jobless.

RUNS UNTIL FEBRUARY

The tax runs from September 1 until February 28. It is payable April 1 and is in addition to the 1 mill mercantile tax levied annually on all retailers.

State experts estimate that 200,000 merchants will pay the levy.

The impost applies to all retail sales, sales by any one direct to the consumer, but does not apply to sales by a manufacturer to a wholesaler or on sales by a jobber to a retailer. Merchants may pass the tax on to the consumer by adding it to the price of an article.

The Department of Revenue, responsible for collection of the tax, believes it will be collected from approximately 200,000 merchants and will yield between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000.

The tax applies to all tangible personal property, thus affecting food, gasoline (already taxed 1 cent by the federal government and 3 cents by the state) clothing, and luxuries but does not apply to water, heat, gas, electricity and real estate.

COST HELD SLIGHT

The Department of Revenue believes that it can collect this tax at a cost of only one-half per cent of the total collected or from $60,000 to $75,000. They do not anticipate adding materially to the department's clerical or field agent forces.

While the law states that the retailer may only pass on the tax to the consumer by displaying the amount of the tax along with the price of the article, Dr. Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue, says this is "bologna." He says if the merchants wish to increase the price of their merchandise to cover the cost of the article they are free to do so and the consumer will pay the tax.

Weds, Then Returns To Reformatory

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Stanley Marsh, 22, of Oil City, is going back to Huntingdon Reformatory for an indefinite term, this time a married man. A few hours before Judge Lee McCracken sentenced him on a charge of larceny involving theft of gasoline, Marsh married Henrietta Kay, 20, of Oil City.

Judge McCracken, conducting his first court sentence since assuming the judgeship, told Marsh his first reformatory visit had done him little good.

Repairing Home, Man Falls to Death

Suffering a broken back in a fall from a scaffold while repairing his home late yesterday, John Hallinghan, 59, of 1316 Ivanhoe street, was taken to Mercy Hospital, where he died two hours later, the Coroner's office reported. Hallinghan lost his balance and fell about 15 feet.

40 Sacks of Rye Stolen, House Fired

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—Robbers who stole 40 sacks of rye from an unoccupied dwelling on the old Monastery Slope farm, near Latrobe, are suspected of having set fire to the building to conceal the theft. Police believe the thieves were moonshiners.

URGE FAIRNESS IN CASHING 'BUCKS'

In making plans for overflow Lucky Buck Day at Kennywood and West View Parks Saturday, the Sun-Telegraph is confronted with the fact that many boys and girls have more Lucky Bucks than they can really use. If these youngsters, with their big bank rolls of Comic Weekly play money, cash them in for Kennywood and West View all at once, they would exhaust the supply of tickets in a few minutes—in fact they would get so many that hundreds of other children would be deprived of any rides.

Here is an instance: A woman telephoned yesterday and said that her boy has 1,680 Lucky Bucks and wanted to know if he could cash them in for approximately 20 strips of tickets, eight to a strip. This is unreasonable on its face because no boy in the world could participate in so many rides in a single day at any amusement park. There have been a lot of instances just like that.

What the Sun-Telegraph is really anxious to do at this overflow Lucky Buck Day is to reasonably take care of boys and girls who were disappointed last Friday—to see that they all get rides next Saturday. Incidentally the parks will not be overcrowded. Only enough tickets for a normal day's business at each park will be distributed and when these are gone, there will be no more.

Consequently the number of strips of tickets given to each boy and girl in advance will be limited, but the limit will be ample for an afternoon or evening of real fun.

Tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph will print a list of Exchange Stations where the children can bring their Lucky Bucks and exchange them for the rides and riding devices at both Kennywood and West View.

It was originally intended to keep the parks open only Sunday and Monday (Labor Day), but the management of each park was glad to add an extra day and cooperate with the Sun-Telegraph in this special Saturday effort to take care of the boys and girls who were among those disappointed in that enormous crowd that went to Kennywood last Friday.

CHURCH GROUP RAPS WEALTHY

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—A stand for a social order with more equitable distribution of wealth and a "more worthy standard of living for all" was taken by the Federal Council of Churches in its annual Labor Day message. The message said:

"The constant suggestion of the parables of Jesus is that great wealth in the midst of poverty is a hindrance to the good life. This is still the fact.

"Inequality is a peril to the rich, because it tempts them to a narrowing of their sympathies and a false scale of values, a curse to poor because it means misery."

Pittsburgh Sleuth Held in Embracery

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—John H. Weiner, private detective of Pittsburgh and former Washington County detective, today was under indictment on a charge of embracery. He was accused of attempting to prevent Miss Victoria Slinkish, the state's star witness, from testifying in the murder trial of Charles Ruttenberg, Wheeling (W. Va.) merchant, for the death of his nephew, Herman Zimmerman.

Snow-Marooned Utah Party Safe

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—After being forced to spend a day and a night at Mirror Lake in the mountains southeast of here because of snow-blocked roads, a party of five Salt Lake young people returned to their homes last night.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register. Receipt must be for taxes paid within two years.

September 8—First registration day in second and third-class cities, including Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those who may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

ACTION ON MILK PRICE BOOST DELAYED

Delegates to yesterday's price conference of the Dairymen's Co-operative Sales Association were back on their farms today offering little hope to the members they represented at the meeting, at which a better price was urged.

Distributors at the price conference deferred action on demands of dairy farmers for an increase of less than a half a cent a quart for their products until September 9, because the Otto Milk Company was not represented at the session.

P. S. Brenneman, president of the association, made the demand. After a meeting at which individual grievances were aired, Brenneman asked the distributors if they would accept the increase.

Washington County and Somerset County delegates indicated their prices would be increased about 2 cents a quart, but no motions on the price had been adopted when Brenneman made his demand.

Several attempts were made to attack the present system of distribution, which jumps the price of milk from 8 cents a gallon on the farm to from 8 to 12 cents a quart when delivered to the home, but nothing was done.

The Washington County delegation tried several times to map out a plan whereby the milk output could be decreased.

SWEDISH MOVIE HERE SEPT. 29

The First Swedish Methodist Episcopal Church will bring a motion picture of Sweden to Schenley High School auditorium, Thursday evening, September 29, instead of tomorrow evening, as originally reported.

The seven-reel movie will show views of famous Swedish cities and towns, industries, sports, statesmen, rulers and agricultures.

The Rev. John Franklin, pastor of the church, says a number of Pittsburgh business men have accepted invitations to see the picture. A feature of the entertainment will be a special orchestra. Maruite Erricson and Oscar Larson, with the Rev. Franklin, are the entertainment committee for the evening.

ENDS 31-YEAR MAIL CAREER

Charles Mainhardt, 65, of 3336 Delaware avenue, North Side, has retired as a postal worker in the Pittsburgh Postoffice after 31 years of service, during which it was estimated he handled 100,000,000 pieces of mail in the distributing section. After he had placed his last piece of mail at 4 p. m. yesterday, he was surrounded by postoffice officials and fellow workers, who presented him an electric chime clock and other gifts.

During his entire career in the postal service he handled mail for distribution in Pennsylvania, which required intimate knowledge of the 3,200 postoffices in towns and villages in the state, as well as railroad schedules.

Wife Seeks to Have Divorce Set Aside

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—A divorce decree granted in February to B. F. Randall, of New Kensington, from Bessie Randall, of Philadelphia, is being attacked in court here by Mrs. Randall, who obtained a rule requiring him to show cause why it should not be vacated.

Mrs. Randall declared she was served no subpena or notice at the time the proceedings were instituted, charging cruelty.

Police Badge, Gun Among $1,000 Loot

A police sergeant's badge and service revolver were among the loot, valued at $1,000, stolen yesterday from the home of Kate Lenkner, 9038 Frankstown road, according to police report. The badge and revolver belonged to Charles Lenkner, a brother, acting magistrate's clerk at East End Police Station, who was visiting his sister.

Husband of Slaying Witness Gets Term

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Cliff Matthews, of Barkeyville, whose wife was an eye witness to the fatal shooting of two men by Ralph Ziccardi, mine operator, several weeks ago, drew a term of nine months in Allegheny County Workhouse in Judge McCracken's court. Matthews pleaded guilty to selling liquor and was in jail awaiting court action when the shooting occurred.

Wildwood to Get Postal Carrier

A change in postal routes, affecting Gibsonia, Allison Park and Wildwood, effective tomorrow, will afford Wildwood a postman for the first time in 20 years, postal officials announced today. With the change one carrier will be dropped from the route.

$25,000 More Voted For County's Audit

An additional appropriation of $25,000 to complete the audit being made by Main & Co. was made by the County Commissioners yesterday. This brings the total cost of the audit to $125,000.

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair

-With-

Patricia Pitt

If you don't believe homes of the "400" are pretty much deserted at the end of the summer, just try to reach one of your friends by phone one of these afternoons.

Ever so many of the smart set are away until after Labor Day, and those who aren't out of town may be found swimming, golfing or bridging at one of the country clubs or at one of the small informal entertainments always associated with summer.

Mrs. Alan Magee Scaife is out of town just now. She's up at Murray Bay, and I believe her mother, Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon, is with her.

The Mellon family usually is found at Watch Hill, but this summer Mrs. Mellon has deserted her favorite resort. Mrs. Scaife and Mrs. Mellon are expected home some time next week.

Stay in Canada

And they plan to remain there until after Labor day, too.

By the way, Vagabondia is a favorite name with this branch of the Mellon family, for their yacht, on which they take frequent cruises, has the same name.

The junior William Larimer Mellons are back in town after having spent some time with Mr. Mellon's father and mother at popular Beaumaris, whose population in the summer time is very Pittsburgh.

While we're chatting about the Mellons, I might add that Mrs. T. A. Mellon and her daughter, Patsy, are home just now, and so are the E. P. Mellons II.

Mrs. Mellon's mother, Mrs. Stephen Stone, I'm reminded, is at Georgian Bay, and will be back in a week or so.

Yesterday was ladies' day at the Allegheny Country Club, but the golfers were astonishingly few, as Allegheny is one of the favorite rendezvous of the smart set. But the resorts have lured many away.

Golfers Are Few

There were a number of bridge tables, however, and I noticed at one table Mrs. B. F. Jones II, in white; Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., in white pique with a red turban; Mrs. Alexander Laughlin Robinson, in blue, and Mrs. Lewis A. Park, in pink.

Miss Farenzeska Walker, there for luncheon, wore pink crepe, and Mrs. Howard Burgwin, in pink crepe with a white hat, arrived with Mrs. J. L. D. Painter, who wore a blue and white flowered cotton frock with a red hat.

Arriving together were Martha Smith and Mary Stoner, both in white, and Mrs. W. C. Robinson, Jr., who later played golf with Genevieve Bell, wore red and white striped cotton. Genevieve wore a sports frock of white crepe.

Mrs. Franklin C. Irish arriving for luncheon, wore white crepe with a wide brimmed white felt hat.

Navy Chaplain Officiates at Wedding

The only chaplain ever to serve aboard the yacht Mayflower, used by President Coolidge in his administration, performed a marriage ceremony this morning in Pittsburgh. He is Chaplain R. W. Shrum, of the U. S. S. West Virginia, on his way to New London, Conn., to be chaplain of a new United States Coast Guard School.

Wearing the white uniform of the United States Navy officer, he officiated this morning at the wedding of Erma Kutz, pretty daughter of L. B. C. Kutzes, of Raleigh, N. C., and his brother, George Dixon Shrum, son of Mrs. Ida Dixon Shrum, of the East End.

The marriage took place in the state room of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association before an altar of crotons and cibotium ferns, lighted by seven branced Italian candelabra placed on either side, holding cathedral tapers.

A gown of that new pebbly-surfaced white satin was worn by the bride with a brief cape of the same material banded deeply in white fur and decorated in addition with a row of small white buttons down the back.

Wears White

For the "something blue" that every bride must wear who believes in the old traditions, today's bride had a buckle of blue sapphire, outlined with rhinestones, to fasten the narrow belt of the Princess gown, crossing just the back.

Instead of a veil, she had a smart toque of white velvet with a perky bow over one eye. And she carried calla liliess. Her uncle, Jay La Barre, of Bellevue, gave her in marriage.

In Blue Gown

Ralph H. Snyder, a law partner of the bridegroom, was best man, and Robert Craig, of Edgewood, also a law partner; Harbaugh Miller, another lawyer, and Harry Boyd, who served with the bridegroom in the United States Army during the World War, were ushers.

A wedding breakfast for 150 guests followed, with summer flowers decorating the tables. After a motor trip in the East, a cruise to Halifax and Bermuda on the S. S. France, and a sojourn in Atlantic City, Mr. Shrum and his bride will be at home October 1 in Park Mansions.

SHANNOPIN'S WOMEN GOLFERS IN "MONKEY TOURNEY"

MRS. EDWARD W. COURTNEY — MISS MARGARET MILLER — MISS ELEANORE ENTRIKIN

SHANNOPIN COUNTRY CLUB MEMBERS...DRESSED IN BYGONE YEARS' STYLES FOR THEIR ANNUAL MONKEY GOLF TOURNEY

Japanese, Milkmaids And Belles Vie on Shannopin Links

Dainty Japanese ladies, like porcelain figures, a few representatives of the vanished Bowery, a couple of Scots, ballroom belles of a bygone age and even a milkmaid or two vied for honors at the Shannopin Country Club's ladies' monkey golf tournament yesterday.

Mrs. W. J. Lacock, the chairman, was disguised most effectively as a gypsy damsel in gay yellow and red, fringed shawl and all.

Miss Eleanore Entriken's Japanese costume was of mauve and purple satin with a gay parasol and her eyes were orientally elongated, with the aid of an eyebrow pencil.

Mrs. Edward W. Courtney made a fascinating Dresden figure in pink satin with the train tied to one wrist by a ribbon and her hat was really a "creation" such as Gody's Ladies Book approved, smothered in shaded blue ostrich plumes. Mrs. George Walker's quaint costume was of corn colored linen with a poke bonnet.

Margaret Miller wore a be-ruffled lawn frock with embroidered pantelletes, and Mrs. V. W. Cruikshank presented a very fierce aspect, indeed, as a "tough" with a cap pulled down over her eyes. Virginia Kiser and Caroline Erb looked very Scotch indeed in their plaids as they started out on the course, and all they lacked were the bagpipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Toomey Return from Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Toomey have returned from the Catskills and are at home in Bonvue street, North Side. Their wedding was an event of August 17 in St. Boniface's Roman Catholic Church. Mrs. Toomey was Miss Elfrieda Marie Miller and is the daughter of Mrs. Genovefa Miller, of Bonvue street.

Newlyweds to be Guest At Reception Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. I. Gold, Pocusset street, will give a reception in their home Sunday evening at 8 o'clock for their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klein, of North Braddock. Before her marriage August 22, Mrs. Klein was Miss Ernestine Gold.

Miss Tillie Chussett Weds Jacob Seligson

Miss Tillie Chussett, daughter of Charles Chussett, of the East End, became the bride of Ben Seligson, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Seligson, of Philadelphia, Sunday evening, August 28, with the Rev. Julius Bloom, officiating.

Walter Lissfelts Onegin's Guests In Salzburg

Globe trotters are beginning to return home now that autumn is really at hand, and have many memories of distant places to recall during the coming months.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Lissfelt, of Hastings street, just back from a European tour, have more memories than that to treasure up for the winter days. They attended the musical festival in Salzburg.

And they had most distinguished hosts in Salzburg. They were guests of Sigrid Onegin and her husband, Dr. Pentzoldt. And with them later motored in the Tyrol after hearing Onegin's "Orpheus" in Salsburg.

Mr. Lissfelt is a brother of Fred Lissfelt, music critic of the Sun-Telegraph.

In the guild room of All Saints Episcopal Church on Tuesday, September 13, the Neighborhood Garden Club will hold its first annual flower show. Products of the gardens of the members and their friends will be on display and Mrs. R. R. Sanborn, the club president, is heading the committee on arrangements.

Monessen Teacher Weds Cleveland Physician

Miss Vienna Campana, who has been a music teacher in the Monessen public schools, and Dr. Vincent Prioletti, of Cleveland, O., were married Monday morning in St. Leonard's Catholic Church, of Monessen.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi Campana, of Monessen, wore ivory satin in princess style, having long, tight-fitting sleeves, and a veil of ivory tulle cascading from a cap of tulle and orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book with a marker of narrow ribbons and orange blossoms.

Miss Anne Bopel, of Sewickley, a classmate of the bride at Indiana State Teachers' College, Indiana, Pa., as maid of honor, wore beige chiffon with a hat to match, and Miss Leda Mernome, of Cleveland, as bridesmaid, was in apricot satin with a hat to match.

Dr. Frederick Campana, a brother of the bride, was best man, and Edmond Campana, another brother, was also a member of the bridal party.

COTTON CONSIDERED POPULAR PARIS AFTER-SIX FASHION

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, August 31 — Paris still considers the printed cotton evening dress the most satisfactory frock for informal wear. French women plan to wear cotton evening dresses and cotton-mixed-with-silk through the autumn months, according to reports given out by important Paris dressmakers.

* * *

PROOF that even the cooler evenings will see cotton as an accepted after-six fashion is the fact that many of the cotton evening dresses designed by Paris right now are shown with velvet trimmings, and under wraps of velvet.

THE MIRANDE dress in the sketch—designed of a light-weight pique, printed inflower design—is among the most popular frocks in Paris. It is made entirely devoid of trimming, and depends on its fitted line as well as its fabric for charm. The neckline is cut square, both at the front and at the back, and the curves at the waistline are sharply marked. The fullness inserted by means of godets, is set in much higher at the back than at the front. The skirt is longer than usually seen in Paris at this time of year.

THE VELVET wrap is suggestive of the most successful type worn this year. Though giving the effect of being extremely short, it really covers the waistline. Paris women, though usually fond of extreme fashions, seem to avoid jackets or wraps, either for day or evening, that do not reach at least to the waistline, and then more popular length, usually reaches the hipbone.

* * *

AUGUST ARERNARD makes this short velvet wrap in ample proportions so that it may drape fully around the shoulders and arms. It is really nothing more than an adroitly cut scarf, rather than a cape, and may be worn in a number of ways.

Latest News of Activities in Busy Lives of Pittsburgh's Club Women

Magazine Gives Program for Convention

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

The first fall issue of "The Pennsylvania Clubwoman," official publication of the State Federation, is always eagerly anticipated, chiefly for the information it contains concerning the annual convention. The magazine went into the mails yesterday and its contents are certainly to stir even the most lethargic club spirit.

All sorts of special events are listed for the Philadelphia convention, such as dinners, luncheons and teas, and this year a special feature has been added. On Saturday (the convention begins Monday, October 10), a trip will be made to Atlantic City, although Friday is to be observed as the usual "play day." Play day's schedule includes a drive through Philadelphia's suburban scenery to Valley Forge, with luncheon at the Philomusian Club upon return of the party. Later in the afternoon there will be a tea at the Art Museum. Also, the Civic Club of Philadelphia has invited representatives of all civic clubs to make a civic tour of the City of Brotherly Love.

Among the outstanding speakers listed for the main sessions of the convention are Dr. Mary McConaghey, psychiatrist for Mt. Holyoke College; the Rev. Dr. William H. Fineshriber, of the Reform Congregation Keneseth Israel, who is the international relations speaker; George Soule, editor and writer, who is to speak on "Economic Citizenship in a Depression;" Mrs. Everett Griscom, mistress of "Briar Bush," the bird sanctuary of Rosslyn; Franklin Spencer Edmonds, vice president of the National Tax Association; Dr. Margery Batchelor, of the Lehigh Valley Congress of Women's Clubs, and Dr. Edwin B. Twitmeyer, of the University of Pennsylvania.

Noted Speakers

Mrs. Franz N. Rupprecht is planning music for all occasions, and the state chorus will be in rehearsal daily at 1:30. The famous Boys' Harmonica Band, under the leadership of Albert E. Hoxie, will be there, too.

Among the departmental speakers will be Kennard L. Wedgwood, of New York and England, who will speak at the art luncheon concerning his ancestor, Josiah.

Dr. Joseph K. Wampler To Speak on Club Hour

Dr. Joseph K. Wampler, a member of the oral hygiene committee, and the emergency dental committee of the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania, will be guest speaker during the regular State Federation of Pennsylvania Women radio hour tomorrow at 3:45 over KDKA. Dr. Wampler's talk will be on the care of baby teeth, especially the 6-year molar.

Selma L. Pettey to Be Married On Sept. 28

Picturesque old Trinity Cathedral in Sixth avenue will be the scene of one of the early autumn weddings, Miss Selma Louise Pettey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Pettey, of Perrysville avenue, has chosen Trinity Cathedral as the setting for her marriage on Wednesday, September 28, to Arthur William Grabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Grabe, of Dormont.

The ceremony will take place at 7:30 o'clock, with Dean Nathaniel Rue High-Moor as officiant.

Miss Lillian Grabe, sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be maid of honor, and Miss Nelda Jackson, Miss Isabelle Baker and Mrs. William K. Meier, the former Charlotte Lutzinger, will be bridesmaids, and small Eleanor Wilson, of Ben Avon, will be flower girl.

Bridal Party

Louis Grabe, of Dormont, will be his brother's best man, and Earl and George Grabe, Jr., brothers of the bridegroom-elect; Frank Lewis, of Dormont, Harry Peterson and Herbert Laughner, of Pittsburgh, will be ushers.

Following the reception, Mr. Grabe and his bride will travel through the South, and visit Havana before returning to be at home in the Weber Apartments, Dormont.

Numerous Affairs Given in Honor Of Mrs. Lesher

This is the season of informal entertaining, mostly for house guests. Mrs. Charles I. Lesher, of Germantown, Pa., who has been visiting Miss Gwendolin Niemann, of South Linden avenue, and Mrs. John C. Peterson, of Portland street, is being extensively feted during her visit. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Peterson gave a party in their home for her and on Sunday night they gave a party in the Pittsburgh Field Club for their guest and Mrs. Peterson gave a luncheon in her home last Wednesday.

Miss Niemann gave a dance and buffet supper at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association for Mrs. Lesher while she was her guest, and a bridge and swimming party at the Field Club Friday. On Thursday Miss Helen Wilson, of Portland street, entertained for Mrs. Lesher in her home. The guest of honor and Miss Niemann and Mrs. Lesher were classmates at Smith College.

Brashear Board Makes Appeal For Clothes

An appeal for clothes and shoes for more than 5,000 South Side school children has been sent out by the women board members of the Brashear Settlement. Every woman in Pittsburgh is asked to make an inventory of her own and her children's clothing and to send what she can to receiving stations, where they will be collected for distribution.

Stations have been established at Utility Hall, Philadelphia Building, and the Brashear Tea Room, opposite South Side Hospital, where the garments will be received for two weeks. More than 300 requests for shoes and stockings have been received at the Settlement.

The women who are appealing for aid for the children are Mrs. Richard B. Perry, Mrs. Nathaniel L. Crow, Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher, Mrs. John S. Sloan, Miss Suzanne Beatty, Miss Emma Hood and Mrs. John M. Phillips.

2,500 Vatican Aides Exempt From Army

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The Pope's cloak of peace will exempt about 2,500 men from service in the Italian army.

The Lateran treaty automatically exempted 600 citizens of Vatican City and it provided that others might receive similar treatment. Now a commission has drafted a list of 1,900 Italian citizens, "indispensable" to the Vatican, and they will not have to serve.

Japanese Diplomat Will Return to U. S.

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Hirosho Saito, counsellor of the London Embassy, will return to the United States to become charge d'affaires in the absence of Ambassador Debuchi, en route home on a furlough.

The transfer was announced today, and simultaneously it became unofficially known Debuchi probably will not return to Washington.

Miss Mary P. Lang Gives Dinner for 11 of Her Student Kinsmen

Although it could by no means be called a club affair, it was given by a club woman—the very delightful dinner at which Miss Mary P. Lang, of the Brighton Women's Club, was hostess last night. At her home in Wynhurst street, North Side, Miss Lang entertained 11 boys, all of whom were either grand-nephews or cousins and all of whom are returning to college or high school shortly.

The guests included William Lang, a senior at Dartmouth; Charles Gies, who goes back to Penn State; George and Louis Blum, twin brothers, who are Pitt juniors this year, and the high school boys, Arthur and Donald Gies, Robert Lang, James Bamby, Howard Blum and Wallace and Edward Murray.

Each boy did a stunt and there was other informal entertainment.

Miss Lang, by the way, is to be busy this winter with club lecture dates, and has already accepted invitations to speak on her life in China before the Bellevue Y. W. C. A. and the Women's Literary Club of Bellevue. She has just returned from Manitoulin Island, Canada, where she was the guest of Attorney and Mrs. Lee Beatty.

Marcosson, Writer, Bequeathed $729,286

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Isaac F. Marcosson, writer, receives $729,286 from the estate of Mrs. Carolyn Prevert, sister of the late David Graham Phillips, novelist, a transfer tax appraisal filed here revealed.

Mrs. Prevert died May 2, 1930. Her will disposes of an estate valued at $863,525 gross and $786,816 net. The testament described Marcosson as a "tried and loyal friend."

Pittsburgh Folk Vacation at Seashore

Late August finds many vacationists at Atlantic City. Among those stopping at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall are Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Herrington, of Craighead street; Mrs. H. S. Davison and daughter, Jean, of Beechwood boulevard; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hirth, of Aylesboro avenue.

Others are Miss Mary Elizabeth Kane, of the Royal York apartments; Mrs. Harry Cronin and sons, Beacon street; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ely, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Scott, Bellevue; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lally and Miss Mary and Miss Susan Haggerty, of Roup street.

Also stopping at the same place are Mrs. D. F. Shannahan and Miss D. Shannahan, Mrs. Ginevra Keating and Miss Clara Keating, of South Graham street; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tracey, of North Negley avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Downing and family, of Jackson street.

Mt. Lebanon Relief Unit To Give Musical Comedy

Under auspices of the United Relief Association of Mt. Lebanon and as a benefit for local relief work, a musical comedy, "Betty Who?" will be given the evenings of September 7, 8 and 9 in the Washington School. The production is being directed by Robert Stevens, of Barnesville, O., who wrote the work. In the cast are 200 young people ranging from grade school to college age.

Mrs. Ralph C. Burt, chairman of the Relief Association, is managing the business end of the benefit.

LUCKY BUCK DAY

NEXT SATURDAY AT

KENNYWOOD AND WEST VIEW PARKS

Holders of Lucky Bucks will not have to go to the park to get their tickets. They will get them in strips IN ADVANCE at Exchange Stations in various neighborhoods throughout the city.

There will be no overcrowding. There will be just enough tickets issued to take care of the normal capacity of each park. When that supply is exhausted there will be no more tickets. It is believed, however, that this supply will be ample to take care of all boys and girls who were disappointed last Friday.

Absolutely No Overcrowding!

Neither one of these big parks intended to open next Saturday, Sunday and Monday (Labor Day) having been announced as closing dates for the season, but they have consented to operate on Saturday just to take care of as many as possible of the boys and girls who did not get many rides last Friday.

Women Make Comebacks As Well as Men

Is a woman who was once a bad one always bad?

Tommy is sure of it, and he is plenty mad at us for telling Joe to forgive his erring wife and trust her again.

"That's a lot of hooey!" says he. And he thinks he has reasons.

Sally! Oh, Sally!—

I've just read Joe's letter about his wife who was cheating on him, and your answer that he should forgive her. I don't know who Joe is, but I do know that your advice is TERRIBLE. A woman who has affairs with other men should not be forgiven or trusted.

Listen! I married when I was a very young man, 22 years old. My wife was the same age. What an angel SHE was—AND WHAT A SAP I WAS! I was a salesman and took trips, never longer than three days at a time, but that was enough for her. I'd only been married three years when I got suspicious of my little lily. Finally I caught her in a lodging house with another man.

It was tears, tears, TEARS. I wouldn't listen to her THEN, but later I forgave her. You know her line, OUR BABY, and so forth.

Well, in about three more years I found that my nice, clean, repenting wife was the sweetheart of about every loafer in town. She got money out of them and spent it, strangely enough, on the house, and figured everything even. She even bought a baby grand piano—for $900 cash! I DIDN'T ASK HER TO LEAVE. I JUST THREW HER OUT.

MARRIED SECOND TIME

Now I am married again, and my present wife is absolutely on the level. How do I know? Well, I own a gasoline station and lunch-bar combined. We work together. We play together. Not that I watch her all the time. I don't. I think I know that we're on the level with each other.

And the tramp I married first? Well, she's gone in for higher education—in various jails—but she doesn't seem to improve.

Why don't you tell Joe the truth, if you know anything about life? A MAN can sink to the lowest depths and make a comeback; but a WOMAN NEVER. Once a bad one, always a bad one. Once loose, always loose. This has never failed. Tell Joe to throw that creature out, or he will be sorry.

TOM.

So? And you think I "don't know anything about life?" Well, Tommy, JUST HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW? You know one little corner of it. You knew, and married, one bad woman, and had a bitter and terrible experience with her. BUT THAT DOESN'T PROVE THAT ALL WOMEN WHO WHO MAKE A MISSTEP ARE LIKE HER, son.

CAN COME BACK

She was no good when you married her, only you didn't happen to know it. She wanted to be a bad one. Joe's wife was a decent woman, who had got off on the wrong foot because all the thrill had gone out of her life, and she was fooled into thinking she could get it back by running around with ONE man. AND WITH HER OWN DESIRE TO SQUARE UP, AND JOE'S HELP, she's going to find that thrill and adventure again—in the right place.

As for your notion that a man can always make a comeback but a woman can't—Hooey! You knew one woman who didn't. I know scores who have.

Anyone can come back who really and honestly wants to. That goes for women as well as men. It's the wanting to that makes the difference.

Your wife was satisfied with what she was doing, so long as she could fool you. Joe's wife wants to be regular; and anybody who honestly wants to be regular is entitled to a chance.

The More Some Persons Have the More They Want, Says Fay King

SHE THINKS HER PLACE OF IMPORTANCE MUST LAST FOREVER
SHE RESENTS THOSE WHO MAY INFRINGE ON HER FAME!
THOSE WHO HAVE KNOWN EXAGGERATED SUCCESS FIND IT HARD TO ADJUST THEMSELVES TO LESS FAY KING

By FAY KING

The majority of us go through life filling our small niche to the best of our ability. We receive little praise, and little criticism.

The day comes when we may retire to that simple comfort and content our careful economies have made possible.

We do not resent the one who takes our place in the ranks and does our work even better than we did.

This is the priceless peace of mind that the few who attain to great places from which they retire with resentment and reluctance seldom know.

The more some of them have the more they want, and when they fall from their places of power and importance they cannot be satisfied with less than the most they had known.

Neglect of First Teeth May Cause Disfigurement

It is claimed by the American Dental Association and indorsed by the medical profession that cleanliness of the teeth plus a wholesome diet, will prevent many of the diseases of childhood as well as the ailments of later life. Arthritis, rheumatism, heart disease, kidney and lung disease, it is believed, may be traced to infected and neglected teeth.

Dr. Copeland

Many of the diseases of adult life could be prevented by proper attention to and care of the teeth during childhood. Unfortunately, most parents believe that the temporary teeth require little attention. This is a false notion. When the temporary teeth are neglected and infection occurs, the permanent teeth will suffer in a similar way.

I cannot say too much about the importance of having every child receive thorough dental examinations. Such an examination, certainly, should be made prior to his return to school. If the teeth require dental care, such as filling cavities, cleaning and straightening, it should be given without delay.

When the temporary teeth have been neglected to such an extent that they are beyond the stage of repair, they should be removed. Extraction of infected temporary teeth will insure the child better general health and a stronger set of permanent teeth.

Too many parents fail to realize the seriousness of dental decay in young children. Though most adults admit the importance of periodic visits to the dentist for the preservation and care of their teeth, they fail to understand that this practice is equally important for the child and young adult.

Here is a thing I want you to remember: Undernourishment, stunted growth, facial disfigurement and many constitutional diseases of children are caused by neglect of the temporary teeth.

Children who have bad teeth may be sufferers in later life from such troublesome disorders as neuritis, poor vision, rheumatism, paralysis, heart disease, kidney disease, indigestion and other disturbances. These changes are caused by the gradual absorption of the poisons that enter the system from germs and dirt located in the mouth.

The future health of your child depends upon the care and attention that the temporary and the first permanent teeth receive. The first of the permanent teeth hold the jaws in shape until the rest of the permanent teeth are cut.

These teeth are frequently referred to as the "keystones of the mouth." They are the most important of the teeth. They usually appear when the child is 6 years of age. On this account they are known as the "6-year molars."

These particular teeth should never be neglected. If a cavity forms and infection occurs the child may lose one of them. When this happens the entire mouth is thrown out of position. The permanent teeth that follow after such a disaster will come in unevenly. In consequence the expression and appearance of the child's face will be altered. Loss of the first permanent teeth encourages infection of the remaining teeth.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Cheers for the makers of cosmetics! One bright mind has created the non-spillable powder box, providing it with protective shoulders that keep it from spreading its precious contents over the make-up kit. Also, it has dawned upon another budding genius to provide the sisterhood with tiny packages of cleansing tissues for the removal of lipstick smears. Much better than using towels and enraging the laundress.

The perfectly formed ankle carries sufficient flesh to upholster the ankle bones. Slenderness is charming but evidences of emaciation are no beauty assets. Thin ankles and spindly shanks can be built up by walking on the toes, by running up stairs, by kicking exercises. Strange though it may seem, the same exercises that take fat from plump calves put adipose cushions on thin ones. Why? Because they bring conditions to normal.

No woman who values her good looks can afford to go on an emotional spree, give way to jealousy, harbor discontentment, have brain flurries about trifles. Emotional outbursts take their toll of physical strength, increasing heart action, chilling the skin, interfering with digestion, producing fatigue bugs. What they do to the face is plenty; they carve in worry lines, dig frowns, destroy the vitality and substance of underlying tissues that keep the skin smooth and make for youthful facial contour.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Balancing the Budget

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My cousin was an usher for a recent wedding and the groom asked all his ushers, or rather told them, that they had to pay $5 for flowers for their partners. I do not think this was correct. Am I right?

2. If there are no tongs when sugar cubes are served, is it correct to use your fingers?

3. When sitting at a table, regardless of dinner, luncheon and so forth, and someone is being presented to you, should you stand up if he is standing? Does it make any difference in sex or age? L.

1. You're right . . . this wasn't good taste and it wasn't according to custom. The groom's attendants shouldn't be "taxed" for the privilege of being his attendants.

The flowers of the bride are provided by the groom. The flowers of the bridal attendants are usually provided by the bride and her parents, for they are planned as part of the costumes of the attendants. Naturally the bride and her mother find it easier and more convenient to send these bouquets, so that they will harmonize with the ensembles of the attendants.

Sometimes the groom asks for the privilege of sending these flowers to the bridal attendants . . . but evidently not this groom! This young man is evidently overwhelmed by so much discussion of "budgets!" So he balanced his own!

2. Yes. Of course, if you wish to be ultra-careful, you may use your teaspoon, but this isn't necessary.

3. If a man is being presented to a woman who is sitting at a table, she does not rise. The only exception might be if the gentleman were so old or so distinguished that she would wish to show him special honor and compliment.

Household Hints

One of the advantages of artificial silk to the thrifty housewife today is the ease and perfection with which it washes, whether in form of knitting or material. Rubbing and scrubbing are unnecessary. All that is needed is to immerse the curtain, garment or whatever you have dirty, in warm water converted into a mass of suds, after shaking it free from dust. Gently kneed the garment with the hands or stir with a wooden spoon. All that remains then is to rinse in water of the same temperature, squeeze as dry as possible between bath towels, shake and hang to dry in moderate temperature.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

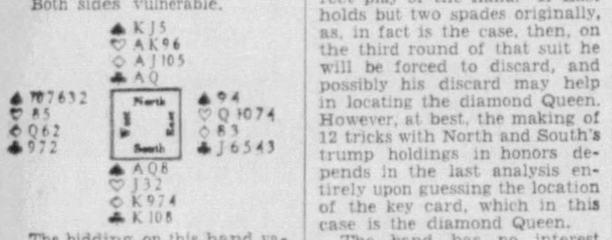
Making the Correct Guess

Usually when a Slam contract has been reached through reasonably correct bidding, one hand or the other has a long suit upon which discards may be forced by the adversaries and thereby some clue to the correct play obtained. However, sometimes hands turn up in which the Opening lead is of no benefit and where the suit lengths are so even that this helpful guide to the correct play is not obtainable.

A Slam hand played in the recent national congress of the American Whist League in Cleveland is a case in point.

South—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding on this hand varied much at the different tables. At one table, where South optimistically opened with a bid of one notrump, North responded with seven notrump, which was played doubled and redoubled and defeated 1 trick. There is no method by which, with South playing the contract at notrump, all 13 tricks may be made against even mediocre defense.

At most tables a contract of six notrump was reached, with South, being vulnerable, passing, and North opening the bidding with two hearts or, in a few cases, with one heart. The making of 12 tricks for the Small Slam contract depends, of course, only upon the guess of the location of the diamond Queen. Sooner or later this finesse must be taken, and in view of the fact that only three tricks may be run in that suit, the probabilities are that this finesse should be taken early.

With South playing the contract, the most probable lead is a spade. Although a short suit opening of the heart is not impossible, the spade opening possibly furnishes a clue to the correct play of the hand. If East holds but two spades originally, as, in fact is the case, then, on the third round of that suit he will be forced to discard, and possibly his discard may help in locating the diamond Queen. However, at best, the making of 12 tricks with North and South's trump holdings in honors depends in the last analysis entirely upon guessing the location of the key card, which in this case is the diamond Queen.

The hand has no interest from the standpoint of play, except as a vivid illustration of the fact that playing-tricks as well as honor-tricks are essential in the making of Slam contracts. Whether this hand is played in a suit or in notrump, it cannot be made unless the diamond Queen is located, as the lack of length in any suit in the North and South hands prevents the development of a squeeze or any type of end-play.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION

♠ 7 3 ♡ 6 2 ◇ A Q 9 ♣ Q J 10 7 5 4

bids two clubs. Is this a proper bid?

Answer—This bid is entirely proper. North holds 2 honor-tricks and has no support for the spade bid, but has a hand which certainly justified a Take-out. The bid of two clubs is eminently correct.

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach, with never a hungry moment. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on fats, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.

Gov. Pinchot On WCAE Tonight

History is being written in radio's annals today as combined networks of NBC and CBS bring to millions of listeners throughout the world vivid word-pictures and scientific explanations of the eclipse of the sun.

Broadcasts from the path of the total eclipse, in New England and Canada, come to listeners here over WCAE, KDKA and WJAS between 4 and 4:45 p. m., with noted astronomers on mountain-tops and ace announcers in airplanes and autogiros at the microphone.

Mr. Shippee

Then, at 9:30 tonight, over WCAE, Robert Shippee and Lieut. George R. Johnson, famed aerial explorers, tell the radio audience how the total eclipse appeared to them flying 23,000 feet above the earth. With the last snap of the camera shutter on the flight for scientific photographs, Shippee rushes back to New York to speak over the WEAF network as special guest in the oil program. Regular features of the concert hour, including Gladys Rice, soprano; the Men About Town, and Nathaniel Shilkret's Orchestra, are heard as usual.

The second episode in the South Sea Island mystery dramatization is broadcast from WCAE tonight at 8:30. Tomorrow night, at 9:15, the concluding installment of the radio version of "Blondie of the Follies," based on the Marion Davies film, is presented from WCAE.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, discusses accident prevention problems during a broadcast over an NBC network, including WCAE tonight at 6:30. His remarks sum up the August activities of national automobile accident prevention societies and outline various steps to conserve lifeand prevent injuries on streets and highways. The Governor speaks from Harrisburg.

Because of this program, the broadcast by the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News is advanced tonight to 6:25.

Program Pointers

Ruth Etting sings another group of the songs which made her famous when she appears as guest artist with Nat Shilkret's Orchestra over WJAS at 10 tonight. Incidentally, a new idea in daily broadcasting will be inaugurated next Tuesday when the "Music That Satisfies" program will be heard at two different hours during the week. This is believed to be the first time a six-day-a-week program has ever been put on a two-time schedule. When it goes into effect, the series starring Miss Etting, the Boswell Sisters and Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, will be heard thereafter at 10 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday, and the same artists will be heard at 9 p. m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Miss Etting

Old-time plantation songs and spirituals again lead as featured numbers in the Corn Cob Pipe program to be heard from the crossroads at 10 tonight over WCAE.

Virginia Rea, featured again tonight in that tire program on WCAE at 9, is kept busy these days trying to answer the thousands of letters she received welcoming her back on the air. The famous "La Paloma" is among her offerings tonight. The Revelers, on the same program, do Frank Black's arrangement of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor."

Last night, A. H. Burchfield, Jr., of the Joseph Horne Company, was heard over KDKA. Today, at 3, A. H. Burchfield, Sr., president of the same institution, is guest of the Home Forum broadcast.

Marjory Stewart and a group of her pupils present the second episode of the serial, "Do Men Prefer Their Wives?" over WWSW at 10.

The Westinghouse Watchmen are heard 'round the the world at 6:30, when their program is sent from KDKA and W8XK.

John H. Aiken, president of the Hoosier Taxpayers' Union, is guest speaker on the American Taxpayers' League program over KDKA at 8.

Olympic Swim Stars With Seals

Lenore Kight and Anna Mae Gorman, Homestead's swimming contributions to the Olympic Games, and their coach, Jack Scarry, appear with the Trained Seals of the sports department of the Sun-Telegraph in their weekly broadcast over WCAE at 6:50 o'clock tonight. They will give their impressions of the colorful games. Hank Gowdy, Boston Braves' coach, and Carl Olsen, Pitt's new track coach, also will speak. Joe Pentek, former swimmer, returns to sing on the program and there will be other features, with Harry Keck, sports editor, back as master of ceremonies.

A review of the political situation in the city, state and nation is presented by Mark Shields, political editor of the Sun-Telegraph, from WCAE tonight at 6.

Charlotte Shallenberger, Richard Koch and Pat Haley are starred during the Nite Club of the Air program from WCAE at 11.

Because of an address by Gov. Gifford Pinchot at 6:30, the broadcast by Louis L. Kaufmann, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, comes to WCAE listeners tonight at 6:25. Tomorrow he resumes his regular schedule, 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

CASH AVAILABLE FOR INDUSTRY REVIVAL HERE

Millions of dollars are available to steel mills and manufacturing plants for rehabilitation and modernization urged by President Hoover's rehabilitation committee headed by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

The banks have money; funds are available through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the industries themselves, through liquidation of their inventories, have ample cash available.

These facts were pointed out today by representative bankers of the district and proponents of the rehabilitation program.

SEEK TO SELL IDEA

The immediate problem, according to these financial and industrial leaders, is to sell the idea on a national scale that prosperous times can be brought back only by industry itself taking the initiative.

E. T. Weir, president of the National Steel Corporation and a member of Robertson's committee, has taken a leading part in the revival of trade, announcing a definite program of modernization and plant improvement for his affiliated companies totaling approximately $1,000,000.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories, it was learned, plan to increase their plant production about 50 per cent.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company is working out plans to join in the modernization and rehabilitation movement, but to what extent in dollars and cents, has not been made known.

PLAN CO-OPERATION

A canvas of Pittsburgh's leading banks revealed a definite inclination on the part of financial interests to co-operate to the fullest extent and several millions of dollars are available for this purpose.

One banker declared that while there was a dearth of mortgage money because of a disinclination of investors to tie up their funds for long terms, there was plenty of cash available for reputable business and industrial concerns, most of which, however, were disinclined to either borrow or spend.

A. E. Braun, president of the Farmers Deposit National Bank, who attended Monday's conference of industrial executives at the Chamber of Commerce, expressed himself in "full accord" with the rehabilitation program.

J. C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, also declared he was in accord with the plan.

WEIR SEES GAIN

Weir, commenting on the apparent desire of other manufacturers to "hang back," cited the history of previous depressions as a reason industry must take the initiative in the present situation, saying:

"Within the past few months there has been a definite improvement all along the line. Sentiment among business heads has improved; the outlook is better than ever before, but it hasn't started business the way it should.

"It looks like they're sitting tight and waiting for the other fellow to do something. They'll never get anywhere that way, they've got to spend."

CONTRACTS LET

The $1,000,000 expenditure of National Steel will go principally into reconstruction and modernization, the major portion, approximately $736,000 to be spent by Weirton Steel Corporation, a subsidiary of the National group. Contracts totaling $300,000 already have been let. Weir said, and the balance of the expenditure will be apportioned within the next 30 to 60 days.

Most of the money will go into labor, Weir revealed, and thus get back into general circulation.

It is the aim of the rehabilitation group to bring a gradual demand for manufactured products in this manner. Every dollar paid out in wages, it is foreseen, will return through purchase of necessities which ultimately, according to the plan, will increase the demand and thus set in motion once again the production system of the nation.

McKeesport Woman Files Divorce Suit

Indignities and cruel and barbarous treatment were alleged in a libel in divorce filed in Common Pleas Court by Anna L. Sommer, of 1614 Fawcett avenue, McKeesport, against Otto F. Sommer, same address. The couple were married March 6, 1902.

Other divorce actions entered were: Bessie L. Brock vs. Robert C. Brock; John J. Streiner vs. Alma T. Streiner; Nellie Totzke vs. Otto Totzke; Joseph Aiello vs. Edith Aiello.

WHAT COMES AFTER DEATH?

A conference is to be held in the City of Pittsburgh on September 1st, 2nd and 3rd, by the United Bible Spiritualist Association of America. This Association was incorporated in the State of Michigan in 1929, by a small body of ministers and laymen from various organizations who believed the time had come when Spiritualism should be taught as a religion and today the organization has thousands of members throughout the country.

MAYFAIR HOTEL
423 Penn Avenue,
Pittsburgh.

We are sure the public will be enlightened on the subject of Life After Death, if they will attend the six Public Sessions in which the subject will be discussed at length.

Rev. Mina L. Nash, President.

PARK TO GET NO RIDING SCHOOL

There are rough and wild riders in South Park, according to Director Paul B. Riis, who suggested that County Commissioners establish a riding academy with the horse renting privilege allotted to an individual. Riis said:

"This would eliminate the fly-by-night riding academies."

But Commissioner Charles G. McGovern vetoed the proposition, saying:

"Anybody who owns a horse should be allowed in the parks. Somebody might be given a concession and locate a long way from the polo field. If you have to ride four miles to get to the field you just won't get there."

BOGUS COINS PASSED HERE

Many counterfeit dimes and quarters are being passed in Pittsburgh and nearby towns, according to operatives of the United States Secret Service. They said that during the past few days spurious coins have been passed on merchants, street cars and in cigaret machines. They are dated "1928" and described as good imitations.

Some of the victims have turned over to the government officers counterfeits they accepted in payment for merchandise and gave descriptions of persons they suspected of passing them.

PINCHOT OPENS STATE RELIEF CONFERENCE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Chairmen of the newly appointed County Emergency Relief Committees, representing each county, were meeting today with Gov. Pinchot to plan distribution of direct and work relief to the state's 1,267,000 jobless.

The committees will function under the State Emergency Relief Board created by the special session of the Legislature and comprising Gov. Pinchot as chairman, Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon, Auditor General Charles A. Waters, State Treasurer Edward Martin and Speaker of the House C. Jay Goodnough, of Cameron.

OUTLINES RULES

The Governor will outline the rules and regulations under which the county committees will function. These regulations, made public by the Governor last week, provide for distribution of relief in the form of food orders and work relief. No money will be given the county committees. The State Treasurer will pay grocers direct when the food orders are presented by the county committees for payment.

All able-bodied men will, if possible, be given as much work per month on a maintenance project as will compensate for relief supplied him and his family. Aid will be given all needy persons who resided in this state one year regardless of their race, nationality, color, religion or politics. No relief will be given any person who has refused to do work which he is able to do.

LOCAL AID NEEDED

Rent, light, heat, fuel and clothing must be supplied by local relief agencies. These agencies or municipalities also must guarantee the money for work relief projects.

An effort is being made to start distribution tomorrow of $1,500,000 of the Talbot relief money, to be provided by the sales tax, so that counties needing relief funds will be able to carry on their work.

This money will be allocated to the counties on the basis of the ratio of their unemployed to the state total of 1,267,606. The sum of $1,500,000 will be allocated for the entire state in September, October, November and March and $2,000,000 in December, January and February, a total of $12,000,000.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern left for Harrisburg by airplane at 10:45 o'clock this morning to attend Gov. Pinchot's relief conference. He took off from Rodgers Field in a plane piloted by Maj. H. R. Bazley, of the County Airport. Senator Frank J. Harris left for the capital last night.

VETERAN GETS WAR MEDAL

The Order of the Purple Heart, a medal for meritorious service during the World War, was received yesterday by Albert Obenauf, Cherry City, Etna, from President Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Obenauf

Obenauf, 40, married, with two children, is a dental laboratory assistant in the Westinghouse Building. He served as first-class private in the 319th Infantry, Medical Detachment. He was struck by three machine gun bullets while in action at Imecourt, France, November 6, 1918.

Obenauf has also received a citation for rescuing a wounded sniper from the Meuse River.

Walsh Announces Police Transfers

Routine transfer of 10 patrolmen was announced today by Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh. The transfers are effective today.

OBITUARY

C. A. Chandler.

Word has been received of the death in Pinehurst, N. C., of C. A. Chandler, at one time prominent in the glass industry here. He was the son of the founder of the Chandler Plate Glass Company, of Charleroi, which was absorbed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and was branch manager for the latter company in Oklahoma and Texas. He leaves a brother, Lee L. Chandler, of this city, efficiency engineer of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Mitchell Funeral.

Funeral services for William Mitchell, 89, who died yesterday at his home, 156 Pearl street, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the T. B. Moreland funeral home, North Highland avenue and Rippey street. Interment will be in Allegheny Cemetery. He was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, and for many years was a member of the Fourth United Presbyterian Church. Besides his widow he leaves a son, David A. Mitchell, and two daughters, Eleanor N. Welsh and Olive E. Mitchell.

WAGNER URGES JOB AID SPEED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Alarmed over the delay in starting construction of public works under the relief act, of which he was an author, Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, has taken the matter directly to the departments involved and to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Wagner said he was anxious to get the public works program under way speedily, as it would employ, directly and indirectly, some 2,000,000 persons. He explained:

"Unless this is done in the next four months, winter will be on us again, with all of its attendant misery. It is ridiculous to say that funds cannot be obtained. Only a few days ago short term obligations were sold by the Treasury at a very small rate of interest. All I have heard from Secretary Mills is that the duty imposed on him by Congress in this matter will be 'pursued diligently.'"

Sharpsburg K. of C. To Present Shows

A three-act comedy, a minstrel show and "The Follies of Sharpsburg" will be presented by the Sharpsburg Knights of Columbus tomorrow and Friday nights at the high school auditorium. Leading roles in the comedy will be taken by Lun Vogel, Al Ferla, Walt Haney, Miss Antoinette Mehrn and Miss Dorothy Weifling and in the minstrel show by Tom Nester, Regas Phelan, James Lynskey, Anthony Shrenk and Tony Fervanti.

FREE PARK BUS LINE VOTED

The majority County Commissioners are going to apply for a Public Service Commission certificate to operate a free bus line from the courthouse to the county parks.

In suggesting the proposition Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said:

"I am willing to vote for a free bus line to force the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company to give reasonable service to the people to and from their parks. Either make the bus company or break them, is my idea."

Commissioner William D. Mansfield voted "No," saying:

"I do not believe that the county should go into the bus business."

County Methodists To Dedicate Camp

The Methodist Episcopal churches of Allegheny County will hold an outing Labor Day at Epworth Woods, Perry highway. The camp will be formally dedicated then by Bishop A. W. Leonard, who recently has been transferred from Buffalo to Pittsburgh. The camp was built for under-privileged children.

Chartiers De Molay Dance on Friday

The fourth annual fall dance of Chartiers Order of De Molay will be held Friday in the Chartiers Heights Country Club. This dance is to be held as a farewell to De Molays leaving for college. Past and present De Molay and Master Masons have been invited. The committee includes William R. Wilcox, Norman D. Aboosh and M. Martin McFeatters.

MURREN KIN OUT OF WARD RACE

Leo Dunn, brother-in-law of George W. Murren, chief of county detectives, today withdrew as a candidate for the court appointment as constable in the First Ward. This leaves six candidates, one of whom will be appointed by Judges George V. Moore and Thomas M. Marshall tomorrow.

Senator Coyne's candidate is City Detective Andrew Maloney. Police Supt. Walsh's candidates are John P. McDonald and P. J. McGuire. The position was made vacant when Walsh's son, Paul, resigned after being convicted of violation of election laws.

Storekeeper Jailed On Dry Act Charge

Charles Vetterly, proprietor of a confectionery at 3064 Auberle avenue, North Versailles Township, was jailed yesterday in default of $1,000 bond on a charge of violating the Snyder act, to await court trial. County detectives raided his place and reported confiscating a jug of moonshine and a small still. Vetterly was committed by Justice of the Peace William Wilkenson, of Turtle Creek.

Etna Trade Board To Be Organized

Organizaation of an Etna Board of Trade will be undertaken at a meeting in the borough at 8 p. m. tomorrow evening. Councilman Roy Morton will be chairman and Burgess Louis Hagmeir, of Aspinwall, will be the principal speaker. Hagmeir, a member of the state Legislaature, will discuss the state sales tax bill, a measure he sponsored in the Legislature.

10 INDICTMENTS LOOM AS COUNTY PROBE ENDS

POLITICS

Reed May Be Utility Probers' Counsel

By MARK SHIELDS

If agreement can be reached, the Senate Utilities Investigating Committee, meeting in Harrisburg tomorrow, will name its counsel to conduct the examination of witnesses. An attorney of the inquisitorial, digging type, also would be expected to direct the work of investigators to be employed, though actually everything will be under the supervision of Senator William S. Rial, the chairman, and other members of the committee.

Mr. Shields

One of the latest of numerous attorneys to be suggested as counsel is Earl Reed, who was employed by the Citizens' Committee in the investigation and grand jury action which led up to the indictment and trial of Mayor Charles H. Kline. Reed is much more nearly the type of lawyer for the job than either George Wharton Pepper or George E. Alter.

According to tentative plans of the committee, open hearings will begin in Harrisburg either September 12 or 26. A program will be mapped next week, and investigators for the committee immediately can begin work. Senator Rial expects to be out of the state on business the week of September 19, which makes the twenty-sixth the more logical date for inaugurating the hearings, as it is known he wishes to run the probe through without a break.

It may be significant that the committee is planning its work in the absence of both W. L. Mellon and State Chairman Edward Martin. It is not conceivable that advice or suggestion from these two eminent Republicans would be shunted aside, but there were reports in Harrisburg at the termination of the special session that the committee felt capable of handling its own affairs, without referring controversial matters, such as the selection of counsel, to the state chairman.

Co-operation From Pinchot Seems Unlikely

One of the things the committee probably will ask is co-operation from Gov. Pinchot in the form of all documents, photostats and records he has bearing on the subject of alleged relations of utilities with any member of the Public Service Commission. It is improbable that co-operation will be rendered.

Through messages and statements the Governor has given the committee numberless leads which he feels it should run down. The group has an appropriation of $100,000 with which to do this. Beyond that the Governor does not feel he should go, for unquestionably Mr. Pinchot is suspicious of the energy of this committee in going to the root of many dubious incidents.

In some quarters there has been a disposition to criticise the Governor for refusing to turn over to the committee such data as he has not yet made public. That criticism is hardly justified. If there is a disposition by the committee to circumscribe its inquiry—and Mr. Pinchot is not alone in his doubts of the committee's intentions—it would find the task easier if it had the Governor's documents. It would know just how far it was imperative to go in order to meet any evidence which might be in the hands of Pinchot.

You can imagine how embarrassing it would be for the committee to get into one phase of the inquiry, reporr that nothing improper was found, and have the Governor come out the next day with documentary evidence that there were improprieties. No one need fear that Mr. Pinchot will conceal anything eventually, and there is no doubt but what the committee, utilities heads and Republican leaders would rest easier if they knew just how much Mr. Pinchot so far has held back.

MRS. MILLER IN DRY DEBATE

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—Prohibition was debated here last night in the high school auditorium by Mrs. J. Carroll Miller, familiar figure in Pittsburgh society and politics, and Cameron Ralston, secretary of the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation.

Mr. Ralston

Ralston contended before an audience of 750 that the anti-prohibition campaign was nothing but propaganda by the wealthy, who wanted to escape heavy taxes. He argued that repeal of prohibition could hardly solve the depression and pointed to Europe, where, he said, conditions were worse.

Mrs. Miller asserted that she wasn't pleading for liquor but for less liquor—temperance. She added:

"Prohibition has driven the saloon into private homes, where young children come into contact with its evil influences."

SHOES, CLOTHES CUT SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

City, County Act to Aid 30,000 Pupils Facing Loss of Study

The patter of 100,000 pairs of feet which should echo from the sidewalks tomorrow as the city's children return to school will be lessened by the absence of the more than 15 per cent of the youngsters whom lack of shoes and proper clothing will keep from classes.

Another year of adventure in the realm of books will have been shortened for the most innocent victims of the depression—15,000 odd of them. Another 15,000 stay-at-homes will swell the absentee ranks when parochial and county schools open, Tuesday, relief leaders estimate.

Ordinarily, 300,000 children would swarm to classrooms in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, Tuesday morning, marking the end of the long vacation.

REMEDY SOUGHT

Hurried efforts were being made today to remedy the situation. S. E. Claney, director of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, was to confer with Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Department of Welfare, tomorrow, to discuss purchase of shoes for city youngsters from the $800,000 recently obtained by sale of city relief bonds.

If money is ear-marked for shoe orders then, the need can be met in the city by Tuesday morning, Miss Eleanor Hansen, director of the Family Welfare Fund, said. But need for clothing can hardly be met before October 1.

The situation in the county is more acute. For weeks the Poor Directors' lack of money has been a drag on relief efforts in city and county. Today, Maj. J. Clyde Miller, chairman, announced the Poor Board was doing everything in its power to get shoes for the children by October 1.

AWAIT PINCHOT ACTION

Actual meeting of the demand, it was learned, depends principally on Gov. Gifford Pinchot's approving a bill passed in the last session of the Legislature authorizing Poor Directors to issue bonds for relief. Even after approval by Pinchot, three weeks must pass before money is available, due to legal advertising requirements.

State aid, it was pointed out, holds no hope—it can only be used for food orders.

The clothing situation holds no promise of being solved right away. Pittsburgh's share of 430,000 yards of cotton from the $3,000,000 in raw cotton purchased by the Federal Farm Board to boost cotton prices, two years ago, is being woven, according to word received by Mrs. F. S. Reed, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Chapter, American Red Cross.

When the cotton will be delivered is not known.

A. K. Oliver, president of the Red Cross and of the Welfare Fund, has mailed letters to churches of the city and county, asking them to organize Red Cross auxiliary sewing circles, in the manner of war-time groups.

COTTON FOR NEEDY

Much of the cotton will be given to them for sewing, it was learned. The balance will be distributed to families to be fashioned into garments.

Pittsburgh's quota is 100,000 yards of prints; 50,000 yards of gingham; the same amount of muslin; 100,000 yards of outing flannel and a like amount of shirting and 30,000 yards of bird's-eye cotton.

Until the woven cotton is delivered, however, thousands of chil-

Mystery Blast Razes Store, Grocer Held

Other W. Homestead Buildings Damaged; Two Men Hurt

Burned about the hands, arms and face, Isadore Green, 50, West Homestead grocer, is held today by police for questioning in connection with a mysterious explosion and fire that shortly before last midnight destroyed his two-story brick grocery and dwelling at 493 West Seventh avenue, damaged two other dwelling and resulted in injury to a volunteer fireman.

Police said Green was arrested several hours after the blast, when he is alleged to have attempted to remove his wife, Helen, and two children from the home of Mrs. Andrew Metzer, of 498 West Seventh avenue. They planned to question him as to how he suffered his burns.

He denied knowledge of the blast.

The blast, of undetermined origin, ripped through the nine-room brick structure housing a grocery on the ground floor and living quarters on the second, showering the vicinity with glass and bricks and hurling the front wall across the street into the dwelling and grocery of John Treshler, of 498 West Seventh avenue.

A large plate glass window in the grocery was blown in, as were windows on the second floor dwelling. Windows in a nearby garage and in the home of Jacob Lauer, were also shattered.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BISHOP, Cal., Aug. 31.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

California always did have one custom that they took serious, but it amused the rest of the U. S. That was in calling everything a "ranch." Everything big enough to spread a double mattress on, is called a "ranch." Well, up here in these mountains where there is lots of fishing at every house you pass they sell fishing worms, and its called a "worm ranch."

Will Rogers

Well, I always did want to own a "ranch," so I am in the market for a good worm ranch. I never was so hot as a cowboy, but I believe I would make a good "worm herder." If I could land our presidents as clients, I could make it sound like England when they sell to the king, "Rogers worm ranch, purveyor to his excellency the president."

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

SEXTON AUDIT HEARING NEARS

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 31.—H. Clay Sexton, Beaver broker, has 10 more days in which to answer the suit of Arthur J. Barnes, Pittsburgh accountant, for $2,416.40. Barnes in his suit, averred he was employed by Sexton to audit an account with Post and Flagg, Pittsburgh brokers. His audit was used at the trial of Sexton, who was acquitted of a charge of fraudulent conversion brought by Mrs. Jean P. Dawson and Mrs. Vye Thompson, society matrons of Patterson Heights.

Later Sexton was tried with Ford Barnes, brother of the plaintiff in the civil action, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud preferred by Dawson and Mrs. Thompson in connection with the assignment of a fee of $4,500. At this joint trial the defendants were found guilty and an appeal is now pending before the Superior Court.

JURY PREPARES PRESENTMENT OF FINDINGS

Questioning of Bowser Closes 3 Months of Investigation

Ten to 12 indictments are expected to be returned tomorrow by the June grand jury, which for three months has been investigating the affairs of Allegheny County and the wholesale delivery of tax receipts to leaders of political factions. It will make its presentment to court and it is expected the indictment will follow later in the day.

Watson Bowser, Kittanning contractor, who is reported to have made huge profits from a $200,000 no-bid contract with the county for hauling at the county airport, was the only witness before the jury yesterday. He spent an hour and a half before the investigators after which the jury began preparing the presentment.

The jury was excused today while attaches of the district attorney's office prepared in legal form the rough presentment.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said there would probably be two separate presentments, one dealing with the findings in the tax receipt case and the other with the county affairs, including the letting of a contract for printing ballots, contracts for work at the airport and conversion of county gasoline for private use.

Although Judge Elder W. Marshall instructed the jury to make the investigation, it is likely that the presentment will be returned before Judge George V. Moore or Thomas M. Marshall, sitting in summer session.

In bringing the investigation to an end, District Attorney Park is doing so without the desired testimony of William Ziefel, former secretary to the Board of County Commissioners.

Farmers Tired Of Exile; They're Coming to Town

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

The nation is just starting to realize that the farmer is a human being.

He has been hidden out in the sticks so long that his breath smells like hickory, the owls elope with his chickens and his house dog gallops with the wolves.

The only time we hear of the farmer is when he is sailing down the Mississippi on the roof of his barn waving the mortgage as a distress signal.

In a way it is his own fault. Every four years he votes for a Congressman who promises to go to Washington and turn things upside down. That's been going on since 1492 and the only time the farmer gets mentioned is when he falls off a haystack.

It may surprise you to know that this is an agricultural nation. That suburban riot in Iowa may be a small thing but don't forget that the apple in Eden was also farm products. And it started plenty.

The government, the banks and the land sharks are all rushing to the aid of the farmer this week. He's howling at the edge of the woods and they're afraid he's coming to town.

OHIO OFFICIALS MOVE PRIEST' RADIO CAR

AKRON, O., Aug. 31.—Two presidential candidates were to meet and shake hands in Massillon this afternoon. One is Father James R. Cox, of Pittsburgh, nominee of the Jobless party; the other is Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, candidate on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

Father Cox is touring the country by motor in the interest of his party. Gen. Coxey is doing his campaigning from the Massillon City Hall.

Says the General:

"Father Cox has courage. I admire him. That jobless parade of his to Washington was great. But he should have been on that tramp of mine."

Then he fell to musing how many decades ago that was.

Last night Father Cox spoke in Glendale Park, in Akron. He censured the two major parties, declaring Republican and Democratic organizations have outlived their usefulness.

Earlier yesterday he spoke in Ravenna and Warren. The Ravenna chief of police, J. C. Goodnough, was on hand to see that the Portage County Commissioners didn't chase the candidate out of the county.

But the commissioners had their way in keeping him from in front of the Courthouse. They prevented his broadcasting car from halting before it, claiming the county had parking rights to that part of the street. The meeting was held in the town's park in the rear.

GIRL, 12, BALKED IN 'RUNAWAY' TO AIR RACES

Twelve-year-old Helen Boyer's desire to see the national air races at Cleveland, prompted her to pack her bag last night and leave her home, 35 West Bellecrest avenue, Brentwood, city detectives said today.

Helen left a note which read:

"Don't worry about me. I'll be back."

Three hours after a description of Helen had been broadcast over the police radio, her father, E. W. Boyer, remembering that his daughter witnessed the races two years ago and had been an aviation enthusiast since, made a hurried visit to every railroad station in the city.

In the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station, Boyer found his daughter waiting for a train. She told her father:

"I wanted to see the air races. I intended to come back as soon as possible."

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The "other woman", Mrs. Julia Cebulski, waited in a court today to testify as a state's witness against Mrs. Dorothy Pollak, 26, accused of slaying her husband, Joe, a reputed alcohol runner.

Mrs. Pollak contends she shot her husband in self defense July 27. They had been quarreling, she said, over his attentions to Mrs. Cebulski and he attacked her with a knife.

Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher, of Criminal Court, is hearing the case without a jury. Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast launched into his indictment of Mrs. Pollak yesterday, saying:

"The state expects to prove that when police arrived on the scene that her hair was in order. There were no signs of violence. Her clothing was not disarranged. There were no signs of struggle."

Mrs. Pollak sat quietly as Mast accused her of a "cold-blooded killing prompted by jealousy."

Frank Cebulski, husband of "the other woman," was the state's first witness yesterday. He said Mrs. Pollak and her cousin, Mrs. Victoria Schwartz, came to his home the afternoon prior to the killing. Mrs. Schwartz was an eye-witness to the death. He said:

"They asked for Joe. I said he was not there. Mrs. Pollak said, 'Every time your wife is out, my husband is out, too. I will get through with him today.'"

W. W. O'Brien, attorney for the defense, said he would show that Pollak considered his wife a slave and that he beat her.

Letters of Slain Teacher Reflect Fear of Husband

MARSHALL, Ill., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Two letters written by Mrs. Marjorie Moor, slain Robinson, Ill., school teacher and clubwoman, indicated, officials said, she had feared for her life.

Her husband, Hubert C. Moor, also a school teacher, has confessed, according to State's Attorney Victor L. Miller, that he shot her August 14 as the culmination of family discord.

One of the letters, addressed to "whom it may concern" and dated last May 5, expressed Mrs. Moor's fear and describing an incident she evidently feared marked a poison plot.

The other letter, written late in July and addressed to her brother, L. L. Wrentmore, of South Bend, Ind., was unfinished, and Mrs. Moor's father, the Rev. A. E. Wrentmore, declined to make its contents public, saying:

"It contains enough evidence itself, though, to send Moor to the electric chair."

The letter made public referred to "H. C. Moor," told of the supposed poison incident, and declared the writer's suspicions were aroused by a "burst of unusual affection." It also detailed an argument concerning the whereabouts of Mrs. Moor's $5,000 insurance policy.

Mrs. Moor wrote she had hidden behind a door "as I often do playfully." Her husband searched the house for her unsuccessfully, then stopped in the doorway of his room. The letter said:

"I looked into the bathroom mirror and saw him working with some object which he held between his two thumbs and forefingers. Then he moved quietly to the cupboard, reached into a lower shelf and turned and closed the door."

KANSAS PARTIES FOR DRY LAW

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Declarations against prohibition repeal were written into the Democratic and Republican state platforms at the meetings of the Kansas party councils here yesterday.

Gov. Harry H. Woodring, nominee for re-election and a supporter of the presidential candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, read the Democratic platform, adopted with this prohibition plank:

"We reaffirm our adherence to the traditional Kansas policy of prohibition. We will oppose all attempts to weaken this law and pledge the strict enforcement of this and all other laws."

MRS. WILLARD STATUE MARRED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—State authorities investigated today the smearing of a statue of the late Frances E. Willard, world known prohibitionist, which stands in the lobby of the state building here. Vandals used black grease to defile the memorial.

Mrs. Willard organized the first Southern California W. C. T. U. unit. She was world president of the organization from 1883 until her death, February 17, 1898.

citement of the declaration by Senator Samuel Salus that, with the approval of William S. Vare, he will demand that the committee frame a platform calling for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Such a declaration would be in line with the petition of the delegates to the Republican national convention, adopted after state leaders had attempted to throttle Joseph N. Mackrell, of Pittsburgh, Morgan Kaufman, of Scranton, and some other unterrified wets who believed that the vote for Senator James J. Davis in the last statewide primary was significant.

It will be recalled that when William H. Coleman was elected county chairman of Allegheny County he amazed his hearers in an acceptance speech by doubting the primary was a test of wet and dry strength. He made what many delegates thought was an exceedingly dry speech. There are others in the state of the same persuasion, and State Chairman Martin himself was on the fence throughout the convention.

In Chicago, it was Philadelphia City Chairman James M. Hazlett who gave orders to the Philadelphia delegates, and through some necromancy shepherded them into the dry camp, despite the orders of Vare. Note now that Salus, who has no especial love for Hazlett, is stepping out with the word of what Philadelphia will do on this subject.

VOTE MACHINE RULE SOUGHT BY HARRIS

State Senator Frank J. Harris will make one more effort to learn more about the distribution of $169,000 in royalties to Attorney Hiram D. Hirsh and three other Pittsburghers who profited from the sale of $1,000,000 of idle vote machines to Allegheny County.

The Senator announced today he had notified his Senate investigation committee to meet in Harrisburg next Wednesday for "a make or break" session.

ASKS NEW RULING

With a full committee present, Harris said he hopes to persuade the committee to reverse its decision that Attorney Hirsh need not tell all the details of this distribution. The investigation was regarded as failure in May when Senators Joseph G. Armstrong and C. W. Parkinson, overruling Harris, agreed that Hirsh need not tell.

Senator Harris said that at this committee meeting it is possible that additional witnesses may be subpenaed and further hearings held. These plans failing, the committee probably will make a report to the commonwealth and disband.

Besides Hirsh, his brother, Frank Hirsh, E. N. Rosenthal and C. G. Brown were reported to have profited from the sale of the machines by the Poole Company of Maryland.

SUIT IS URGED

These are the same machines which Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank yesterday told the County Commissioners would not be fit for the November election because the vehicles need additional changes. Commissioner C. C. McGovern declared:

"We should either junk the machines or sue the bonding company. The people are losing confidence in this whole business."

By letter the commissioners were advised to sue the bonding company by Attorney Charles F. C. Arensberg, counsel for Mrs. J. O. Miller and Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, who are leaders of the League of Women Voters.

TOO MANY PARTIES

But even if the voting machines were perfect they could not be used, in the opinion of Director of Elections John W. Vickerman, who said:

"There will probably be too many parties to use the voting machines. They have already been ruled out in Philadelphia. We have seven parties and if three more are patented before September 9, and they probably will be, it would be impossible to use the machines even if they were mechanically perfect."

Vickerman's views do not jibe with those of Chief Custodian Ray C. Dever, of the Election Bureau, who recently told the commissioners:

"The voting machines as they now stand are good machines. They could be used for voting in this of any election. The only places that they would be cheated would be in controlled districts that would probably cheat the best machine ever made. It takes a man with a set of tools to cheat them."

Drain Water Mains To Oust Tadpoles

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Roxborough housewives, who said they got both water and tiny tadpoles through their water faucets, today asked Water Bureau employes to investigate the possible causes. Water Bureau workmen last night opened every fire plug in the neighborhood, and after an hour succeeded in draining away most of the tadpoles, which some residents declared appeared at the rate of about six to the tumbler.

SLAYER TO AID VICTIM'S KIN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Bernard Beese, grocer, offered aid today to the destitute family of Wallace F. Mitchell, 32, whom he shot and killed Wednesday, according to police, as Mitchell attempted to steal a quart of milk from in front of Beese's grocery. Mrs. Beese said:

"My husband realizes the terrible mistake he made. We have no money and we have been helping the poor and unemployed as best we could. If the Mitchell family is hungry, we have a grocery and we'll give them everything they need."

While neighbors and friends, stirred by the tragedy, offered their help to Mrs. Miriam Mitchell, so that she could keep her family of five little children together, A well-dressed young woman walked into a police station today and thrust a package into the hands of a magistrate. The package contained five suits and a note reading:

"Kindly deliver these clothes to that most unfortunate woman, Mrs. Mitchell."

Mrs. Mitchell is firm in her resolve to resist any efforts to take her children from her.

Crash Sinks Boat, Four Feared Dead

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Four persons were feared to have lost their lives early today when the 500-foot lake baggage freighter Duluth rammed and sank a speedboat four miles southeast of the Jackson Park coast guard station.

The captain of the freight vessel told coast guard officers he heard a woman scream as his ship struck the speedboat.

KILLER OF OHIO OFFICER TO DIE

WARREN, O., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Ralph (Red) Atterholt, 27, of Sharon, Pa., today was found guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Scott Vasbinder, Newton Falls marshal, in a gun battle with a trio of bandits last July 5.

The verdict, reached by a jury of seven men and five women after a deliberation of 10 hours, failed to carry a recommendation of mercy, making a sentence of death in the electric chair mandatory.

Atterholt is the second of the three suspected bandits involved in the shooting to be convicted. Tony Rotunno, 30, also of Sharon, was found guilty of similar charges and also faces the death penalty. The third gunman, Owne Hunter, was killed by police bullets in a gun fight with Warren police later.

MANY SHOELESS PUPILS

dren will be prevented from attending classes.

Another difficulty for the children will be the inability of Scott Township authorities to pay the fares of high school students to nearby Carnegie, Oakdale and other institutions. The township has no high school of its own but had undertaken, until now, to pay its students' fares. There will be no high school for them, this year, unless they pay their own.

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of city schools, said there were approximately 107,000 children expected to enroll tomorrow, and that school work would begin immediately. Nine new schools will be utilized for the first time, including Arsenal Junior High, Prospect, in Mt. Washington, Mifflin, in Lincoln place, additions to Westinghouse High and Larimer school, Munhall, Shaler and Brentwood Highs, and Richland Township. Previously opened were the H. B. Davis, Lincoln Elementary and Knoxville Junior High.

3 SCHOOLS ABANDONED

Three old schools no longer to be used include the Brown School, Brown's Hill, McKee School, next to the old homestead of the song writer, Stephen Foster, and the Ralston School, Fifteenth street and Penn avenue. The three schools were built between the Civil War and 1885.

With less school children killed by automobiles so far this year than in the same period in 1931, C. H. Roth, of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, today urged motorists to avoid accidents with children returning to school. Roth cited lower insurance rates accompanying a low accident rate as one advantage in being careful in the vicinity of schools. In 1932's first seven months, he said, 191 child fatalities were caused by automobiles; in the same period of 1931, the toll was 206.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN MAY BE THINKING ABOUT HER NEW ROLE IN "PAYMENT DEFERRED"

Girl Beats "Typing"

By WALLACE X. RAWLES
International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31.—Sharon Lynne retired from motion pictures in order to be a screen success!

She wanted to beat the Hollywood practice of "typing" a player who scores a hit in a certain variety of roles, and her method was to retire from the screen until her "type" success had been forgotten!

That she succeeded was proved by her engagement in an important dramatic role in "The Big Broadcast" with Bing Crosby, Stuart Erwin, Leila Hyams, Kate Smith, the Boswell Sisters, Burns and Allen, Guy Lombardo, Arthur Tracy and others.

Entering pictures originally as a newspaper screen contest winner, Sharon was musically trained and talented and the author of several published songs. When "musicals" suddenly became a rage this ability brought her success in cinematic musical comedy roles.

A minor part in "Sunny Side Up" on the stage had given her an ambition to become a dramatic actress. She found that her successes in musical comedies had "typed" her. No one would give her a chance to play dramatic parts. It was "sing—or remain idle!"

Determined to escape from the "type" she withdrew from the screen for a year. Money had nearly forced her back into musicals when "The Big Broadcast" opportunity beckoned.

Her re-entry into films came about through work in the Pasadena, Cal., Community Playhouse, carried on while she studied every phase of dramatics under expert coaches. She made a hit in the theaters production of an eastern stage success, "I Love an Actress," and a movie casting director saw her in the play and engaged her for a film dramatic role.

'Igloo' Camera Man Makes Ready for Trip Into Far North

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31.

He is Ewing Scott, the former camera man who took his own expedition into the Arctic Circle to make "Igloo," an Eskimo film.

Chee-ak

Scott, who was promoted to the ranks of assistant directors for his work of the Eskimos in organizing a new jaunt into sub-zero weather.

Some time in September, depending on how soon he gets his investment out of "Igloo," he will leave for Alaska again. This time his destination will be the peninsula where some of the largest live volcanoes in the world smoke amid ice and snow.

His new picture will be called "Hell Crater." It is an original story by the exploring director, founded on the life of a romantic character up there known as the "Padre of the Glaciers."

Ewing Scott is familiar with the North and its denizens from his expedition for "Igloo" and from his previous journey into the far north with F. W. Murnau.

CHEE-AK IS ESKIMO

Chee-ak, the hero of "Igloo," Scott announces to contradict all rumors, is not half-Jewish, but is full-blooded Eskimo. His full Eskimo name is Ach-Nach-Cheeak. The legend of his Semetic ancestry began as a publicity gag when the youth adopted the name of Ray Wise out of admiration for Bill Wise, a San Francisco real estate man.

Bill Wise knew Chee-ak as a child in his Eskimo village north of Point Barrow. He was at that time a young man up there on a gold strike.

Chee-ak is the Clark Gable of the little village he revisited when he returned with Ewing Scott after several years in Hollywood. He came out of Alaska with the Murnau company.

A Swiss extra woman, who works as a maid between pictures, was playing in the Italian retreat scenes for "Farewll to Arms." She was ordered to throw herself face down in the mud with some soldiers when enemy planes bombed the fugitive army.

In dropping, her arm touched the face of another extra lying in the mud who looked at her and said, "was muchst du?"

It was her former employer, a few months ago a millionaire. The crash had wiped him out. He was playing extra.

Hollywood cosmeticians decree that mask-type of makeup is going out. Also, the violent hues in nail enamel. Likewise the yellow and dark-tan sun tones among face powders.

The extras and woman workers in Hollywood spend more than the stars for cosmetics. Upwards of $1,000,000 a year is spent by screen women for beauty.

Norma Talmadge

Cupid lips have waned and the large, natural mouth is comme il faut.

Woman music lovers at the Hollywood Bowl were astir over George Brent's appearance with Ruth Chatterton. The film colony turned out for the bizarre Fernandez Ballet to Ravelp's "Bolero" . . . Howard Hughes enters the Del Monte Golf tournament next week. . . . Mrs. Stan Laurel flies east to meet Laurel and Hardy, in on the S. S. Paris. . . . At the conclusion of World Wide Pictures' novel preview of "The Last Mile" in the county jail, Sheriff Traeger invited the scribes to tour the jail. There were no takers. . . . TEACHER RAPS SPICY STORIES

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Teachers who read "snappy" magazines and books were criticized by Miss Myra M. Heffen, of Charleston, W. Va., state director of rural education and president of the West Virginia Education Association, in a talk before the Hamilton County Teachers' Institute yesterday. She said:

"Frequently, I notice teachers reading magazines and books regarded as 'snappy.' How can these teachers expect their pupils to have a love of good literature? We ourselves must develop an aesthetic sense before we can bring to our pupils the good, the true and the beautiful."

BITS OF LIFE

'Snake' Butler

I GUESS all of you have read, some time or other, of a sucker who has bought the Brooklyn Bridge. Peculiarly enough, though this still happens with monotonous regularity, a great many people believe it to be just another newspaper story, thereby casting a skeptic reflection on what the confidence brethren consider to be the high spot of their art.

When a con man has sold the Brooklyn Bridge once he is considered to have reached the top of his profession. A guy who can sell it twice is automatically given exclusive selling rights to the Hoover Dam and Yellowstone Park. But a guy who can sell it three times! Well, there is only one man who has done that and I want to introduce you to him right here and now.

"Snake" Butler, ladies and gentlemen. America's greatest con man, to whom may also be attributed the sale of Auburn Prison and the hot dog concession for the Stock Exchange, not to mention such minor transactions as the rental of the White House and the dirigible mooring rights to the Empire State building.

Don't run away with the idea that "Snake's" rise to fame has been an easy one. No sir! As he himself will tell you, he has had to work hard for his position.

Starting as a member of a circus pickpocket gang, "Snake" rose slowly from the ranks until, eventually, he became boss of the gang and owner of the concession. But "Snake" dreamt of bigger things and a few years later we find him part owner of the "Big Time Carnival" which, as "Snake" will proudly tell you, was built on that grand old American principle, "Never give a sucker a break." A little later, he played his partner a game of poker for his share of the carnival and, through dint of skill, not to mention a couple of spare aces he held up his sleeve, became sole owner of the outfit.

About this time, the wheat fields of Kansas were being laid low with a plague of mealy bugs and "Snake" promptly shifted his hunting ground and advertised in every Kansas paper a certain method of exterminating the bugs. Prominently displayed in each announcement was the guarantee that the Butler Exterminating Company would pay ten thousand dollars if their remedy, properly applied, failed to kill the mealy bug. Just how the exterminator worked was not explained, but thousands of Kansas farmers sent in their dollars for the advertised miracle worker.

In return for their dollar, they received two blocks of wood marked A and B respectively with the following instructions: "Lay the mealy bug on the Block A and bring Block B down with sufficient force to squash the bug. If, after following these simple instructions, you fail to kill the bug, we hereby guarantee to pay you the sum of ten thousand dollars."

Maybe, by this time, you will have come to the conclusion that "Snake" is a crook. But in giving him this classification, you are doing an injustice to the average criminal. For even the worst thief generally has a heart somewhere, whereas, if "Snake" ever possessed such an organ, it must have been excised along with his appendix at an early age. In spite of this, however, I never miss chatting with him whenever I catch him in this city.

The other night, I chanced on him and, between drinks, I ventured a question.

"Tell me, Snake," I asked, "Have you ever done an honest day's work?"

"Snake" looked at me with a pained expression on his face. And when I tell you that "Snake's" pained expression has kept him out of jail during the last 20 odd years, you'll realize what a work of art it is. It is the sort of expression that mutely says: "How could you suggest such a thing?" and is reputed even to have brought cops to tears.

The pained expression passed and he became retrospective.

"Didn't I ever tell you about the time I was in the tire business?" he asked, and before I could reply "Snake" launched into his story.

"It was in 1915. It was in the stock selling business when another guy in the same racket sold me a company he had just formed. The company was called the Speedwell Tire Company, and I think I bought it, books and stock, for 10 bucks and a bottle of rye.

"Just what I was going to do with it, I had no idea—but I felt that you couldn't go wrong on 10 bucks for a half million dollar corporation. A few months later someone told me that, what with the war that was goon over in Europe, tires was getting scarce in this country, so I figured the time ripe for a flotation of the 'Speedwell Tire Company.' I didn't figure it as being any great shakes, so I just had a prospectus printed up with a couple of pictures of our Malay rubber plantation and a photograph of Abraham Lincoln."

"Abraham Lincoln?" I said. "What had he to do with a rubber company?"

"Aw, nothing," replied "Snake," "but I always used his photo on a prospectus. I had a swell slogan I used under the picture. It went something like this—'Honest Abe . . . our company's inspiration.'

"Well," continued 'Snake,' "considering that we had nothing but a prospectus and a hole-in-the-corner office, the issue went over well, and I felt that maybe it was worth plugging in a bigger way. So I took a three-month option on a piece of waste ground outside of Detroit and had it photographed. Then we painted in the photograph a sign reading: 'Site for the Speedwell Tire Company Factory' and issued a new prospectus containing a photo of the company's factory site and a whole page of pictures of our Malay plantations."

"And they fell for it?" I asked.

"Like a ton of bricks," he replied. "By this time we'd sold half our stock and I knew we'd have to make a new move if we wanted to get rid of the rest. So I gets a small independent tire company to make a thousand tires and stamp them 'Speedwell.' Then I selects 20 good towns and put the tires in the windows of local tire dealers.

"Well, I was out on the road with a bunch of boys cleaning out each town where we had a tire display when the office wires me to come back to headquarters immediately. When I arrives, there's a stack of mail that reached the ceiling on my office desk and what do you think it contains?"

I shook my head and waited for "Snake" to continue.

"Orders," he said, "for nearly a hundred thousand dollars' worth of Speedwell Tires!"

"And did you start manufacturing?" I asked.

"Sure we did," he retorted. "The Speedwell Tire Company made over a million dollars' worth of tires in the next two years."

"And the shareholders really made some money out of their investment?" I said innocently.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, Mark," he returned dubiously, "I wouldn't go as far as that. You know, with the overhead and the salary of the management, it was pretty difficult to pay dividends. You know, Mark."

I nodded.

"Yes," I replied. "I know." . . .

'Black Moon' Filmed

"Black Moon" is a novel by Clements Ripley, well known for his tales of West Indian life.

Beginning in New York's topmost social circles, the story sweeps to the mysterious Black Empire of Hayti, described in W. B. Seabrook's book "Black Moon," and there the fascinating blonde woman who had shone brilliantly in Manhattan society, is revealed dramatically to be the white priestess of a wierd voodoo cult.

Two Players Added To 'Hot Saturday'

William Collier, Sr., and Stanley Smith today were added to the cast of "Hot Saturday," the film which went into production last week at the Paramount Hollywood studios under direction of William A. Seiter. The two players join a cast headed by Nancy Carroll, Cary Grant, Randolph Scott, Edward Woods, Lillian Bond and Andy Devine. Stanley Smith is remembered for his roles opposite Nancy Carroll in "Sweetie" and "Honey," and as Clara Bow's leading man in "Love Among the Millionaires."

Robert Warwick Acts Father Role

Robert Warwick has been engaged by Columbia Pictures to play the father of Dorothy Jordan, who has the feminine lead opposite Richard Cromwell in "That's My Boy." This story, adapted from Francis Wallace's novel, portrays the temptations and tribulations which befall a national football hero, as seen through the eyes of his mother and childhood sweetheart. Mae Marsh plays the mother.

Startled

LaCava Will Direct "Phantom Fame"

Gregory LaCava will direct Radio Pictures' "Phantom Fame," based on the colorful life of the late Harry Reichenbach, press agent supreme. It was LaCava who chose Dorothy Wilson, a studio stenographer, for the featured lead in "The Age of Consent." Lee Tracy was recently signed for a principal role in "Phantom Fame" together with Lupe Velez.

Dickie Shuns Film Rules

Rules mean nothing to one Hollywood actor. Signs admonishing silence on the stages where Josef von Sternberg is directing Marlene Dietrich in "Blonde Venus" are unheeded by Dickie Moore.

Because he is only 6 years old and likes to express his exuberant spirit in song, laughter and just plain noise, Dickie makes all the racket he wants between scenes and gets away with it.

Dickie is playing Miss Dietrich's son in the picture, portraying a healthy, normal child. Due to the fact that he must appear natural in the scenes, Von Sternberg permits him the utmost freedom at all times.

Marshall Returns to London Stage

Herbert Marshall, Paramount's new leading man, will be forced to return to London next month to appear on the stage. His theatrical contract, signed before he joined Paramount to play opposite Marlene Dietrich in "Blonde Venus" and in Ernst Lubitsch's "The Honest Finder," requires him to remain in Europe until next May. In London he will appear either in "Reunion in Vienna" or "Another Language." Marshall will be accompanied by his wife, Edna Best.

George M. Cohan Has Unusual Diet

George M. Cohan, now playing the title role of Paramount's "The Phantom President," adheres to an unusual diet. He believes in hearty eating only after working hours. For breakfast he has coffee and a roll; luncheon consists of a glass of milk and two doughnuts; in mid-afternoon he eats a half-pint of chocolate ice cream. But dinner is a feast!

FIRST SERIES WON BY BUCS IN MONTH

WHEN BILL SWIFT copped the second half of yesterday's double-header to make it four wins in a row for the revived Pirates, he broke a long losing streak of his own as well as one for the local club. It was Swift's first victory in six weeks, or since July 19, when he beat the Phillies, 5 to 2. In the meantime he lost five games and was lifted from three others. Bill's win yesterday, giving the Bucs the first three tilts in the four-game set with Boston, also clinched the first series captured by the Gibsons since they took six out of seven in New York in late July. Since that time, counting three one-game engagements with the Reds and Cubs, the Rovers had lost eight series out of nine and got only an even break in the other.

Bill Swift

Meanwhile, those Cubs keep up their dizzy pace. The Bruins' eleventh straight victory yesterday set a new major league record for the season, the Yankees having set the previous high mark at 10. That makes 14 games won by the Cubs out of 15 played in their present home stand against the East, and 21 won out of 26 played under Charley Grimm. The change in managers has brought a lot of money into the coffers of the Cub owners. The 15 home games have drawn 350,000 fans, counting 66,000 women and kids admitted free on special days.

THE BOSTON BRAVES, making their farewell appearance here today, are sure of one title this year. That is the championship for extra innings. Bill McKechnie's men have participated in 17 extended contests and 69 overtime innings, or almost eight complete games.

Four of Boston's drawn-out games went 10 innings: two, 11 innings; three, 12 innings; three, 13 innings; three, 14 innings; one, 15 innings, and one, 19 innings. In four out of five straight games at one stage of the present trip they played 19, 15, 10 and 14 rounds.

THE PIRATES HAVE been mixed up in three of the Braves' overtime games. The locals won two of those tussles in 10 and 11 innings, and lost the other in 13 frames.

Marathon ball games are typical of Boston clubs. It was the Braves who played a 26-inning 1-to-1 tie with Brooklyn on May 1, 1920, the longest game of all time in any major league, and it was the Red Sox who lost to the A's, 4 to 1, on September 1, 1906, in 24 innings, the longest game on record in the American League.

TAKING TIME OUT to spike some of the numerous rumors that have been circulated about the Giants, Charles A. Stoneham, president and controlling stockholder, pronounces absolutely untrue the story that he had made an offer to Branch Rickey to become executive adviser and chief scout of the club. He hasn't talked with Rickey since early in the year when Branch called him up and offered to sell Pitcher Flint Rhem. Stoneham also denies that the Cards ever offered to trade Frisch, Collins and Martin for Terry, Lindstrom and Vergez, and says he wouldn't consider such a trade anyhow, as he has no intention of parting with the three Giant players named. "And Terry will manage the Giants as long as I am the controlling owner," he concludes, "and my stock is not for sale."

Forrest Jensen

AMONG THE PIRATE farmhands standing out in the minors is Outfielder Forrest Jensen, who has been doing brilliant work to help Al Mamaux's Newark club keep up its drive for the International League pennant, first as a substitute for Dixie Walker and next for Jess Hill.

Newark fans went into mourning when Walker was injured, but Jensen stepped into the center-field breach and actually surpassed Dixie, displacing him as the club's leading hitter, with an average above .350. Now the optioned Pirate is filling in for Hill in left field and doing another excellent job.

THE OTHER DAY at the Yankee Stadium, Chris Dalton, an Olympic official, timed Ben Chapman, Yank outfielder, in 3 3-5 seconds for a bunt and dash to first. They said it must be a record.

But it isn't. In a Pirate-Red field day at Cincinnati on October 12, 1910, Hans Lobert and Ward Miller, both former Bucs though then with the Reds, tied at 3 2-5 seconds in a bunt-and-run-to-first contest and divided the prize money. In that same meet Sheldon Lejeune established the world long-distance throwing record of 426 feet 2½ inches, which still stands.

IN THE TEARING down of Olympic Village at Los Angeles, one of the little cottages in which the athletes were quartered has been purchased by Jean Hersholt, the actor, who largely financed the Danish team in the big games. He is sending it to Copenhagen. There it will be decorated with pictures of athletes and scenes from the Olympic Games. It will go on exhibition, and the proceeds will be used to help defray the expenses of the next Danish Olympic team in 1936. Japan has bought two of the little houses, which are being sold for $140 unfurnished and $215 furnished; three have been shipped to Honolulu, and Dr. Carl Diem, leader of the Berlin Games for 1936, also purchased one.

WHETHER ERNIE SCHAAF'S puzzling slump in recent fights meant a washed-up state or merely a temporary off spell ought to be made clear in his bout at Chicago tonight with Max Baer.

Baer is a much improved fighter since their first meeting, and looks good enough to make Schaaf bring out his best to win. If not up to his old mark, Ernie may have trouble escaping a defeat, but most ring followers find it hard to believe that so good a prospect could peter out so quickly and they look for tonight's test to show that he is back on the up grade.

AN ANNUAL FOOTBALL game that has ranked with the most popular and interesting in the college world, and that has come to be looked upon as one of the yearly battles having a bearing on the national championship, will cease to be part of the schedule after next year.

Jess Harper

It is learned that Notre Dame and Northwestern will discontinue gridiron relations at the close of the 1933 season. They have met 12 times, the count being nine victories for Notre Dame, one for Northwestern and two scoreless ties. Northwestern's only win came on a safety, 2 to 0, in 1901. In last year's game neither side scored.

INABILITY TO AGREE on the starting point of a new home-and-home arrangement was the cause of the split. The present contract has two seasons to run, Northwestern playing in South Bend this fall and Notre Dame going to Evanston next year. Playing most of its games at home in 1933, Northwestern will have to play the majority of them abroad in 1934. To give the home patrons at least one good attraction in 1934, the Illinois school wanted Notre Dame to start a new contract there that season, which would have meant playing in Evanston two years in succession. Jess Harper reported that Notre Dame must decline, as South Bend patrons had their rights, too, and the two institutions finally decided to discontinue the series. Wisconsin will take Northwestern's place on the Notre Dame schedule under a long-term agreement. Northwestern will rearrange its slate so that its final game of the season, starting in 1933, will be with Michigan, the latter discontinuing its old practice of meeting Minnesota in the closing contest each fall.

SCHULTZ GAINS EDGE OVER ESPINOSA

ST. PAUL, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Olin Dutra, tournament medalist from Long Beach, Cal., shot a brilliant 33 on his outward nine today to draw away to a commanding 4 up lead over George Smith, Chicago, in their first round 36-hole match in the national professional golf championship. The cards:

Par, out	4	4	5	3	4	3	5	4	4—36
Dutra, out	4	4	4	3	4	3	4	4	4—33
George Smith, out	4	4	5	4	4	3	5	4	4—37

Horton Smith, Chicago, another title favorite, had a one-hole margin over Reggie Myles, of Ashland, O. Horton missed a four-foot putt to lose the ninth, but made the turn in 35, one under par. The cards:

Horton Smith, out	5	4	4	3	3	3	5	4	5—35
Myles, out	4	4	5	3	5	3	5	4	4—37

ABE ESPINOSA TRAILS

Eddie Schultz, of Troy, N. Y., led Abe Espinosa, Chicago, by a hole at nine. Espinosa and his dollar-and-a-half putter won the first with a one-putt birdie 3, but Schultz captured the next two and held him even with halves to the turn.

Walter Hagen was behind time at the starting tee and behind John Golden, of Noroton, Conn., at two holes. Golden pumped in a 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first and held his advantage at the second where both were short and needed 5s.

Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., turned in a hot round of 34 out to boom to a 3 up lead over Neil McIntyre, of Indianapolis.

Charles Lacey, Great Neck, L. I., held a three up lead over Henry Pickard, Charleston, S. C., at the turn. Lacey's medal read 37, Pickard took 40 strokes.

DUDLEY, TURNESA EVEN

Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, and Joe Turnesa, of New York City, were all square at the turn. Both had par 36's.

Gunnar Nelson, the Rockford, Ill., professional, was two up on Al Collins, Kansas City, after nine holes of play.

Four Horses Saved From Stable Blaze

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Four thoroughbred horses were rescued by employes when fire destroyed a large stock barn on the farm of Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia turfman, near here last night.

The loss was estimated at $50,000. Only two broodmares and their foals were in the barn at the time. Defective wiring was believed to have caused the fire.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON: THE COSTLIEST VASE IN HISTORY—This Chinese vase, standing about four feet high in the porcelain collection of the famous Johanneum Museum in Dresden, Saxony, was purchased by the luxury-loving August II, Elector of Saxony and King of Poland, from the eccentric Frederick William I, King of Prussia, in 1717. The Prussian King, who had a strange weakness for very tall soldiers, exacted and obtained 400 tall dragoons as the purchase price for his vase. The buyer equipped and delivered to the seller 400 of the tallest soldiers he could find in his entire realm. After he obtained possession of the vase the 400 men were incorporated in the Prussian Army and they perished in the numerous Prussian wars of the Eighteenth century. The vase itself, which I viewed during my stay in Dresden, still grimly reminds a visitor that in the "good old days" subjects could be traded in like so much cattle, by their "benevolent" rulers.

THOMAS, BOOK PLAY TODAY

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

CITY LEAGUE

COUNTY LEAGUE

CENTRAL PITTSBURGH LEAGUE

GREATER PITTSBURGH LEAGUE

Springdale at Iroquois, Verona at Whitaker.

City Section

NORTH-SOUTH LEAGUE

JUNIOR LEAGUE

L. P. Kings at Brookline.

The big game of the City League is scheduled this evening at Greenlee Field, when the J. L. Thomas and Book nines clash in the deciding battle for the League second-half championship.

Book, as first-half titleholder, naturally is interested in winning this game, thus preventing a post-season game.

The pitcher that will be for the Thomas team is a matter of doubt, unless Kennedy depends upon Leo Carroll. Reliance vested in Foster and that might indicate that Carroll will get the assignment.

Just who Heinie Boll will use for Books also will be decided just before game time.

Homewood got away to an early lead over the North Siders in their City League game at Homewood last evening, and defeated Art Rooney's nine, 9 to 8. Dormont had quite a tussle eeking out a 1-0 victory over the Immaculate Heart team. The Soho McKnights won two games last evening, defeating the Klabans, 5 to 0, and the Pittsburgh Scholastics, 2 to 0. The Murs were walloped by the Iroquois nine, 7 to 1, in a Greater Pittsburgh League game.

FAIR RACERS HURT

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Three drivers in the State Fair auto races were injured yesterday when one machine threw a tire, collided with two others, and all of them crashed through the fence on a turn. The drivers involved were Dick Frost, Terre Haute, Ind.; M. H. Tatterton, Chicago, and Tony Gongellerie, Milwaukee. Doctors said their injuries were slight. One spectator also was slightly hurt.

LOCAL PAIR BEATEN

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 31.—Edward Clarke and Duane Littel, Geneva College stars, defeated Robert Grier and Ralph Bald, Pittsburgh netters, in the final for the Beaver Falls doubles championship yesterday, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Clarke won over his teammate, Littell, 6-4, 6-4, for the singles title.

DOUBLES TEAMS ADVANCE

Don Dixon and Henry Ackerman and Harry Wald and his partner, Robert Booth, were the victors in the fourth round of the doubles tennis tournament being played at South County Park this week. They advanced another step toward the title this morning when Dixon and Ackerman defeated H. and K. Ritnour, 6-2, 6-2, while Wald and Booth defeated Heckler and Schuette. The summary:

Second round—Arthur Graham and B. Yellig defeated J. B. Sarkin and Ed J. Bernath, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3; Jim Crawford and Jim Blocum defeated C. Oettinger and J. Lubick, 6-0, 6-1; J. Sailes and R. Bish won from L. J. Turney and L. H. Hermin by default; E. Dugan and Gullison defeated C. W. Hatch and J. M. Biscon, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Third round—Harry Wald and R. Booth defeated J. and Ed Rieland, by default; Don Dixon and Henry Ackerman defeated O. Spirer and Weisberger, by default; James Sailes and D. Bish defeated Dugan and Cullison, 6-2, 6-4.

Fourth round—Don Dixon and Henry Ackerman defeated H. and K. Ritnour, 6-2, 6-2; Harry Wald and Booth defeated Heckler and Schuette, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

BOSTON PLAYER SUFFERS LEG INJURY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Fritz Knothe, thirdbaseman of the Boston Braves, who injured his right leg while trying to steal second in the last game of yesterday's doubleheader of the Pirates and Braves at Forbes Field, today was said to be out of action for the remainder of the season. An X-ray picture made of Knothe's leg disclosed a double sprain and a chipped bone, but no fracture. The accident, however, is serious enough to end his career for the remainder of the year.

Knothe was taken to St. John's Hospital, Woods Run, shortly after Pirate physicians had given the athlete first aid at Forbes Field. The attending physicians stated today that the injured player would be unable to accompany the Braves when they leave Pittsburgh tonight.

THIRD BRAVE CASUALTY

Knothe's misfortune is the third big piece of ill luck which has befallen the Braves in the past three weeks. Outfielder Bob Worthington broke one of his legs while playing against the Pirates in Boston and later Catcher Pinkey Hargrave was lost to the club through a similar accident.

The same Braves and Pirates, who only three short weeks ago, in Boston, were fighting for first-place possession, will stage their last Pittsburgh clash of the season this afternoon at Forbes Field. In those short weeks, the Cubs of Charley Grimm persuasion have stolen the baseball show to such an extent that the tribes of Gibson and McKechnie, especially the latter, have fallen from their pedestals.

The Buccaneers, nevertheless, show signs of a September revival. July was more than kind to the Pirates, but August was more than cruel, until the past few days. The Buccos now own four victories in succession and they look upon the closing month of the race with bright hopes.

BUCS WIN TWIN BILL

By winning both games of a doubleheader with the Braves yesterday, the Pirates only could gain a half step on the rampaging Bears, who have won 11 in succession. It seems as if the Bruins can go out and do just the thing necessary to win. Their pace has been so dizzy that the Buccos, despite their four running triumphs, are still seven and one-half games in arrears.

Leon Chagnon and Huck Betts, a pair of righthanders, may fight it out on Fogarty Knoll this afternoon. Floyd Vaughan, Pirate shortstop, who has been resting his injured left leg may rest another day or two. Meantime Tommy Thevenow is playing like a champion in the shortfield.

COME FROM BEHIND

The Buccos fought hard yesterday in taking both ends of the bargain bill with the Tribe. They staged a five-run spurt in the eighth round to win the early fight and also came from behind in the nightcap. The scores were 10-7 and 3-2.

Heinie Meine and Bobby Brown, the starting pitchers in the first clash, were both knocked off the mound. Bill Harris went to the rescue of Meine and received credit for the victory. Manager Bill McKechnie and Catcher Al Spohrer, of the Braves, were both ejected from the field in the opener for their actions towards Umpire Bill Klem.

Bill Swift scored over Tom Zachary and Fred Frankhouse to cop the twilight affair for the

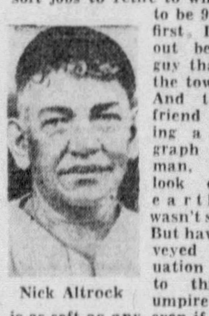
Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Folks, I've been thinking over soft jobs to retire to when I get to be 90 and at first I doped out being the guy that winds the town clock. And then a friend said being a seismograph watchman, on the look out for earthquakes, wasn't so tough. But having surveyed the situation I begin to think an umpire's berth is as soft as any, even if it's only an upper.



Nick Altrock

Did you ever figure how few hours a day an umpire has to put in? And half his working hours he's only standing back of second base with his arms folded, thinking of whether it'll be corned beef and cabbage or pig's knuckles for supper.

Nope, an umpire's work could not be softer unless they gave him a camp chair to sit in and a hassock to rest his feet.

DUQUESNE SWIMMER SECOND IN TORONTO MARATHON

SPONDOR SETS PACE AFTER FIVE MILES

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—One hundred and ninety-one entrants in the Canadian National Exhibiton 15-mile marathon swim plunged into the warm waters of Lake Ontario at 11.05 a. m. (eastern daylight time) today.

The temperature of the water was 63 degrees at the start, warm for Lake Ontario, and a hot sun beating down promised ideal conditions for the entire day.

An estimated crowd of 50,000 persons lined the shores as the grease-covered swimmers plunged into the water.

At the end of the first leg, about three-quarters of a mile from the start, Jack May, or Honolulu, who turned professional to enter the swim, was leading the pack.

YOUNG OUT TO REPEAT

Steve Machusky, of Minersville, Pa., forfeited his chances of winning to go to the rescue of Robert King, of Walkersville, Ont., another contestant, who was seized with cramps.

Young was fourth at the end of the first lap, and was followed in order by Nelson, Eli Radakovitch, Duquesne, Pa.; Gianni Gambi, Toronto, and Marvin Hansen, of New York.

MANY QUIT GRIND

As the leaders passed the two-mile mark the lifeguards were kept busy dragging swimmers from the water.

May continued in the lead at the two-mile mark, about 100 yards ahead of Spondor and Hawkins. Young had pulled into fouth place.

Spondor was still leading as the second lap was completed, almost five miles from the starting point. He was 25 yards ahead of Eli Radakocitch of Duquesne, Pa., who was followed in close order by Gambi, Young, Nelson, George Blagden, Memphis, Tenn.; Hawkins, Bill Goll, New York; Alf Sully, of Toronto, and Marvin Hansen, New York.

More withdrawals included Andrew A. Bonyak, Butler, Pa.

Braves' Star Incapacitated

KNOTHE, OF BOSTON CLUB, BEING CARRIED FROM FIELD AFTER SUFFERING A LEG INJURY

Bill McKechnie's Boston Braves suffered their fourth loss of a player through leg injuries yesterday when Fritz Knothe went down in a heap trying to steal second base. He will be out for the season. Art Shires, Bill Hargrave and Red Worthington are the other Boston casualties. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

BAER BATTLES ERNIE SCHAAF

By WILLIAM L. COLLINS
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Max Baer, 206 pounds of California sunshine, and Ernie Schaaf, 208 pounds of Boston brawn, meet in the Chicago Stadium tonight in a 10-round battle to decide which will tackle Mickey Walker or Max Schmeling.

For, outside of each other, Mickey and Der Max are the only gladiators standing between Baer and Schaaf and a crack at Jack Sharkey's crown.

Baer, brown as the bears that roam his California mountains, deserted his Aurora training camp yesterday and came to Chicago. Max is a sun-worshiper, and has been doing all of his training out of doors.

Schaaf arrived here last week to taper off his training in a Loop gym. He looks fit, and declares he is all set to prove the decision he gained over Baer when they met in New York two years ago was not a "gift" decision, as Baer steadfastly maintains.

The bout has failed to stir any great enthusiasm here and a crowd of not more than about 12,000 is expected. Schaaf is a 7-5 betting favorite.

RISKO, LEVINSKY EASE OFF

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Announcing themselves ready for tomorrow night's bout, Johnny Risko and King Levinsky wound up their training today with easy workouts to develop speed. They confined themselves principally to shadow-boxing. The 12-round bout will be the headliner of the News' Christmas Fund program in the Cleveland Stadium.

MAX BEGINS GRIND

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling was to start roadwork today in preparation for his bout in New York next month against Mickey Walker. He opened training yesterday by boxing three rounds.

Freddie Miller vs. Frankie Wallace, 10 rounds, Cincinnati.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Ted Yarosz has notched his fifty-sixth consecutive victory as a ring professional and his third win over Jimmy Belmont, rugged Braddockite. He turned the trick last night before a near-capacity crowd at Hickey Park, Millvale, in the main bout of a show postponed from the night before.

Weighing 153 pounds, one-half pound more than his opponent, the Monaca boxer had no particular trouble winning. He moved too fast and thought too fast and hit too fast for Belmont, who seldom was able to get the range for any continuous punching and had to be content with an occasional hook or swing on the outside and a bit of hit or miss work at close quarters.

BOUT IS INTERESTING

Whenever Yarosz chose, he hit Jimmy at will with both fists, quite frequently taking pot shots. Jimmy tried hard and the bout was far from uninteresting, although the loser did not carry a round. The only noticeable damage was suffered by Belmont, a cut under his right eye in the seventn round.

Tom Malco, of Soho, outmauled Joey Speigal, Uniontown southpaw welterweight, in the six-round semi-final, put on after the main bout, but the judges disagreed and Referee Joe Zivic's vote gave the honors to Speigal. Judge Freddie Lux also voted for Speigal and Judge Jock Simco for Malco. Speigal scored a knockdown for a count of six at the start of the fourth round, but throughout the remainder of the battle he permitted Malco to dictate the fighting terms, at close quarters, where Tommy is at his best.

Andy Kosel, of Turtle Creek, defeated Sammy Asto, Uniontown bantamweight, in the six-round second bout, and General Burr, Aliquippa Negro welterweight, won over Hans Roberts, of Brookline, in the six-round opener. Both Burr and Roberts suffered a cut eye.

GENEVA ELEVEN OPENS CAMP TODAY

By JESS CARVER

Another football season was unwrapped down at Geneva today. Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech's most illustrious gridiron son, called his Covenanter hopefuls together this morning, half a hundred strong, and sent them skipping through a brisk forenoon workout. After he had 'em all sweated up, he informed them they'd have another this afternoon, and that the dose would be repeated tomorrow and the next day and the next and the next—until September 15, when the workouts will be whittled to one per day.

Howard Harpster

Harpster, faced by the loss of several veteran athletes, including Slim Ramson, crackerjack center, and Tommy Stauffer, his captain-elect, has a tough fall ahead. His opening game alone is enough to give one the jitters—for Harpy must whip his Genevians into condition for an inaugural battle with the Scarlet Hurricane of Davis Elkins, tutored by Crafty Cam Henderson, the drawling West Virginian.

The only break Harpster gets is that Henderson lost some 14 of his lettermen from last year's Hurricane team, and may not be any better off opening day, or as the case happens to be, opening night, than Harp.

Harpster will be able to construct his team around a star quartet in Cliff Aultman, star end; Art Graham, southpaw halfback; big Sam Cooper and McKee, up and coming linemen.

The stage fixings are in place up on the Bluff for the opening of Duquesne's fall practice sessions tomorrow. Most of those ordered to report already have been quartered in the Duquesne gym. Tomorrow they'll get a-going.

The Dukes and Genevians pry off their campaigns the same night, September 16. Duquesne takes on Westminster here at Forbes Field under the lights, while the Genevians are meeting Davis-Elkins.

And there you have the reasons for these early take-offs.

W. & J. OPENS PRACTICE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—One of the largest squads to answer the first training call at Washington and Jefferson College in recent years, stepped out on the practice field yesterday to prepare for the coming season.

The turnout rather pleased LeRoy P. (Hank) Day, now head coach, who took over Bill Amos' job, and two fast sessions were held on the College field.

Despite the loss of regulars by graduation last year, Day is confident of molding together a worthy team. He has a plentiful supply of backfield men at hand and can count on four regular linemen from last season to help things along. Wash-Jeff opens its season here on October 1 with West Virginia Wesleyan.

FERRELL FINED, SUSPENDED

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Wesley Ferrell, who in each of his first four years in the majors had won 20 or more games for Cleveland, today was suspended for 10 days by Manager Peckinpaugh, charged with insubordination.

The suspension will cost Ferrell, the highest paid player on the Cleveland team, about $1,500 in salary.

Peckinpaugh's ire was aroused when his pitching ace objected to leaving the box in the first inning of yesterday's game with Boston after being waved out. Ferrell had been touched for three hits and yielded a walk, but when Peckinpaugh ordered him aside, he balked and kicked up dust.

Reports from Cleveland recently have been that Ferrell, who, though he already has won 20 games this year, has failed to win from the strong eastern teams Cleveland most wanted to beat, would be traded next year. Philadelphia and New York, the reports say, have an eye out for his services, Cleveland to receive in return either Rube Walberg or Vernon (Lefty) Gomez.

BRITISH WALKER CUP TEAM ANNOUNCED

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The British Walker Cup golf team, which has yet to gain a victory, today stole a lead on its American rivals. The Britons were first in announcing their lineups for tomorrow's foursome matches at the Country Club.

The sturdy veteran, Cyril Tolley twice a British amateur champion and a member of five international teams, named the British pairings as follows:

1—Capt. Tony Torrance and Leonard Crawley.
2—John Burke and John Stout.
4—John Fiddian and Eric Meruvie.

Although he probably has definitely decided upon his foursome selections, Francis Quimet, National amateur titlist and American team leader, said he would not name them until tonight.

Quimet has five inexperienced International match players in his squad of 11. His top strength appears to include himself, George Voight, Jess Sweetser, Maurice McCarthy, Don Moe and Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston. The latter is handicapped by a twisted ankle and he may not play. If he is held out of the play, Quimet will use three of these Walker Cup recruits, Gus Moreland, new western amateur champion, Jack Westland, 1931 National amateur runner-up, George T. Dunlap, Jr., Charlie Seaver and Billy Howell, in tomorrow's opening play.

Young Florida Kayoed by McGivern

Art McGivern, of the Willow Club, scored the only knockout of the night at the St. Peter's Lyceum amateur mitt show last night, when he dropped Young Florida, of the Buff A. C. for the count in the second round. The summary:

Matt Osmak, Emerald A. C., defeated Frank Wingo, Willow A. C., 3 rounds, 112 pounds.
Frank Tirpak, Corliene A. C., defeated Frankie George, Willow A. C., in 3 rounds, 118 pounds.

COBB STOPS SIGMORE

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Walter Cobb, Baltimore heavyweight, scored a four-round technical knockout over Jack Sigmore, Cambridge Negro, in the Argonne A. A.'s feature contest, scheduled for 10 rounds at Fenway Park, here last night. Cobb weighed 218 and Sigmore 215.

Wood, Don to Test Boats Tomorrow

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Kaye Don, British challenger, and Gar Wood, American defender, expect to have their two giant hydroplanes out for test runs tomorrow over the Lake St. Clair course on which they will meet Saturday morning in the initial heat of the Harmsworth trophy race.

Don announced he would take his Miss England III over the seven-mile course during the morning. Wood was not sure what time Miss America X would make her first run. He was scheduled to try out the course this morning, but postponed the test again, saying his craft would not be ready until tomorrow.

The British challenger has been over the course several times, trying out the two three-mile straightaway and the half-mile turns at either end. Wood has not yet had his boat on the course since the markers were placed.

MRS. HILL TIED FOR THIRD

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The women's western 72-hole medal play derby went into the second round with Jean Armstrong, of Chicago, leading the title fight with an 83.

Jane Weiller, another Chicagoan, ranked second with 86, while Mrs. Opal Hill, of Kansas City, who successfully defended her women's western title last week, was tied with Rena Nelson, Helen Mac Morran, Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt and Mrs. Melvin Jones all of Chicago, at 87. Mary Elizabeth Ford, Kansas City; Mrs. Austin Purdue, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Perry Fisk, of Milwaukee, had 88's; Virginia Taylor and Mrs. John W. Taylor, of Chicago, had 91's, and Mrs. John Arends, Detroit, was in the title flight with 92.

Bezdek in City, Jess Quatse Back

Hugo Bezdek, director of physical education at Penn State College, was a visitor in Pittsburgh today en route to State College from the Olympic Games in California. Bezdek formerly was the Penn State head football coach and also served for a period as manager of the Pirates.

Jess Quatse, all-America tackle at Pitt last fall, returned home today from Hollywood, Cal., where he engaged with the other members of last year's All-America team in the making of a football picture.

Lanterns to Guide Way for Marathon Swimmers

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Lanterns and flashlights were added today to the rowboat cargoes of coaches who were to scull along with the competitors in the Canadian National Exhibition 15-mile marathon swim. And all because of the eclipse of the sun.

Toronto scientists said the darkness of the midafternoon eclipse would be no more intense than it is at dusk, but the coaches were taking no chances of losing their charges when the noon edges across the sun.

The eclipse may prove an even greater handicap to the swimmers. Experts said it would cause a drop of four or five degrees in the temperature of the water in Lake Ontario.

home team. The Pirates scored a run in the seventh to deadlock this game and they won out in the eighth on a run that blossomed from Catcher Tom Padden's single.

When Traynor smacked out a double in the third inning of the nightcap, he realized his two thousandth hit of his major league career. Previously to yesterday's games, Pie needed four bingles to accord this mark after 11 years in the big show.

Vines and Cochet May Meet in Final

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Tennis fans were agog today over the prospect of another meeting between Ellsworth Vines, California star, and Henri Cochet, of France.

Vines and Cochet were drawn in opposite halves for the national singles tennis tourney starting Saturday at Forest Hills, giving a possibility that they may meet in the final. Both must play through strong fields to reach the final round, however, as the entry list of almost 100 players includes the leading stars of three continents.

SULLIVAN NEW BURNS PILOT

The Dan Burns team, of New Kensington, will hold a meeting tomorrow evening to line up its players for the coming season. The new manager will be Grafton Sullivan. Old time football fans will remember Sullivan in the days of Billy Doll, when the Springdale Ameus and McChesneytown teams were powerful.

Grafton has a great knowledge of football and football players, and he will be out to wrest the West Penn Conference honors from Art Rooney.

Practice sessions will be held Sunday and Monday, and the team will play at least two games before swinging into the Conference schedule. Night football will hold sway in the aluminum town, but Sullivan did not designate what night the team would play at home in Conference games.

Unemployed to See Two Tech Games

Some of the city's unemployed, at least 250 of them, will have a chance to see some football games this fall.

An announcement to this effect comes from Max Hannum, of the Carnegie Tech athletic department, and Joe Raciappa, director of the Soho Community House. The Carnegie Tech-Geneva game on October 1, and the Tech tilt with W. & J. are the two games for which tickets will be distributed. The ducats for these games will be handled by the branches of the Y. C. M. A. and settlement houses, members of the Welfare Fund. Raciappa also approached Don Harrison, athletic director at Pitt, and John D. Hollahan, graduate manager of Duquesne, to assist in this cause.

NEW ORLEANS WINS

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Joe Graffagnini, New Orleans ace twirler, won his own ball game with a double in a stirring ninth inning rally that gave the western champions a victory over Springfield, Mass., in the opening game of the Junior American Legion "little world series," here yesterday. Included in the crowd of 8,000 that saw the game was Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Between Rounds

Joe Orsini, Pitt coach, and Ernie Resto, Tech coach, both showed fine form as referees in handling the Italian Olympic team bouts at Greenlee Field a few nights ago and caught to make good as professional arbiters if they care to go into this branch of the game.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. opens an amateur tournament in its North Side arena tonight. The finals are scheduled tomorrow night.

Johnny Hazel, local lightweight, now is under the management of Irish Kane and is ready to meet any of the 135-pounders.

Pitchers Larry French and Steve Swetonic and Catcher Earl Grace, of the Pirates, will attend the amateur boxing show to be held under the auspices of Chartiers Council, K. of C., in Crafton tonight.

Frankie Goosby, Negro welterweight, who knocked out Lee Salk and Jack Wilson and defeated Jimmy Belmont in recent bouts at Greenlee Field, is making his home here and would like to box Ted Yarosz or Buck McTiernan in his next start. He is managed by Cherokee Tom Cox, who in his time boxed the original Joe Gans, Jack Johnson and other notables and has been connected with boxing for more than 40 years.

A number of local fans will go to Cleveland for the Johnny Risko-Ernie Schaaf bout at the Stadium tomorrow night. The show is the annual Christmas fund show under the auspices of the Cleveland News. Ed Bang, sports editor, is the matchmaker. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to attend.

Charley Baxter and Johnny Datto are working at different hours in the Pittsburgh Lyceum gymnasium for their 10-round windup at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Tuesday night.

Conlan Knocks Out Foe After Bell

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Ace Conlan, of Chicago, knocked out Joe Cardoza, of Los Angeles, last night, but was a little late and lost on a foul.

Just after the gong ended the eighth round Conlan clipped Cardoza on the chin and the latter went down and out. When he came to he was awarded the decision.

RUDDY WINS SWIM

WEST PENN TEAM MATCHES TODAY

HIGHLAND OUT TO DEFEND TITLE

By TOM BIRKS

The Highland Country Club golf team, Western Pennsylvania champion, is defending its title in foursome and individual play at the Pittsburgh Country Club today. Opposing the Highlanders are teams representing Oakmont, South Hills and Stanton Heights.

This morning found the teams playing a four-ball match in eights, and the individual system will be the order of things in the afternoon round.

Headed by Maurice Le Bosquet, the Western Pennsylvania amateur champion, Highland has many well-seasoned tournament players entered.

The East Palestine, O. Country Club is holding the first Tri-State amateur invitation Scotch foursome tournament next Tuesday. It will be a medal play affair of 18 holes, and the club with the lowest two-man score will receive the championship trophy.

The Schenley Parks team certainly got away to a big lead over the combined North and South Parks teams at South Park yesterday afternoon. The Schenley boys finished the long end of an 18-to-12 score. The nassau system of scoring was used. Steve Borovitch had the best medal score, a 73. The second half of the matches will be played at the Schenley links tomorrow afternoon. The scores:

Steve Borovitch, North Park, defeated Dr. S. C. Brandon, 7 and 5; W. J. Graham, South Park, defeated A. G. Walterstedt, Schenley Park, 1 up; Frances Lally, Schenley Park, defeated Mat. Longstaff, North Park, 3 and 2; Lang Hukill, North Park, defeated Mike Gallido, Schenley Park, 4 and 2; Tom Barr, Schenley Park, defeated Tom Martin, South Park, 3 and 2; Walter Phillips, Schenley Park, defeated E. Patterson, South Park, 5 and 4; Art Sekay, Schenley Park, defeated Bernie McFarland, North Park, 1 up; Johnny Pasiowsky, Schenley Park, defeated Alex Schacoski, North Park, 3 and 2; Andy Swedka, Schenley Park, defeated Mike Evans, South Park, 2 up; Ned Ronagle, South Park, and Ray De Pietro, Schenley Park, finished all even.

Dr. Tom McCreary, of Monaca, joined the hole-in-one club at the Ashtabula Country Club course last Friday. His ace came on the short number four hole on the outgoing nine, 92 yards long.

DEAN PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The name of 18-year-old Paul Dean today was written into baseball's record books in the exclusive section reserved for pitchers of no-hit, no-run games.

Dean, younger brother of Dizzy of the St. Louis Cardinals, last night ascended to the high place by stopping the Kansas City Blues, 3 to 0, and became the twenty-ninth hurler in the 30-year history of the American Association to accomplish the feat. And in doing it, he established a league record they never will be able to take away from him, for it was the first no-hit game achieved under artificial lighting.

It was the second no-hit game of the season and Kansas City was the victim in each. On May 9, Bryan (Slim) Harriss, St. Paul's veteran southpaw, smothered Dutch Zwilling's sluggers at Kansas City. Dean's triumph also gave Columbus the distinction of having owned six no-hit pitchers, one more than any other club in the league.

The youngster, who pitched a one-hit game against St. Paul early in the season, did not pitch a perfect game, for he issued four walks. Only one man reached second base on a steal after a base on balls.

HOCKEY LOOPS TO MERGE

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—Within 48 hours the way will be paved for disbanding of the American Hockey League and induction of its players into the National League, observers believed today.

Belief was based on the announcement of Frank Calder, president of the National League, after a meeting of executives of both circuits here yesterday. Calder admitted that heads of the two leagues had reached an "understanding" and that a "tentative agreement" had been drawn up for submission to the league management for ratification.

He refused to disclose the nature of the agreement, but added: "You ought to be able to guess."

Olympic Boxing Champ Turns Pro

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Horace (Lefty) Gwynne, hard-hitting Toronto bantamweight, who won the 118-pound title at the recent Olympic games at Los Angeles, has deserted the simon pure ranks. This announcement was made today by officials of Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens who signed Gwynne to appear in a preliminary to the Emile (Spider) Pladner-Panama Al Brown world championship bout here September 12. His opponent has not yet been named.

Valley Soccer Loop Joins West Penn

The Allegheny Valley Soccer League last night joined the West Penn Soccer Football Association, governing body of the sport hereabouts. This league includes in its membership V. F. B.'s of Tarentum; Harwick, Valley Athletics, Curtisville and Springdale.

The league will use association referees this season.

Veteran coach and former star of the Boston Braves, who also will be a guest speaker with the Seals, discussing the coming world series and reminiscing about the Miracle Braves of 1914 and other experiences in his long career. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

SEALS PRESENT BIG PROGRAM

Baseball, swimming and track and field sports make up a gala program for the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE at 6:50 o'clock this evening.

The Seals will be on the air for 25 minutes and they will bring before the microphone Hank Gowdy, star catcher of the Miracle Boston Braves of 1914, now coach for that club; Misses Lenore Kight and Anna Mae Gorman, Homestead Olympic Games swimming stars; Jack Scarry, their coach; Carl Olsen, new Pitt track coach, who arrived here only least night to take up his duties, having come from the Olympic Games; Joseph Pentek, former star swimmer, now a singer, who has been heard on previous Seals broadcasts; Miss Marian Salmon, pianist, and others.

Harry Keck, sports editor, will be back as master of ceremonies, aided by Charles J. Doyle and Julius Levin, of the sports staff, and Herb McGee will be the announcer.

EX-WHEELING MAGNATE DIES

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Charles Hollaway, financier, clubman, dairyman and owner of the dormant Wheeling baseball club, of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, died last night in his suburban Woodlawn home. He was 62 and had been ill for 18 months from anemia.

Holloway, in 1926, joined with Col. George Phillips, of Wheeling, and Gibson Bradfield, of Barnesville, O., in purchasing the Wheeling Stogies' franchise in the Middle Atlantic League from Dick Guy, of Pittsburgh. Three years later he bought Bradfield's interest.

Night baseball to bolster dwindling attendance was introduced to the league by him, but this year he decided to stay out of the circuit in view of economic conditions.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Harold, of Columbus, O., and Francis, of Detroit; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Thomosson, of Pasadena, Cal., and two brothers, Willis, of Cleveland, and John, of Los Angeles.

STAR NETTERS OPEN TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The East ruled a slight favorite over the West for their annual two-day tennis series, opening today at the Orange (N. J.) Lawn Tennis Club.

Two singles and two doubles matches were on the opening day's program, with one doubles and four singles battles tomorrow.

Heading the Western array was the national champion, Ellsworth Vines. His teammates were Keith Gledhill, Lester Stoefen, Jack Tidball, Elbert Lewis and Joseph Coughlin. Representing the East were Frank Shields, Sidney Wood, John Van Ryn, Gregory Mangin, Davey Jones and Manuel Alonso.

Van Ryn was to meet Tidball and Shields match strokes with Lewis in singles today. In doubles, Jones and Alonso were to team up against Stoefen and Coughlin, while Wood and Mangin played Vines and Gledhill.

Local Golfer In Second Round

W. S. Critchlow, of Titusville, the defending champion, shot the best golf in the first round as he defeated N. H. Harned, of Conneaut Lake, 7 and 5.

Michigan Proclaims Eddie Tolan Day

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Gov. Wilber M. Brucker has proclaimed September 6 Eddie Tolan Day in Michigan, in honor of the little Negro youth who, in the words of the proclamation, "brought honor to our commonwealth by winning the two principal dash events" at the Olympic Games.

Tolan will be extended special recognition at the State Fair that day and the Governor said he hoped "appropriate observances" would be arranged elsewhere over the state.

CUBS WIN 11TH IN ROW, SET RECORD

Associated Press.

The ability to belt home runs into the distant bleachers when there are men on base and the game hanging by a thread has been an outstanding characteristic of the Yankees in their headlong flight toward the American League flag.

A glance at their record reveals the clouting New Yorkers have won a total of 28 games by the slender margin of one run, and that in 19 instances they pounded one or more for the circuit to achieve victory. The prodigious punches of Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri and the team's other siege guns have put the Yanks where they are today.

GEHRIG CLOUTS TWO

Yesterday it was Gehrig whose two homers brought victory over the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 5. Johnny Allen didn't pitch much of a game, yielding 12 hits, but Lou's thirtieth and thirty-first four-baggers brought in five runs and made it easy for the big rookie to score his fifteenth triumph in 17 games. Billy Sullivan made four of Chicago's hits.

The lowly Boston Red Sox gave the day's prize performance in knocking Wes Ferrell from the box in the first inning, and beating Cleveland, 6 to 2. Three solid hits and a base on balls sent the Indian ace showerward, and the Sox went on to score five runs before Jack Russell retired them.

Jimmy Foxx's forty-eighth home run with Cochran on base broke a tie in the seventh inning and gave the Athletics a 6-to-4 decision over the Detroit Tigers. Lefty Grove allowed seven hits in scoring Victory No. 21.

NATS CONTINUE SPURT

The Chicago Cubs set a season's record in the National League by defeating the New York Giants, 4 to 3, for their eleventh straight victory, scoring the winning run in the ninth on a hit batsman, two walks and a fumble by Critz.

Pittsburgh picked up a half game by outslugging the Boston Braves twice, 10 to 7 and 3 to 2. The Pirates rallied to score five runs in the eighth inning to win the first game and again in the nightcap put over the winner in the eighth.

The Brooklyn Dodgers made only six hits off Syl Johnson and Tex Carleton, but they built them into a 5-to-4 victory over St. Louis. Cincinnati and the Phillies were idle.

Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis announced yesterday that Travis Jackson, of the New York Giants, and William Hargrave, of the Boston Braves, have been placed on the voluntary retired list. Both are suffering from injuries that will keep them inactive until next year.

Wall Street Respects Mellon as Financial Prophet

Wall street respects Ambassador Mellon as a financial prophet. His famous advice early in 1929, when he was Secretary of the Treasury, to "buy bonds" was the best tip the public had from a high place at that time to get out of the stock market, although it was not generally recognized as such then. Consequently, his latest remarks that the recovery of commodity prices was justified and that he expected to see the gains held commanded wide attention in the financial district. It was not surprising to find brokers sending out flashes advising customers to take profits on any further bulges in stock but to stay long of corn, rubber and other commodities for further price appreciation. It was said in brokerage circles that considerable speculative switching had been going on out of stocks into commodities the past few days.

With Electric Bond and Share providing a classic example of how rapidly the equity behind junior shares can mount in a period of generally rising security prices, more attention is being centered on those issues with the so-called leverage factor. American Superpower had a book value of about $2.10 a share at last Friday's closing prices, it is understood, but the chief speculative interest in the issue is provided by the possibilities inherent in the concentration of equities in the common stock after full coverage for the preferred stocks is obtained. At the close of 1931, the common had a book value of 44 cents a share. American International has a book value at the present time of approximately $8 a share, it is also reported. Investment trust shares which are selling below their liquidating value are also arousing some interest on the part of the speculative fraternity that missed entirely the current general market upswing.

If there was any doubt as to the importance Wall street attached to the appreciation of commodity values as a stimulous to business and corporation profits, a glance at the stock market tape in course of yesterday would have dispelled it. As crude rubber resumed its advance after an early dip, tire company stocks spurted into new high ground for the year for sharp gains. Goodyear common late in the session was up more than 4 points. Persistent firmness in metal prices here and in London also maintained speculative interest in mining shares. Kennecott, Anaconda, American Smelting and International Nickel sold at the highest prices recorded this year.

Detroit advices to several brokerage houses are to the effect that there is increasing interest in motor shares, and that the Chrysler pool has been getting active. Furthermore, the same sources say that General Motors has not only been bought in large amounts by foreign brokers, but that Wall street traders have been buying the stock below 16.

Those who follow drygoods say that the shares of these organizations will come to the front shortly, not only as a result of the general market's advance, but that bullish sentiment is gaining in this department as a result of the somewhat better sales in some of the stores and the fact that the seasonal activity will begin in a few days.

The run-up in utility company stocks has brought about a striking change in the relationship between prices for the stocks and per share earnings compared with the ratio when the stocks were being thrown overboard at around their lows in early July. At Saturday's closing figures the price-earnings ratio for a selected group of 13 stocks ranged between 10.1 times earnings for Standard Gas and Electric common up to 24.3 times for Electric Bond and Share common. The majority of the group was selling for between 13 and 20 times the latest reported earnings per share, which were those for the 12 months ended June 30 last.

Textile, Woolen Mills Advance Prices

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—American Woolen Company has made advances of 5 to 10 cents a yard on its entire line of worsted in departments 1 and 2.

P. H. Hanes Knitting Company advanced by 37½ cents a dozen its cheap line of heavyweight cotton ribbed underwear.

Pepperell Manufacturing Company has advanced its "Pepperell" fine-count sheets 5 per cent and its four-quarter bleached muslin 1 cent a yard.

STOCK TRADERS CASH PAPER PROFITS

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—The stock market ended the second month of swift recovery with traders actively cashing in their paper profits today.

Rather disappointing reports from the steel industry, and the approach of the Labor Day week-end, accelerated the selling movement, which embraced cotton and wheat as well as stocks. A brief upturn in the morning failed to attract an important following, and by mid-day the list had receded to show many losses of 1 to 4 points. There were some recoveries of a point or more from the bottom in the fourth hour, but they were not fully maintained.

Notably heavy issues were the steels, chemicals, utilities and rails. United States Steel common lost 2, and the preferred 4. Miscellaneous issues off 2 to more than 3 included Allied Chemical, DuPont, North American, Western Union, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Reading, Great Northern preferred, Case, American Smelting, Eastman and Coca Cola. A wide assortment of shares lost a point or more, including Bethlehem, National Steel, Kennecott, Anaconda, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Sears, Westinghouse, General Electric, United Corporation, American Water Works, Corn Products, National Biscuit, Standard of New Jersey, and others.

Brighter aspects of the day's news included the weekly report of electric power production, showing the first gain for the fourth week of August since 1929. Compared to last year, the recession was 12.3 per cent, against 12.9 in the previous week. Business was on the decline at this time in 1929, however, and the gain reported today was so small that there was a tendency to withhold judgement. Copper continued its gradual climb, quoted at 5¾ cents, up ⅛ of a cent.

There was an obvious feeling in speculative quarters that it might be well to let the market drift momentarily, giving business a chance to catch up.

There seemed to be no deterioration in Wall street in the restored confidence in the future, merely a feeling that recovery should not be discounted by the market too far in advance. While steel production sagged under its 14 per cent of capacity level, it was pointed out that a temporary sag in late August might not be important, but what was important, was whether it would be able to get up to 30 per cent or better during the next two months.

COTTON RISES, THEN FALLS

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Cotton futures opened steady, ⅜ higher on steadier Liverpool cables and trade buying. October, 8.71; December, 8.87; January, 8.93; March, 9.10; May, 9.18; July, 9.29.

There was further liquidation and some southern selling on the opening advance, but it was taken by a fairly active demand.

After the call and December contracts sold up from $8.87 to $9.01, with the general list showing a net advance of 18 to 21 points at the end of the first half hour.

The advance extended to 9.04 for December and 9.24 for March or 20 to 24 points net higher, but the weekly report of the Weather Bureau, placing less stress on unfavorable crop features than some had anticipated, brought in a flurry of liquidation. December sold off to 8.63 and March to 8.83 with the general list showing net declines of 18 to 20 points at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 31.—Cotton, 1,000, including 600 American; spot, quiet; prices 21 points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 7.27; good middling, 7.02; strict middling, 6.82; middling, 6.72; strict low middling, 6.62; low middling, 6.52; strict good ordinary, 6.32; good ordinary, 6.02. Futures closed steady, October, 6.36; December, 6.55; January 6.56; March, 6.60; May, 6.64; July, 6.68.

Pennsy Loadings Show Sharp Gain

Total loaded cars handled by Pennsylvania Railroad System during the week ended August 27 amounted to 79,787, comparing with 75,187 in the preceding week and 116,127 in the like 1931 week.

From January 1 to August 27, loaded cars handled totaled 2,922,095, against 4,061,014 cars in the same period last year.

PACIFIC COAST JOB DRIVE SPREADS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—President Hoover, in his address before the national conference of business and industrial committees at Washington, alluded to the drive being made on the Pacific Coast to spread work.

A spokesman for the business and industrial committee in the Twelfth District told me:

Mr. Rukeyser

"The only new thing about our campaign to spread work is the manner in which we approached the matter. We have organized along the lines of a Liberty Loan drive. In San Francisco, for example, there is a general committee, with its chairman and a vice chairman in charge of each industrial division of the community, with their colonels and captains of teams selected in a manner so that when any employer is approached it is by some one in his own line of business. In other words, there is a personal contact in every instance by one who speaks the employer's language and can tell him exactly how the spread-of-work principle can be applied in his business.

EMERGENCY STRESSED

"We are asking employers to adopt this spreading of the work as an emergency measure, and are not advocating any special or definite plan of how it should be done. We are using the slogan, 'Job Security by Job Sharing.'

"We are advocating that those firms who are still working on full time and during the past have let men go that they didn't need, that they take them back and spread the work in the plant and in that way not only give work to those who are now unemployed, but eliminate the fear on the part of those who are employed that they will be the next to go.

"It is almost too soon to point to definite results, but I know of one case where between 700 and 800 men have been given work on account of this campaign. The movement is well under way throughout the entire State of California, and recently was started in Oregon and Washington; and I have every reason to hope that a similar movement will be undertaken in the other 11 reserve districts."

AGAINST MIGRATION

Inasmuch as the committee is finding difficulty in securing part time for its own unemployed, it is eager to discourage migration by the jobless from other districts. Instead, it is co-operating to induce similar movements in the other 11 districts.

Continuing, this spokesman added:

"In no sense of the word are we an employment agency nor are we discussing wages. That is purely a matter between the employer and the employe. Our proposal is not put up as a 'cure-all' but as the only quick emergency way we can get results before winter. In a famine we ration the food. We have a famine of jobs at the moment. The method by which we sold Liberty Bonds—that is, the personal touch—is the only method in my opinion that will get us anywhere. When a man receives a letter on the subject, he probably says to himself 'that's a very excellent idea but it won't apply to my business' and throws the letter in the waste basket. He is a potential customer that must be sold."

Concretely, one large west coast corporation, which has been thoroughly sold on the idea, now has on its payroll 20 per cent more employes than it would have if it worked all its employes full time. Its various plants are operating on a three to five-day week, depending on the work in hand and the number of employes.

Rails Likely Leaders in Next Rise of Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS.)—The market is obviously tired and the way it went down at the close indicates it needs a rest.

The bulls went from group to group in an effort to keep it going but there was just too much dead weight to carry.

Further reaction is indicated today with the possibility of a new try for a rally in the afternoon. We would watch the market closely to see how it acts under further selling before thinking of re-entering.

The important thing is that informed interests are still committed to higher prices. As long as the trend remains up, intermediate reactions can be ignored.

Action of the rails suggests that they are being groomed for leadership of the next rise.

There are several things in the rail background that will provide ammunition. Concerted action taken on wages yesterday is one.

Then there is the four-party merger meeting here today with the possibility that an agreement will be reached. In addition, the car loadings trend is up and another gain this Saturday would not be surprising.

STEEL TRADE PICKUP LAGS

The Iron Age in its weekly review of the steel industry tomorrow will say:

Rising commodity prices including advances in the major nonferrous metals and in iron and steel scrap, a continuance of the mild expansion in pig iron sales and inquiries, and the nation-wide movement under government auspices to stimulate purchases, may be laying of groundwork for some measure of business recovery, but meanwhile, the steel trade continues to languish and apart from a few minor gains exhibits little or no indications that the expected September upturn will attain more than small proportions.

Shipments of some important steel producers reached the lowest point of the depression in the past week. Ingot output has declined rather sharply in the Pittsburgh and Wheeling districts and is not above 10 per cent in the valleys. For the entire country this week's output is estimated at 13 per cent of capacity against 14 per cent in the preceding three weeks.

Steel prices for the fourth quarter will soon be announced, probably without change, though there is some question as to sheets in view of recent weakness, which has extended from the common grades to some of the special finishes. An effort may be made to re-establish the sheet prices that were in effect before the recent declines. An expected reduction in price of tin plate as of October 1 may not materialize if the steel business generally shows improvement.

In the automobile industry, there are signs of a renewal of activity.

The Iron Age composite price for heavy melting steel has advanced to $7.42 from $7 a week ago and is now $1 above its low point of the year. Composite prices for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $13.64 a gross ton and 1.964 cents a pound, respectively.

Store Officer Sees Business Upturn

Signs of revival of trade and general indications of business improvement in the department stores were discussed last night by A. H. Burchfield, Jr., vice president of the Joseph Horne Company, in a radio talk.

Commenting upon the recent advance in the commodity markets, Burchfield declared:

"These upward trends in prices of raw materials can only result in an upward trend in retail prices. We note that people are buying with a great deal more confidence."

'Frisco Rail Plan Success Predicted

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—Chairman Brown, of St. Louis-San Francisco Railway, says that holders of more than a majority of the bonds and stock of the company have become parties to the readjustment plan. Mr. Brown declares that success of the plan is now only a question of time.

The time for deposit under the plan has been extended to September 26.

Swedish Bank Rate Reduced to 3½ Pct.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 31.—The Swedish Bank rate has been reduced to 3½ per cent from 4 per cent, effective September 1.

OSLO, Aug. 31. — The Norwegian Bank rate has been reduced to 4 per cent from 4½ per cent, effective September 1.

Standard of Ohio Reduces Gasoline

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—Standard Oil Company of Ohio has reduced the price of gasoline on all grades one cent a gallon throughout its territory.

VALENTINE

Captivating Story of a Shy Girl Rushed Into Love

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER IX.

Commencement came. Another thing that had been looked forward to for years, and was over before it scarcely began.

"Now you've got it, what you going to do with it?" Frank Vogel had asked, and everybody had laughed. Now, she wondered.

It was a nice commencement. Lots of people had congratulated her, told her how sweet she looked.

"Getting to be a great, big, beautiful girl!" Marjorie's father, F. Damon Bemis, the supervisor, said.

Up to the last moment Val expected some word from Millie. Flowers, or something. But Millie must have forgotten. There was no word. Nothing.

Joe was there with his mother and the rest of the family. Mrs. Carey didn't see anybody but her Betty, but Joe forced his way through the crowd to congratulate Val. Joe was friendly, all right. He seemed to like her as much as ever.

It wasn't enough, that was all. She wanted something more . . .

"I should have had a little party for you!" Aunt Julia said, seeming to sense Val's disappointment. "Pshaw! Why didn't I think of it? I could have invited Marjorie, and two or three of the other girls. What a pity!"

WANTS STAGE CAREER

Val smiled and shook her head. Marjorie! Just as if Marjorie would come without Frank . . . as if ANY of the girls would have come to a GIRLS' party . . .

Aunt Julia insisted on going to the Sweet Shoppe for sodas. Then they went home, and went to bed.

When summer was half over, and she couldn't put it off any longer, Val told Aunt Julia that she would not go to Normal, wouldn't become a school teacher.

"Well, what do you want to do?" Aunt Julia asked reasonably.

"Oh, I don't know," Val said evasively. "Office work, I guess."

She really wanted to go on the stage. Millie had been on the stage, years and years ago. Val used to think of that, when she and Marjorie went to matinees at the Fulton. Sometimes they walked back and forth on Franklin street after the matinee was over, waiting to see the actors and actresses come out of the stage entrance.

They often saw the character actress and the man who played the old father parts, and some of the other unimportant ones, but they only saw the leading lady once, and then she was rather disappointing, and the only time they passed the leading man Val was too shy to look at him, and looked across the street at a newsboy instead.

Val thought she was in love with him, sometimes. Sometimes she would pretend to Aunt Julia that she hadn't been to the matinee with Marjorie, and then she and Aunt Julia would go in the evening.

DECIDES AGAINST COLLEGE

She'd sit, with her lips pressed close together, her forehead damp under the dark, soft wings of her hair. In the darkness, in the love scenes, when he looked into the audience and she thought he was looking right at her, she squirmed uncomfortably, so that Aunt Julia stopped munching her everlasting taffy, and said, "Gracious, Val, don't fidget!"

"Yes, but what GOOD does it do you?" Marjorie wanted to know.

"Why . . ." But Val hadn't thought of that.

"He's married, and he's more than 40 years old. I know that for a fact. I'd rather have a crush on somebody that was some good to me. Catch me wasting my time on a secret sorrow! Not while I have Frankie!" Marjorie said.

Even Marjorie made no secret of the fact that she thought Val was a nut to even think about going on the stage. Val hadn't the least idea how to go about it, and she would have died rather than walk into the theater and ask. So it smouldered in her mind, and she gave evasive answers to her aunt's worried questions:

"Surely you must have something in mind, Valentine. Gracious, I always thought you wanted to teach. It was my dearest wish. I would have given the world for your chance. I didn't have any choice about my life.

"I was apprenticed out to a dressmaker, and I was sensible enough to make the best of it. Now you've got the whole world ahead of you. The whole world, mind you. I'll even see you through college if you must go there, though I don't see as it does them much good. The girls seem very silly, with their boys and all . . . still . . . Val, DO you want to go to college?"

"No," Val said.

REACH A COMPROMISE

"There must be something you want to do . . . What's that? Speak up!"

"I don't want to teach."

"I know, you said that. But what DO you want to do? Mmm . . . you used to draw very pretty little heads when you were little. I remember one beautiful picture you made of a bean jug, with nasturtiums in it—I've got it put away in the hall closet yet—"

"I can't draw any more than a cat."

"You drew better than Marjorie Bemis ever could, and SHE talked enough about wanting to go to art school!"

"No, I don't. I never could draw."

"But the bean jug. I'll get it. You can almost smell the nasturtiums, and you know yourself you always got A's in art . . ."

"Yes. Because Joe Carey did all the drawings for me. He did the bean jug. He'd be pleased to think you like it so much."

Silence.

"I thought I might take up nursing."

"No you won't! Not my niece! I did enough nursing for this family!"

GOES TO WORK

Val gave that up after a little struggle. She didn't really like the idea of being with sick people. It was just that the uniforms were cute, and she had to do something, couldn't just stay home forever.

In the end they compromised on stenography.

"You've got to be careful of men in offices," Aunt Julia warned her gloomily. "They're always on the lookout for young, pretty girls. Now you be on your guard, and don't let them think they have any excuse for making advances!"

Val finished her business course in five months, and went to work in the office of Jefferson Slocomb, realtor, without anyone showing any inclination to "make advances."

The funny part was that she didn't really care. The boys at business college were just like those at high, and men in Mr. Slocomb's office were just like the boys, only older. No more like the men you read about in books and see on the stage than Aunt Julia was like Millie . . . No more like the men Millie used to know . . . no more like Jim Atkinson . . .

"Pete's sake, aren't you EVER going to fall in love?" Marjorie demanded, with real exasperation.

Marjorie was admittedly in love with Frankie now. But Marjorie had always been in love. Before Frank Vogel there was Perkins, the yell leader, and Emmons, the student body president, and a freshman from St. Mary's College, and a lot that Val couldn't even remember.

Marjorie had two gold footballs and a fraternity pin with a ruby and two pearls in it, to mark her conquests, and now she had Frank's onyx seal ring.

Val never had anything but an eversharp pencil Joe gave her the Christmas she was 14, and Aunt Julia made her give that back. She never had anything to show for her crushes. Lots of them she couldn't even talk about, Marjorie wouldn't have understood.

FORGOT LESSONS

She never told anyone about Mr. Mehl, the English teacher that she was wild about for almost two years. She almost missed being promoted, on account of him, in her sophomore year. Not that it was his fault, of course. He didn't know why she forgot everything she knew as soon as she came into class.

"Is there nothing I can do to interest you in your English? Is it because you don't like Shakespeare? Is it because I fail as a teacher?"

He used to ask her questions like that after school, and all she could do was wring her hands and stare at the cracks in the floor. "I don't know, Mr. Mehl. I do study—truly I do!"

She could blush about it yet.

Compared to Mr. Mehl the other crushes—the leading man at the Fulton, the young minister who substituted in the Presbyterian church two summers ago — the whistling Irishman who delivered the groceries from the Central market—these were quite painless!

None of Marjorie's crushes came up to Val's specifications, and of course the boys she found for Val—second choices—were even less exciting.

"Well, I give up," Marjorie said when Val, quizzed about the men in the office, said that not one was worth a second thought.

"Val's just like me. Don't care a rap for men. She's got a real nice job," she told the neighbors now.

Aunt Julia was happier than she had ever been. With Val having to leave at a certain time every morning, having to have special clothes for the office, she was busier than ever.

She made a fuss over washing Val's stockings and underwear every day, advising her what to buy for her lunch, and planning surprises for dinner.

Val was never late coming home. Val never talked about men. Val was, just as she hoped and dreamed she would be, a sensible business girl.

Val's friend, the only friend she really made in the office, was also a sensible business girl. She was older than Val, tall, willowy, soft spoken.

"My brother's girl disappointed him," Dorathea Nesbitt, the ladylike girl, told Val, frankly, "and I'd love to have you take her place."

"I don't care much whether I go or not," Val told Aunt Julia, as she dressed, slipping into the blue taffeta, pleased that it was still good style.

"Don't be silly. You're only young once! You go, and have a good time."

Poor Aunt Julia. She thought there was nothing to worry about any more, that even dances, and strange young men were "safe," for the ultra-sensible Val.

Synopsis

Now Go On

"I don't care whether I go or not," said Val.

Heart of a Wife

Madge Wonders Over Remark About Strong Box

I did not linger as I walked from the door of the nursery, where I had left Lee Chow, to Marion's room. There had been something about that slender figure dashing through the corridor, and the subsequent slamming of her door, that indicated strained nerves. They either would snap or be lessened in tension by the time I reached her.

If she were controlling herself, this proposition of Lee Chow's would help her by diverting her mind. On the other hand, if her nerves were frayed to the point of breaking, it was necessary, in Dick's parlance, that she be "snapped out of it." Otherwise I could get no answer to Lee Chow's request.

But I loathed the task of breaking in upon her, for I knew what must be the reason for her strained nerves. They were being tautened by the contemplation of the little comedy that Ronald and Mary were playing for her benefit.

Only she did not know it was a comedy, and I was determined that she should not discover the truth until our scheme should have fulfilled its purpose of nullifying the fascination that middle-aged Charles Owen had been able to exert over her.

As I rapped at her door the sound of hysterical, choking sobs came to my ears. But they were instantly stilled by my knock, and an instant later Marion's voice rang out in lilting challenge.

"Who's there?"

"Aunt Madge, dear, may I come in? I have a message for you from Lee Chow—very important and exciting."

MADGE EXPLAINS

"Surely. But you'll have to wait a second. I was taking my dress off and it's stuck. I'll be right there."

Her ruse was clever, I acknowledged, knowing full well that with powder she was skillfully effacing the traces of tears. A moment later, when she opened the door, she was to all appearances her usual lovely, smiling self.

"I'm so sorry to keep you waiting," she said, with the pretty, deferential manner that is one of her charms. "Come in. I'm thrilled to tears. What is it Lee Chow wants of insignificant little me?"

"Permission to get your strong box from the bank today, to have it opened in your presence, and to let him examine the contents."

"You mean—open the envelopes!" she exclaimed. "You know, Granny told be I mustn't do that until I was 18 years old—of age, she called it—and I won't be 18 for two months yet."

"No, he doesn't want to open the envelopes now," I explained hurriedly. "He simply wants to run his fingers over the outside of them. But when you do open them on your birthday, he wants to be present and see the contents of the envelopes. He believes that there is something inside that virtually concerns him."

A MISSLIP

"Oh! I suppose that Boxer—" She stopped short, and for the fraction of a second I caught a frightened, dismayed look in her eyes. Then she spoke smoothly, retrieving her slip.

"That box never will cease being a mystery," she said. "But why on earth a Chinese wants to look it over—well! it's just one of those things. But of course, I don't mind. Tell him he's welcome to look it over today, and to see what's inside of it on my birthday."

"I'm afraid it will take up some of your time this afternoon," I said. "Lee Chow insists that you be present when he looks at the envelopes. You'll have to make some excuse to the young people, for we can't be bothered with the rest of them."

"That's something I've got the most of there is," she drawled in the tones of a southern darkey. "And as for making excuses, what for? They're all so busy they wouldn't miss me if I stayed away all day, and I don't suppose this box thing will take more than half a day."

"Hardly half an hour," I said, smiling at her. "Thank you, dear. I'll tell Lee Chow of your permission, and I'll let you know when you're to join us."

I hurried away, purposely ignoring the bitter little comment she had made upon nobody missing her. By "nobody" I, of course, read Ronald, but it was not that which loomed bewilderingly before me. She unmistakably had said "that "Boxer" before she caught herself. Where had she learned of that angle of the mystery?

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Last Saturday the members of the Belmar Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club held their first annual dog show. Long before the doors of the theater were opened, the anxious members with their prospective prize-winners were waiting to be admitted. The dogs, barking and growling, and the crowd of youngsters talking and laughing, could be heard for at least a block. There were dogs of every kind and description—collies and collie pups—German police dogs and German police pups—bulldogs and terriers—clean dogs and ragged, dirty dogs—and finally, "just dogs" entries.

After the members were in the theater, the entries were lined up by Henry LaPerche, paraded across the stage and arranged to be judged. The judging was done by the applause of the members, which made it a judgment on appearance and not on breed. The first prize was awarded to "Pop-Eye," a German police puppy, two weeks old, and owned by Betty Maue, of 7512 Bennett street; the second prize was taken by a beautiful brown and white Eskimo spitz named "Iglo," 13 months old, and owned by Jerry Ward, 1215 N. Homewood avenue.

EATING CONTEST

Following the dog show Henry La Perche, the grand jester, announced a cracker eating contest for the boys and girls. The excitement created by this announcement together with the hubbub from the dog show was proof as to the jolly time the members were having. The girls contest was held first. Twelve girls were lined up on the stage, each was given two crackers, the winner being the one who ate the crackers and whistled first. Well, such a spluttering and fussing you never saw. It was amid much choking and gasping that the winner was finally chosen. The boys contest was much the same and had the members cheering and "yelling" for their favorites.

After the contests a group of the members entertained the club with songs and dances, the whole club joining in on most of the songs. Henry La Perche acted as master of ceremonies.

Lea Mae Gazzo, sang "Yours and Mine."

Sonny Byers sang "Without That Gal" and "Thank You Mr. Moon," with the members joining and singing the chorus of "Thank You Mr. Moon."

MEETING SUCCESS

The stage show was an excellent finishing touch to more than an hour of thrills and excitement and brought to a close one of the most successful meetings ever held at this chapter.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you. Or, you may join at any of the Warner Theaters where the Junior Komic Club meets on Saturday morning and receive a membership card and button then.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

THE BUTCHER GAVE ME ANOTHER HINT ABOUT THE BILL WE OWE HIM. WE'VE CERTAINLY SPENT MONEY LIKE WATER SINCE WE'RE FEEDING GUMBO AND MARGY JUST WHAT THEY WANT.
WELL JO YOU CAN'T EXPECT MILLIONAIRES TO LIKE ORDINARY THINGS SUCH AS ROUND STEAK AND SO FORTH.
GUMBO THINKS NOTHING OF GULPING DOWN A WHOLE BOTTLE OF STUFFED OLIVES AT ONE MEAL, AND DID YOU NOTICE HOW MUCH CREAM SHE PUTS IN HER THREE CUPS OF COFFEE?
WE OUGHT TO TRAIN OURSELVES TO OVERLOOK THINGS LIKE THAT. RIGHT NOW, ANYHOW.
YESTERDAY I LET HER HAVE MY GOOD MAROON GOWN. THIS MORNING I FOUND IT STUFFED IN A BUREAU DRAWER WITH TWO BIG TEARS IN THE SIDE OF IT. OF COURSE I DIDN'T SAY ANYTHING BUT....
THAT'S RIGHT, PEOPLE WITH A FEW MILLION ARE PECULIAR ABOUT SUCH THINGS.
EVERY TIME MARGY TURNS AROUND SHE ORDERS A TAXI, AT OUR EXPENSE. I JUST CAN'T HELP REMEMBERING WHEN RIDING IN A STREET CAR WAS A LUXURY TO HER.
WELL JO I'LL ADMIT THAT I CATCH MYSELF THINKING THAT WAY TOO BUT WE SIMPLY HAVE TO LOOK...WELL, FORWARD

FOUR TOTS SUBMIT TO GAS ATTACK IN NOBLE EXPERIMENT

Because the forthcoming Presidential campaign will be carried on largely over the radio, it is practically impossible for candidates to do much baby kissing. This slight to the children of the land is regretted by all candidates, who are deeply interested in child welfare. The delicate situation has resulted in long and anxious hours of study, but a solution is, happily, at hand. The four "chickabiddies" (as the candidates call them), above, have been selected to represent all the children in America. These four "kidlets" will be chained to microphones, and submit to kisses from candidates as often as possible. They are loaned by courtesy of a well known third-class postmaster.

Prosecute the Grafters

Gov. Pinchot Is Right in Insisting That Bribery Shall Be Punished.

From Harrisburg comes word that Gov. Pinchot will demand criminal prosecution of any public officials who may be shown in the forthcoming Senate investigation of the public utilities to have taken bribes.

The report is that when the investigation has been finished the Attorney General will cause informations to be made against State employes revealed as having been corrupted by the public utilities.

Gov. Pinchot is taking the right course in this program. The betrayal of the people by grafting officials is a heinous thing, and the grafters, and others who may be tempted to graft, should be impressed with its heinousness by being made to stand trial as criminals.

The bribe-givers should be prosecuted, too, of course.

And it will be in order to reduce unfair rates that the public utilities obtained through bribery.

30,000 Unshod Children

The Sales Tax May Not Seem So Burdensome If Merchants Think of the Misery It Is to Relieve.

The new state sales tax goes into effect tomorrow.

Merchants will be required to pay the Commonwealth one per cent of their gross receipts during the next six months. Some may pass the tax along to their customers.

It is going to be a nuisance.

But people will not find it so burdensome, perhaps, if they will stop and reflect a little about the misery that the tax is to relieve.

Consider, for example, the statements of the Family Welfare Association and the Allegheny County Emergency Association that there are 30,000 families in the county in each of which there is at least one child without shoes.

Consider the statement of relief workers that the rations issued to the destitute families outside of the city will have to be reduced because of insufficiency of funds.

Consider the statement that it probably will be impossible to continue supplying milk to destitute school children.

There is misery on all sides which the proceeds of the sales tax will help to relieve.

But it should not require a tax or any other governmental move to supply those 30,000 unshod youngsters with shoes and stockings. Why do the relief agencies not address a concerted appeal to the people of the county for shoes? Why not hold a Bundle Day?

Reopening of Schools

Adults, Too, Have an Opportunity for Benefit in the Public Educational Facilities.

The public schools of Pittsburgh reopen tomorrow, and the county and parochial schools will follow in a few days.

It costs the taxpayers a great deal of money to educate these children—the annual bill for Pittsburgh's public schools alone is $12,000,000—but the money is not given grudgingly. If there is one item of public expense in which the citizens are unwilling that a niggardly policy shall be followed it is public education. Consequently we have schools and teachers that we can be proud of.

We have special cause for pride in the public school teachers of Pittsburgh this year, because, in recognition of the lifficulty many persons are experiencing in paying taxes, they have voluntarily agreed to return part of their salaries, which are fixed by law, to the public treasury.

The reopening of the schools offers opportunities for advancement to boys and girls. It offers opportunities for adults, too. Unemployed persons attended the high schools in unusually large numbers last year. This year should also see a large enrollment—until jobs are again available.

Some of those who have been improving their leisure hours by going to school will be able to command higher wages as a result when they go back to work.

Dairymen's Complaint

There Is Too Wide a Gap Between What the Producer Receives and What the Consumer Pays.

Two hundred farmers who supply milk to the agencies that distribute it in Pittsburgh are in rebellion. They say they are not paid enough for their product.

According to one of the speakers at the meeting here yesterday, the farmers get eight cents a gallon for their milk, while the distributors get from eight to 15 cents a quart. That seems too wide a gap.

The public will sympathize with the farmers' grievance.

It is doubtful, however, if anyone is particularly to blame for the condition. It is the system that is at fault, the system of distribution that requires the intervention of middle men between the producer and the consumer.

It is to be hoped the farmers can obtain a better price. It is not often that Pennsylvania farmers complain, and when they do their grievance demands attention.

The Poll Tax

It Should Be Possible to Pay It Independently of the Property Tax.

The County Treasurer, it seems, has added the 50 cent poll tax to the property tax, and if you own real estate you cannot pay the poll tax unless you pay the real estate tax at the same time.

Attorney Henry Ellenbogen has rendered a service in protesting against the system. It is not right that a citizen unable at this time to pay the property tax, yet able and willing to pay the poll tax, should be refused the opportunity to do so and accordingly should be disfranchised.

Ellenbogen's request to the County Commissioners to correct this condition is a reasonable one.

2.—Adoption of 5 per cent sales tax and reduction in income taxes, releasing income to finance industry.

Becomes a charming friend.

(As no man has denied),
But, oh, it BURNS HER UP to be

Sometimes that odd look in a woman's eyes, when she watches another woman trying to vamp her husband, does not mean that she is trying to suppress her jealousy, but that she is trying to suppress her amazement that any woman should waste time on him.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—I circled up to Ben Riley's hill-top crag the other evening for dinner. Once a year I manage to dine there, and always find it pleasantly the same. Old restaurants should be like old friends, but in the modern whirl they so seldom are.

The gnarled, python-limbed oak, strung in lights and growing out of the dance floor's center, is as grotesquely solemnified as ever. Its quietism seems so out of time with the jazz blasts reverberating about its venerable roots. Too, in the surrounding greenery, crickets keep liaison with frogs.

The piece de resistance is still frog legs with creamed potatoes and golden square cuts of corn bread. But there was a young sprig on the dance floor whose mustache somehow slowed my enthusiasm. One has a right to a mustache, I suppose, yet it shouldn't make everybody perfectly furious.

Another thing I noticed. There are certain young couples who like to "slow motion" around an orchestra leader and engage in meaningless conversation. I thought that went out about the time Paul Whiteman left the Palais Royal and I gave up dancing for the chimney corner.

Passing a mid-town bank, I saw a lady wearing brightly colored pajamas. If it was not the very engaging Ruth Etting, whose nasal laments one hears over the radio, she has a most astonishing double.

* * *

I'm out of sorts with talkie titles. It strikes me their chief aim is to startle. The screen version of "Madam Bovary" becomes "Unholy Love," and so on. The happiest title of the period, to me, is "Destry Rides Again." Although I did not see the picture. It has brevity, euphony and romantic benison. The play titles which always appealed to me were Eugene Walter's, such as "The Easiest Way," "Bought and Paid For."

* * *

Walter and I were desk-mates on a mid-west newspaper. He was an indifferent reporter, marking time to save enough for the New York adventure. Not one of us in that particular editorial room could imagine him as the occupier on a Madison Square bench one night and the white-haired boy of the Rialto the next. He came back later, the author of the reigning hit, husband of the distinguished star, Charlotte Walker, wearing fawn spats, gaudy vest, and carrying a silver-topped cane, and found his hotel suite fizzing with flashlights. So completely did he awe those of us who worked with him and called him "Gene," that to a man we addressed him as "Mr. Walker." And, to his credit, he talked us out of that at one of those plainly honest and well ringed tables at Foucar's.

Gabbing with Roscoe Peacock recently, it came to me that all the Roscoes I ever knew had bird-like names—Roscoe Peacock, Roscoe Eagle, Roscoe Swan and, believe it or not—Roscoe Sparrow. Anyway, Peacock shares my fervent admiration for the Cellini of word jewelry—such verbal silversmiths as Christopher Morley, Joseph Hergesheimer, Edna Millay, etc. Yet he, like all of us, finds himself turning now and then for inspiration to the master word sculpturer—William Shakespeare. He was the honey of them all.

Omar, too, of course, twanged a mean lyre. But the legend persists, Edward Fitzgerald, his translater, deserves most of the credit. Otherwise Omar would be away out in front and riding hard. What is this sudden erudition?

One of the smartest looking clubs in town is that of The Grand Street Boys on West Fifty-fifth street. Its members—such as Al Smith and Eddie Cantor—are those whose wits were sharpened on the lower East Side flagstones. Up-from-the-gutter lads, who have made niches for themselves without a pull of any sort.

It's likely a phase of senility, but in a wakeful stretch last night I could not think of anything save a sudden longing to walk over a bare, squeaking floor in my bare feet.

LISTEN, WORLD

-:- By Elsie Robinson -:-

Are your feelings easily hurt?

Do you like to play games, whether you lose or win?

Do you like to daydream?

Do you like to show people that you are boss?

Do you like to tell others the truth regardless of the reaction?

Do you have changing moods?

Do you like to accept ideas from others?

Think these questions over. Answer them honestly, yes or no. AND YOU'LL MEET YOURSELF.

No—this isn't a new sort of parlor game. It's part of a serious questionnaire in Dr. Sadie Myers Shellow's friendly book—"HOW TO DEVELOP YOUR PERSONALITY."

You've envied people with charming personalities, haven't you? Wondered how they got that way. Wished you knew the trick. Well, here's the trick—according to Dr. Shellow.

Bit by bit, she shows you how to DISCOVER the truth about yourself and your attitude toward your world. For therein lies the beginning of a popular or unpopular personality.

What makes people like or dislike you?

Your attitude toward them makes them like you or dislike you. They do not love you or hate you for the things you are IN YOURSELF . . . but for YOUR EFFECT ON THEIR LIVES.

Do you make people feel at ease? Do you stimulate them? Then they will seek you out—reward you with their admiration and respect.

Or do you rub people the wrong way? Bore or depress them? Then they will avoid you or ignore you—warn others against you.

So popularity comes—or fails to come. Not because you have blue eyes and golden hair. Not because you talk or walk or dance in a certain way. BUT BECAUSE YOU THINK OR FEEL IN A CERTAIN WAY . . . AND BY THESE THOUGHTS AND FEELINGS AFFECT OTHER PEOPLE IN A CERTAIN WAY.

How do you think or feel?

Chances are, you, yourself, don't know! For it takes real wisdom and real training for a man to KNOW HIMSELF.

Dr. Shellow tells you how to know yourself . . . tells you how you "get that way." She shows you how to take yourself apart and put yourself together again, in a stronger, happier pattern.

Those questions which you have just read are part of that process. There are hundreds more. If you will answer them honestly, you'll make some amazing discovies about yourself.

"WILL YOUR FACE BE RED?" Yes, stranger, it certainly will! And nothing could be better for what ails you.

Isn't It So?

"They say" is a tough old liar.

Men don't get old like they used to. Their wives simply have quit allowing them to do it.

The reckless motorist is usually the fellow who has no place to go and is anxious to get there.

Emerging Alignments Of the Campaign

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The acceptance of the editorship of The Outlook by Alfred E. Smith means that the country will continue to have the benefit of his views on public matters, political and otherwise. He has never posed as a literary figure, but it is easier to find masters of style than to find thinkers, and as far as style is concerned there are not many professional writers who have tered a method of expression that approaches that of Smith—simplicity, clarity and strength. Through a long period The Outlook has been distinguished by notable editors. When Mr. Smith writes at his desk he will be looked down upon from the wall by Henry Ward Beecher and Theodore Roosevelt, his predecessors in the editorial chair. It was through the medium of this same periodical that Roosevelt continued to impress his virile views upon the country after his retirement from office; and there will be general satisfaction in the knowledge that the judgment and ideals of Smith will not be lost to the public.

Drys Solidly Back Hoover

The campaign has progressed far enough to disclose some unmistakable alignments. The prohibitionists, the Anti-Saloon League, the partisans of the Eighteenth Amendment have aligned themselves aggressively behind the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. This is intelligent on their part. It remains to be seen whether there is as much intelligence among the liberals. I was in Paris when Mr. Hoover sought, in his acceptance speech, to repeat his performance of blowing hot and cold on the prohibition question. The Paris papers gave the impression that the liberals were delighted and entirely satisfied. Even with the knowledge of the unspeakable stupidity of these foes of prohibition in 1928, it seemed incredible that they could be so asinine as to be deceived by Mr. Hoover again; and especially after the vigorous battle waged by him, through Ogden Mills, with the aid of his 300 official retainers in the Republican National Convention, against an open, honest repeal plank.

Now that the prohibitionists have enthusiastically enlisted again under Mr. Hoover's banner it will be interesting to observe whether those standing for repeal and immediate modification will lock horns with Dr. Polling.

Wall Street, Too, Backs Hoover

The last three weeks have demonstrated another alignment, too. Wall street has aligned itself with Mr. Hoover. It was the policies of Mr. Hoover's administration and Wall street that wrecked the business fabric of the nation. For a time it seemed possible that the incredible would happen—that Wall street would sing sweet and low in the present campaign. Never has the powerful financial group associated with the term "Wall Street" been so unhappily situated for the assumption of an attitude of arrogance. If ever there was a time when common sense and common decency would dictate at least a pretense of humility, it is now with the wreckage all about us.

Then, there was another reason for assuming, until recently, that Wall street would have no stomach for an aggressive fight in Mr. Hoover's behalf. The President's timidity, his notorious indecisions, his passion for procrastination and his utter incapacity for leadership in a crisis were for many months the subject of open denunciation in high financial circles.

But there is no longer any doubt as to the present alignment of Wall street—it is out to "get Roosevelt" and to continue Mr. Hoover in power. The evidence is overwhelming.

What Alliance Behind Scenes?

What has happened behind the screen?

Has an understanding been reached with the international bankers regarding the debts?

Is the alignment due to Mr. Hoover's subserviency to the power combines?

Or is it ascribable to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt demands certain reforms for the better protection of the people against the fleecing of the multitude?

Nothing has caused more consternation, both in administration and international banking circles, than the notable speech of Roosevelt at Columbus, denouncing the administration's part in leading the inexperienced to their ruin by misrepresentations of conditions during the market madness.

That and his denunciation of the part the administration has played in making easier the flooding of this country with worthless foreign bonds by unscrupulous banking interests by giving the tacit approval of the American government to the sale of these securities.

This slashing and yet conservatively worded attack of the Columbus speech has set the hornets to buzzing; but the supercilious denial of Mr. Stimson will not wash.

Called 'Usurpation Of Authority'

Senator Carter Glass is not a demagogue, and, commenting on Stimson's denial, he says flatly:

"The recorded facts showed it to be utterly false, and the Senate, without a single dissenting vote, warned the State Department against the continuation of this dangerous usurpation of authority."

Nothing more mendacious and remote from the facts than Mr. Stimson's statement that his department has never approved a single loan could well be imagined. When the Senate passed a resolution on the subject the State Department cited as its authority for approving or disapproving loans, Article II of the Constitution. And so persistent was the State Department that the Senate passed Glass' resolution declaring that the department has no sanction for such action and actually instructing it to refrain from such a policy in the future.

Other Alliances In the Making

So if Wall Street insists on going into the campaign for Mr. Hoover it must be accommodated. The people are intensely interested. They never have had less faith in the inspired wisdom of our financial leaders—and never less reason for it. In every community between the seas are meek once wont to worship, who have been betrayed and ruined by the policies, and manipulations—and worse—of these financial leaders and their allies planted in the government.

Meanwhile a high-powered propaganda is launched to persuade the people who are jobless and penniless that prosperity is "just around the corner," and we may expect almost daily statements from the "leaders" to this effect. But the jobless still are jobless; the hungry still are hungry, and the farmers of the West are in arms and in revolt.

That rising of the farmers is the most significant thing in months, for farmers are conservative by nature, and when they resort to violence as a protest against utter ruin the country has something to think upon. They thus asserted themselves in the early 1870's and they made their protest count—at the polls.

Perhaps there is also an alignment among the farmers.

And among the 10,000,000 who are jobless.

And the millions who are through with the mockery of prohibition.

In Your Eyes

The sigh of its waters, its lure and its spell.

The whole of the summer I see in a rose,
The ardor, the beauty, the sunlight that flows
With such splendor and warmth that life fountains unclose.

A shy, feathered creature, by faint zephyr stirred,
Yet he lifts up his voice and the angels are heard.

Of love that may come to the fool or the wise,
Of love that ranks first in the world's mysteries—
